GERMANY is admitted to the league by unanimous vote of the nations, gets a permanent seat on the league council and the thing is done enthusiastically, as it well may be. One big war is over, the next might come from the east, starting in Russia, with Asia behind it. Western Europe would like the Germans, trained fighters and trained scientists, as a protecting wall on the east.

JAMES M. NORRIS, president of the American Chemical society, says chemistry will end the gold standard. We use heat as our source of energy, or water power, using it to make steam or electricity. By and by we shall use energy tied up in the atom with the electrons revolving around their nucleus thousands of billions of times in a second. Intensity of energy will change everything, and new standards of value will be found, wiping out gold.

THAT will suit men as well as gold. What they want is something that other men lack and want and for which other men will work.

WHEN men ta... harnessing the ... grow into the heavens, or per... querring man to move up too rapidly. Air, water, the earth, nature gives to us free, and the sun's light and heat. We must work for everything else.

Science will discover and use other new forces before unlocking the power of the atom and extracting from a copper cent energy enough to drive an express train across the continent.

You read that an automobile engine had been made to run with the explosive power of dust from a grain elevator instead of gasoline. Messrs. Noel and Heilbach, department of agriculture engineers, showed that ordinary dust might be used to create an explosive force greater than that of gasoline.

IF YOU have tears for high finance, this is the time to shed them.

INQUIRY BOARD WILL MEET IN STEUBENVILLE NEXT TUESDAY

Utilities Commission to Fix Responsibility for Collision.

TOLL UNCHANGED

Coroner Also Investigates Wreck in Which One Man Died.

Representatives of the state utilities commission will make an investigation next Tuesday of Wednesday's passenger car-work train collision on the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company's line at King's crossing, in which one passenger was killed and 18 other persons injured.

Will Visit Crash Scene.

The investigators, according to notification received by C. A. Smith, general manager of the traction company, will arrive in the down river city at 1 p. m., following which they will visit the scene of the fatal crash, question members of the passenger crew and then come to East Liverpool to continue the inquiry and inspect the wrecked car which was removed to the car barn here late Wednesday night.

In the meantime, Coroner A. L. Bell, of Jefferson county, is conducting a probe.

No additional deaths are expected as a result of the collision which, according to unofficial reports, was due to a misunderstanding of signals.

Bert Slee, 45, of Steubenville, paymaster of the Follansbee Brothers' Sheet and Tin Plate company of Toronto, died of his injuries in the Ohio Valley hospital in Steubenville shortly after the wreck occurred.

Injured Are Recovering.

The most seriously injured were two East Liverpool men, Motorman Frank Guy, 33, and Conductor Carl Emery, 24, of the passenger car. Reports from Steubenville hospitals, to which they were removed, indicate both men will recover.

"I stuck to my post" was the only comment Motorman Guy made when newspaper men questioned him.

According to persons who arrived on the scene shortly after the passenger car rammed the work train, which was hauling a chemical tank being used in killing weeds along the right of way, a semaphore signal was down, denoting danger. This signal was directly above where the wreck occurred.

SECOND ARREST MADE IN ASSASSINATION OF WELLSVILLE PATROLMAN

Appeal is Certain If Canton Police Chief Loses Fight

CANTON, O., Sept. 10.—Assuming that the action of the civil service commission in denying a motion by deposed Police Chief S. A. Lengel's counsel for an order recognizing Lengel as police head, was indicative of their final action, Attorney James Amerman today declared that an appeal would be taken upon the final decision.

"There has been a lot of political string pulling and I have not the slightest chance before this commission," Amerman declared.

"The chief was not fired by Mayor S. M. Swartz according to the legal method prescribed," he added.

After Attorney H. C. Pontius made a closing argument, both sides rested.

Joseph Fusco, 20, Pool Room Operator, is Taken Into Custody by Sheriff George Wright.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY INQUIRY

Nick Scaccuto is Also Held as Suspect in Murder of James Kenney in May.

Investigation of Sheriff George Wright into the murder of Patrolman James Kenney, of Wellsville, who was shot down in the yard of the Frank Maggio home, Commerce street, last May, today reach a climax with the arrest of Joe Fusco, 20, of Wellsville, on a charge of first degree murder.

Denies Knowledge of Crime.

Fusco was taken to Lisbon by Sheriff Wright and Deputy Lawrence Kindsvatter last night at midnight. He was arraigned before Justice M. K. Zimerman, entered a plea of not guilty and was bound over to the grand jury. Fusco was put through a two hours' grilling by Sheriff Wright, but the prisoner steadfastly maintained his innocence and stoutly asserted he knew nothing of the murder.

But the prisoner's statements and explanations, according to Sheriff Wright, failed at times to dovetail.

Fusco, after two and a half hours of questioning, was locked up in the county jail this morning at 2:30 o'clock.

Admits He Bought Gun.

His arrest is the second in connection with the Kenney slaying. Nick Scaccuto, who was found by Wellsville police in a home in Fourteenth street with bullet wounds in his body the day following the murder, is in jail at Lisbon, also awaiting grand jury action.

Scaccuto was bound over from Wellsville. Probate Judge Lodge Riddle later refused requests of his attorneys to release him on bond.

In statements to Sheriff Wright, Fusco is alleged to have asserted that he had left Italy in order to get out of the army. He admitted having bought a gun some time ago from a colored man in the pool room which he operates for his father.

A broken banjo which was found a short distance from Kenney's body is still an isolated clue.

CHEST CRUSHED

Accident Occurs on Salineville-Bergholz Road.

William P. Adams, 70, farmer, near Monroeville, was crushed to death at 11 o'clock this morning, when he fell under the wheels of a threshing engine on the Salineville-Bergholz road, two miles from the former village.

The accident occurred when Adams, with the machine in operation, climbed to the top of it to make an adjustment. Jarred from his place, he fell directly in the path of the thresher. The wheels passed over his face and chest. He was dead when other farmers reached his side.

Adams was en route to the Elder farm, near Monroeville when he was killed.

The body was removed to the John T. Hutson morgue in Salineville.

Adams, whose wife died about three years ago, resided with a son, George.

French Minister Pledges Nation Considers Germany Friend in Future

GENEVA, Sept. 10. — "For France this day means we are finished with war — machine guns have yielded to peace—we have had enough glory on the battlefields to satisfy both of us—."

With his hands extended towards Germany's delegates, Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, uttered these dramatic words today in welcoming Germany, long the traditional enemy of France, into the league of nations amidst epochal scenes of enthusiasm.

Herr Stresemann, German foreign minister, had prefaced Germany's entry into the league with a speech declaring Germany's policy to be one of peace and voiced a plea for general disarmament.

Speech Goes Down In History.

Briand replied to Herr Stresemann with a speech that many ... in history, as marking the final ending of the great world war, a speech which pledged France to consider Germany as a friend in the future.

When M. Briand had finished his dramatic utterances the German delegates arose from their seats and applauded wildly, showing signs of great emotion. Sir George Foster, Canadian delegate, pulled out his handkerchief and leaped to the floor waving and cheering like a college football enthusiast and other delegates applauded and almost danced for joy.

M. Briand, slow-moving and unexcitable, arose from his seat when Herr Stresemann had concluded his speech and with no efforts for dramatics, stretched his hands towards the seats

Va., Wednesday, and who was brought to Lisbon and placed in the county home last night by Sheriff Wright, is not Samuel Dodson of Water street, Salineville, the latter's relatives said today. The Salineville Dodson is employed as a potter. The man found in Wellsburg is said to have resided on a rural route out of Lisbon.

CHIEF'S FRIENDS BOO AS WELLSVILLE SOLONS VOTE FOR NEW TRIAL

Councilmen, Balloting 5 to 2 to Continue Five-month Battle, Adjourn Session as Ex-Mayor George D. Ingram, One of 60 Persons Present, Seeks Permission to Speak.

CONNORS AND SWEARINGEN TAKE STAND AGAINST CITY PROPOSAL

"You Can't Crowd That Down Voters' Throats," Ingram, Standing at Rail, Shouts at Legislative Body—Threats of Injunction Heard as Fultz Supporters Leave Hall.

By a vote of five to two, Wellsville city council, at an adjourned session last night decided to carry the Chief of Police John Fultz removal fight to the court of appeals.

Solons McLean, Peters, Reil, Heldman and Nicholson voted to appeal the decision of Judge W. H. Spence, who in common pleas court, Lisbon, reinstated Fultz, and Councilmen W. S. Connor and Fred Swearingen opposed the move.

There was no debate on the issue and council adjourned as ex-Mayor George D. Ingram, one of the 60 or more persons who attended the session, attempted to obtain permission to speak.

The resolution authorizing the proceeding in error was read by Clerk George Hardman. Councilman Peters moved that the resolution be adopted as read and the motion was seconded by Reil.

President Clyde Baker interrupted the proceedings, calling attention of solons to the fact that several petitions which he thought had a bearing on the issue, had been laid on the clerk's table.

"There's a motion before the house," declared Solicitor S. C. Luccock, and Baker's objections were over-ruled. Solons then voted to approve the resolution.

Ingram Fails to Get Floor.

Council then was asked to call off elections in order that it could be placed on the ballot. The vote followed.

A motion to adjourn was made and it was seconded, as Ingram, attorney and Wellsville grocery store owner, threaded his way through the audience and reached the railing in front of the council table.

Ingram attempted to gain council's attention. President Clyde Baker interjected a suggestion that the citizens should be permitted to speak.

Chorus of Boos.

"Call the roll," ordered Solicitor Luccock and Clerk Hardman called off the solons' names.

Council adjourned.

Angered, Ingram, standing at the rail as the adjournment vote was taken, shouted at the solons:

"You can't crowd that down the voters' throaat."

His statement prompted a chorus of boos and unfavorable comment, directed at council in general, from the crowd, a decidedly pro-Fultz audience.

The crowd filed out and down the city building steps to the street in front of the doors and here congregated again as council's action was discussed.

Threats of an injunction were heard as the Fultz backers discussed the city's proposed appeal.

Eight Boys Face City Court; Woman Signs Affidavits

Eight East End youths were arraigned before Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today upon charges of disorderly conduct preferred by Mrs. Minnie McDaniels, Mulberry street.

They are: William Cain, Clyde Jackson, Fred McCormack, Cecil McCormack, Lester Slavin, Tony Roush, Riley Wilson and "Fat" Hoffman. Charges against two others, who have not yet appeared, were also preferred.

Judge Hanley ordered the case continued until 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

C. of C. Endorses School Tax, City Hall Bond Issue

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce endorsed the proposed $225,000 municipal building project and the 2.4 mill school levy at a meeting last evening.

Financial status of the schools and their need for additional revenue was emphasized before the vote. Need for a new building to house all departments of the city government, was also explained.

Both projects will go before the voters at the general election on Tuesday, November 2.

FOUR ARE HURT IN AUTO WRECK

Cars Collide at Lisbon and West Eighth Streets.

Four persons were injured when two automobiles crashed head-on at the intersection of Lisbon and West Eighth streets at 6:55 o'clock this morning.

The collision occurred, it is claimed, when John Bergner, 174 Thompson avenue, employed at the McNicol-Corns pottery, Wellsville, and driving a Ford coupe, attempted to pull across the road in front of an Overland sedan, driven by Gerald Springer, Cannons Mills, which was coming down the Lisbon street hill.

Mrs. Mildred Springer, wife of the driver of the south-bound car was lacerated about the face and hands by shattered glass, while her sister-in-law, Miss Elizabeth Springer, who was riding alone in the rear seat of the machine, sustained an injury to her left knee. One of Springer's fingers

GEORGE MICHEL, FRENCHMAN, IN THIRD ATTEMPT, BREAKS ENGLISH CHANNEL SWIMMING RECORD BY CROSSING IN 11 HOURS AND 5 MINUTES

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The English channel swimming record was lowered again today when George Michel, a Frenchman, who has repeatedly attempted the crossing, negotiated it in the remarkable time of 11 hours and 5 minutes.

Michel started from Gris Nez at 8:32 o'clock last evening and landed at St. Margaret's bay, three miles north of Dover, at 7:37 this morning

Michel's achievement surpasses the record made recently by the German, Ernst Venkoetter, of 12 hours and 43 minutes, by one hour and 38 minutes.

Upon landing, the swimmer breakfasted and then was hustled into a motor car and driven to Folkestone where he called upon the French consul.

Favored By Ideal Conditions.

Michel was favored throughout his performance by ideal conditions of the weather and the state of the water. This is the third attempt he made this summer.

Previously he had followed the advice of the experts that the only way to beat the channel is to start late at night in order to have the advantage of the high tide. Michel announced that he would swim on a new plan, starting early in the evening and depending for his success on the low tide.

Before starting he announced that he would swim the distance in 11 hours, a boast which he failed only by five minutes in making good.

Few Persons on Beach.

Michel, who in civilian life, pursues the occupation of butcher in Paris, is well known as the swimming champion of France. He is only 30 years old.

Save for a mild southwesterly wind which made the sea a little choppy, the water was extraordinarily smooth when Michel started swimming. A strong ebb tide carried Michel from Gris Nez northward in the direction of the Goodwin lightship.

There the swimmer caught the flood tide running northeast, bringing him within six miles of England. In the last part of the swim Michel had to fight against the ebb and was able to defeat it because of his excellent physical condition. Had he failed against the tide he would have been compelled to swim several hours longer.

Eats Ham and Eggs.

Only a few persons were on the beach when the Frenchman landed. After a rest the party went to a public house, "The Green Man," in St. Margaret's Bay for a bath and breakfast before returning to Boulogne.

"Before I entered the water last Between mouthfulls of ham and eggs which he ate ravenously, Michel described the swim to the International News Service correspondent.

night," he said, "I felt I would be able to not only to swim the channel but break Verkoetten's record. As soon as I had swum half an hour I was more ectrain than ever although there was a little trouble about one o'clock this morning when the sea began to get rough.

"The last five miles were a terrible battle with the tide seeming to push me out. It was wonderful to feel land under my feet. Since so many channel records have been made recently people have been saying that the French did not possess champion swimmers. I am glad to be able to prove definitely that they are wrong."

Skepticism in Cape Gris Nez.

CAPE GRIS NEZ, Sept. 10.—There was considerable rejoicing in the camps of the swimming enthusiasts here today when more complete reports of the feat of George Michel in

Mrs. Howard Moore Claims Body of Vay Booth.

Mrs. Howard Moore, of Pennsylvania avenue, East End, accompanying the body of her brother, Vay Booth, of Cleveland, who died Tuesday as a result of injuries received in a railroad accident, has left for Wayne, W. Va., where funeral services will be held.

Booth died yesterday morning in the Massillon city hospital as a result of a crushed back and internal injuries received when he was struck by a Pennsylvania railroad train while he was walking along the track.

The body will be shipped to Wayne from Massillon.

Mrs. George Jenkins, of Chicago, formerly Mrs. Gertrude Whitney, of the East End, is also a sister of Booth's.

MIDLAND MAN GETS JAIL TERM

Liquor cases were tried yesterday before Judge Frank Reader in Beaver county court at Beaver.

Charles Tortis, of Midland, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of transporting liquor. He was sentenced to pay the costs, a fine of $250 and be imprisoned in the Beaver county jail for a period of 60 days.

Charles Cox, of Beaver Falls, entered a plea of driving a motor vehicle while drunk. Cox stated to the court that the bottle he is alleged to have thrown away just before he was arrested was only a small bottle and contained nothing but eye medicine. The sentence of the court was that he pay the costs and be committed to the Beaver county jail for 15 days.

BEAVER COUNTY FAIR SEPT. 22-25

A meeting of the speed committee of the Beaver County Fair association was held in Beaver yesterday. Secretary Eugene Newell, of Beaver Falls, reported that the races this year will be better and faster than ever. The fair will be held at Junction Park, New Brighton, Sept. 22, 23, 24 and 25. However, only three days of racing are scheduled.

The track at Junction Park is one of the fastest in western Pennsylvania. Last year over 125 race horses took part in the races, and Secretary Newell reports that nearly that number have already been entered this year. Two stake races, with purses of $1,000 each have drawn a goodly number of the best horses in this section of the country. About 60 horses are entered in these two events.

Nearly one-third more American agricultural implements were exported this year than last.

A Swedish concern will erect a complete network of telephone lines in Mexico with connections with the United States.

Frequent storms in Italy so damaged mulberry trees that many cocoons starved this year.

Back at school, the youngsters will feel proud to wear these new School Felt Hats in pleasing range of popular colors, at TAYLOR'S MILLINERY, now only $1.95.

EVERY WARDROBE NEEDFUL FOR THE SCHOOL GIRL OR BOY FROM KINDERGARTEN TO COLLEGE AGE

VOL. VII. EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO. FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1926. EDITION 260.

Always Something New at Ogilvie's and Always a Dependableness About It

It Takes Sand

We don't like dry statistics any more than you do. But bear with us just this once. It is said that 2,000,000 tons of sand are used in the United States each year in making glass. There's a bit of a lesson for all of us in this magic transformation of the gritty element into clear crystal.

It takes sand to mould the crystal of character. It takes sand—the pure grit of determination to get ahead. And sand and the sense of duty are pretty much the same.

You see evidence of it every day, and so do we.

NEGRO SLAYER DIES TONIGHT

Henry Jackson Will Pay Penalty on Gallows.

Henry Jackson, negro, will die on the state prison gallows, at 5 o'clock this afternoon, for the murder of Guard Earl Langfitt, last April. The negro, a life termer, fatally stabbed the guard when the officer reprimanded him for violating prison rules.

Jackson will begin the death march to the gallows to the accompaniment of hymns sung by a negro quartette.

The prison today assumed the deathlike stillness that prevails before an execution. All prisoners were locked in their cells until the state exacts its penalty. The custom is an old one.

Jackson was served his last meal in the death cell at noon. The regulation black suit, white collar and tie were given him this morning.

Newspapermen, physicians, guards and county officials will be the only ones to witness the execution, the warden announced.

Jackson stabbed and killed Guard Langfitt on April 11. He was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged in Marshall county circuit court on July 2. A writ of mandamus forced Judge Morris to set the date for today. Several days ago the state supreme court refused a writ of error.

Steubenville Mayor And Chief Ousted For Second Time

STEUBENVILLE, O., Sept. 10.—The status of Steubenville's mayor and chief of police today is that of being suspended after a hectic legal clash yesterday which resulted in the ousted official being reinstated only to be removed again.

Attorneys for Mayor J. S. H. Patton and Chief Blaine D. Carter filed a motion with Judge J. S. Paisley alleging that the petition requesting their removal had been illegally drawn. The judge ruled favorably upon this plea and the two officials resumed office.

W. R. Alban, attorney for the Ministerial association, then filed a new petition alleging that the mayor and police head had failed to perform their duties. Judge Paisley then again suspended the officials.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1926.

State Investigation of Street Car Crash

The state utilities commission announced today that a hearing will be conducted in Steubenville on Tuesday to determine the cause of the passenger car-work train collision Wednesday night on the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company's line at King's crossing, near Steubenville, in which one passenger was killed and 18 other persons injured.

Unofficial reports indicate a misunderstanding of signals was responsible for the crash, the most serious to occur on the East Liverpool-Steubenville interurban road since it has been under the management of C. A. Smith.

Thanks to alertness of motormen, who have a man-sized job in avoiding reckless automobile drivers, the street car affords a greater degree of safety than other means of transportation, statistics show. New York City, the busiest American city, presents figures to prove the argument from a street accident standpoint. In 1924, when the last report was issued, street cars killed 74 persons, while automobiles exacted 961 lives.

In 1923, motor vehicles killed 18,788. Of the auto deaths, 16,452 occurred in accidents on highways.

Eight thousand six hundred and seventy-four casualties were reported in grade crossing accidents on American railways, including steam and electric, in 1924. In the list were 2,149 killed and 6,525 injured. In other railroad accidents, 1,543 employees lost their lives and 175 passengers were killed. The injured included 125,319 employees and 6,677 passengers. And a comparatively small percentage of the toll was exacted on street car lines.

This is a good record for the electric railway lines which carried 12,665,300,050 passengers in 1923, and probably 15,000,000 last year.

Crowds

Gertrude Ederle found harder navigating in the seething streets of New York than in the English channel. Applause for her victory was more wearing than winds, waves and tides. Her strenuous swim did not exhaust her, but the strenuousity of her home-coming welcome drained her vitality, shattered her nerves, overwhelmed her emotionally and sent her to bed under the care of a physician, with hypodermics to bring her a little much-needed sleep.

Never was there a greater demonstration of what might be called the crowd-power of modern life. Gerald Stanley Lee, when he wrote his popular book on that theme some years ago, could hardly have foreseen the extent to which crowds would come to dominate civilized existence. Roused by publicity-power, they tend to overwhelm anyone who attains any kind of special fame or popularity.

One of the growing problems of mankind is to protect the individual against this crushing pressure of crowds. Will there be left in all the world, after a few more generations, enough quiet spots for that?

It not, the individual will have to take the advice of eastern sages, and cultivate a space for quietness and privacy within his own spirit.

Safety Outdoors

A British member of Parliament, traveling in Africa, is amazed to find that he can walk more safely in the middle of the Dark Continent than in the East End of London.

"Still, it seems a long way to go for a stroll," remarks the London Punch. Which frivolous remark may be ignored by serious persons interested in the cult of the Great Outdoors.

That M. P. has simply discovered what thousands of American tourists are learning right along—especially the motor campers. To a typical city person, the country, especially at a distance, is full of nameless fears and alarms. Any strange or sparsely settled place suggests hostile beasts or men. One of the finest fruits of travel in the "open spaces" is the knowledge that men and women are as safe almost anywhere out of doors as they are in their own beds at home.

That makes the world, somehow, seem more secure, and breeds faith in the Universe.

Trans-Atlantic Radio

David Sarnoff, the practical persiding genius of American radio, has gone to Europe to arrange for better programs from the American point of view.

"The day is gone," he tells London broadcasters, "when people in the United States listened to Europe for the novelty of doing so. The listeners are no longer interested in how they get their air programs, but in what they get. The object of my visit is to arrange for Americans to hear things from Europe that they cannot hear at home."

He will try to make more satisfactory arrangement of broadcasting hours, as well as programs. Present hours are awkward

The arrangement ought to work both ways. If each continent can get characteristic radio programs from the other, by friendly co-operation, here will be a version of "hands across the seas" possibly more effective than any kind of friendly interchanges yet tried. When different nationalities entertain each other, they begin to understand and like each other.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Thoughts while strolling: That mysterious sudden hush of Washington Square. The house in front of which David Graham Phillips was slain. Iron fences and tiny patches of yard. The new entrance to the old Brevoort.

What's become of the fellows who scratched matches on their breeches? A taxi driver smoking a cigar. An old lady with black net mittens. More mansions become shops. A little too cool for those green eye shade caps. A little girl dragging a doll in a shoe box.

What became of the ban on Fifth Avenue signs? A window of ballet shoes. Auto flirts driving slowly along the curbs. What is that shivery tune they play for oil tank fires at the movies? A fencing school. With its audible click like a typewriter.

The young bond messengers who wear golf togs. The deep building gaps in 42d street. And the row of furniture displays in West 47th. Stephen Vincent Benet. Chorus girls in those floppy hats. The wise-cracking crew near the Palace.

And strolling buyers feeling the tug of the great temptation. As Broadway hurls off its luminous challenge. Those hatless vaudevillians who eat early and loiter in front of quick lunches. Also, Daves and Eddies discussing sexy diversions.

The alert clerks in the theatrical ticket agencies. Who sell you seats you don't want before you can protest. Why do people cringe before a boxoffice man? And act as though it was a great favor to be waited upon?

My favorite arrondissement, pardon the French—Times Square. The noise, the traffic and the thousand gestures. The ceaseless arena of gaiety and despair. And the stroll is over. Silly way to make a living. But easier than selling insurance.

The sophistication of Broadway was epitomized the other night when a Broadwayite was introduced to a gentleman from Iowa.

"Who is the American consul in Iowa now?" he blandly inquired.

But if it were not for the well-filled pockets of Iowans and other mid-westerners the sophisticates would have no place to loaf.

The smart talkers of Broadway furnish a lot of free laughs. They hang their mots on every topic—even tragedy. One was telling a group of an actor who broke both legs swimming in the high waves of a nearby beach. "It surfs him right," exclaimed another.

And Walter Winchell tells of a counterman in a quick eatery who placated a customer over a delay in serving his turtle soup with: "It'll be here in a minute. You know how turtles are."

The mad waggishness extends to the pert waitresses in the white-tiled caravansaries on the White Way. One in a place below the Palace has quite a following as a result of her adept patter. She was indeed offered a job as a member of a cross-fire team. She was to be the feeder and be the butt of all the quips. But the proprietor doubled her salary and instead of being kidded she continues to kid the customers.

Then there is a hat check girl in the Fifties who is adroit at "pulling fast ones." So much so that this winter she is to be backed as a sort of Balief hostess in her own night club.

SQUARING THE NATIONAL OBLIGATION.

As Heywood Broun tells the story, an American, some two years following the Great War was spending a vacation in London. Having changed his clothes he was distressed to discover, after entering a bus, that he had left all his money behind at the hotel. He made this discovery when the conductor held out a hand for the fare.

An Englishman riding in the next seat saw his embarrassment and courteously proffered the necessary change. The American accepted the loan.

"If you will give me your card," he said gratefully, "I will send the amount to you immediately."

"My deah fellow," replied the Britisher, "let it apply on the debt."

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Our Overseas Markets.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—That the export trade of the United States increased in every continent except Europe during the last fiscal year is shown by special survey of our overseas markets recently made by the department of commerce. This survey is summarized in a statement by Dr. Julius Klein, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, that was made public immediately following that official's departure for Europe for a two-months' study of trade conditions there.

His report upon his return, which is scheduled for early in November, may aid administration leaders and congress to determine what weight is to be attached to former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker's prediction that if the United States does not cancel the war debts we shall lose practically all our European trade. There is no intimation that Dr. Klein's mission across the Atlantic has any connection whatever with Mr. Baker's broadside that startled the country, but it may prove a fortunate coincidence that he had arranged to make a survey of European markets just at this time.

Dr. Klein's statement does not touch the figures of the falling off in our exports to Europe, but points out that there was a substantial gain in our sales to those markets of finished manufactures.

"This is especially significant," he says, "in view of the fact that our exports of fabricated wares require intensive sales efforts under highly competitive conditions, in contrast with the so-called self-selling raw materials such as foodstuffs, minerals, etc. The loss in total sales to Europe was due to diminished shipments or lower prices of the latter items."

Figures which this trade expert does not quote show that last year on account of a short crop of wheat and rye we exported to Europe about a net 100,000,000 bushels, while in the previous year we sent over some 250,000,000 bushels. There was also a material reduction in exports of pork products and coarse grains, and the export of cotton in terms of value rather than quantity was also decidedly depressed.

Where Gains Have Been made.

Besing his trade analysis on comparative statistics covering the last four fiscal periods, Dr. Klein emphasizes what he describes as unusually significant figures which show that United States sales to South America were more tha ntwice as large in the fiscal year 1925-26 as in the year 1921-22, in spite of increasingly rigorous competition. Furthermore, American exports to Oceania during the same interval increased nearly two and one-half times and those to Africa almost doubled, in the face of the marked advantages enjoyed in those regions by European traders in their respective colonial jurisdictions.

Our exports to our neighbors to the north and south, Canada and Cuba, also show marked growth during the past four years, it is pointed out. It is but natural, however, that this gain should be relatively less than in the sales to South America, Oceania, and Africa. We have always enjoyed a dominant portion of the total trade of these adjoining markets and no considerable gain in our share of their foreign purchases was to be expected. And in view of the depression in Cuba resulting from sugar prices, and of the recent difficulties in Mexico, the increase of almost 33 per cent in our exports to those countries is termed altogether satisfying.

Apart from China and Japan, where the United States is fully holding its own, exports to the countries of the Asiatic Far East show quite as remarkable a gain as those to South America or to Oceanica. The political situation in China and the rapid industrialization of Japan are the outstanding factors which operated against expansion of our trade with those two countries.

The greatest gain in our export trade is found in our sales to Venezuela which amounted to $31,600,000 last year as against only $7,600,000 four years ago. This was due largely to the rapid expansion of the petroleum industry in that country. Argentine, long our best customer in South America, bought 83 per cent more from us last year than in 1921-22. Exports to Colombia and Chile for the same period nearly trebled; and is interesting to note, says Dr. Klein, that the former has replaced the latter as our third ranking market in South America, next after Argentina and Brazil.

Large Gains In Automoiles.

The automotive industry has gained conspicuously in the South American trade that has been garnered by United States exporters. As compared with 1921-22, the volume of American automobiles and parts exported to Argentina in 1925-26 showed an increase of 700 per cent; of 1,291 per cent to Brazil; of 1,399 per cent to Chile; of 1,089 per cent to Colombia, and of 540 per cent to Venezuela, with corresponding gains in the smaller countries.

Among others of our products that are being sent to South America in rapidly increasing volume may be menntioned picture films, textiles and iron and steel. The growth of our sales there of industrial and agricultural machinery continues steadily.

Sales two Austraili and New Zealand of automobiles and trucks, radio equipment and other electrical apparatus, pianos, clocks and watches, adding and computing machines, typewriters, hardware, tools, rubber goods and a long list of other manufactured articles is characterized as truly extraoddinary, our total sales to those two countries last year of nearly $200,000,000 being almost $30 per capita, computed on a population basis. This is all the more impressive when it is borne in mind that the aggregate imports of the United States from the entire world amount only to about $35 per capita.

Specifically, last year Australia and New Zealand bought $54,000,000 worth of American automobiles and trucks, more than six times as much as four years before, and they are today our leading overseas market for automotive products, far in advance of Argentina which ranked second with $33,000,000.

"The remarkable recent gains in our sales of manufactured goods to Latin America, Oceania, Africa, and most countries of Asia have taken place despite the growth in their own manufacturing industries and despite a reviving competition of European countries," says Dr. Klein.

"As the standards of living tend to rise, this development reflects itself in the ever greater demand for elaborated articles. The consumption of foodstuffs and other basic necessities

40 GRIDDERS ON HIGH SQUAD

Practice Sessions Held at Hammond Park.

Forgetting the season of 1925, one of the "off" years in football history of the high school, Wellsville scholastic gridders have gotten down to work in earnest under the direction of Coach Earl Klinck with a determination to atone in as great a measure as possible for their unsuccessful performance of the previous campaign.

If hard work, earnestness and a desire to win count for anything the youngsters are bound to make progress. Between 35 and 40 of them have been drilling daily under Klinck at Hammond park and although the finished product may not come up to the great football team that represented the school several years ago, it will least make a good showing.

Practice drills were transferred from Central park, the old "stamping grounds," to the hilltop because of the condition of the park which is covered with water and mud as a result of recent heavy rains, and there is a possibility, school authorities announced today, that games on this season's schedule may be taken to Hammond park, if a gridiron can be laid out there properly.

Although it is possible Faculty Manager Trumbull may book an earlier contest, the schedule as it is at present will send the Orange and Black to Chester October 2 for the opener.

ENROLLMENT IN SCHOOLS NORMAL

Wellsville schools, opened for the 1926-27 term last Tuesday, are back on schedule with probably a better than normal enrollment, according to announcement by Superintendent S. E. Daw.

Unusually heavy enrollment is reported in the first and the seventh grades, with the other classes running about normal. Although no definite check on the numbers of students in the various classes has been made, it is estimated that the total enrollment will reach approximately 1,800 or better.

School officials today commented on the unusually heavy demand for working certificates among students, including a number from the high school.

POLICE NAB "BOOZE" CAR

Occupants Flee in Darkness After Chase to 13th Street.

Chased from Third street to Thirteenth where they backtracked on to Center, two unidentified pilots of a booze car, pursued by local police, jumped and escaped to freedom into the darkness last night at 11:30 o'clock.

The police squad, including Chief Fultz, Patrolmen Pugh, Cole and Oyster and Harry Brennan, local auto dealer, confiscated the automobile, a Ford roadster, and eight five-gallon cans of alleged liquor.

Police were "tipped off" to the car as it stopped for a moment at Third street. A boy, whose identity was not revealed, detected the odor of the liquor seeping from a leak in one of the cans and notified the authorities.

The two men in the car learned of the police squad's approach and "stepped on the gas" down Main street. They ducked into Thirteenth and around the corner into Center where they abandoned the machine and fled.

NURSE CONDUCTS HEALTH SURVEY

Miss Martha Rex, Wellsville community nurse, whose activities here are sponsored by the Wellsville Kiwanis club, will lend her aid in keeping public school health percentages up to standard.

Miss Rex has already begun a survey of health conditions among pupils of the first to the third grades in the various school buildings.

This work will keep her busy for a while but later she expects to place the health survey plan in operation throughout the entire system.

"PADLOCKED" TRUE TO LIFE

Rex Beach Story on Screen at Ceramic.

Realistically picturing the clash between the old and the new generation, "Padlocked," Allan Dawn's latest Paramount production opened at the Ceramis theatre last night and captured a first night audience with the vitality and dramatic vigor of its story, the charm and human appeal of its characters, and the glamor and luxury of its atmosphere and backgrounds.

The picture, aside from its excellent entertainment qualities, is a moving and powerful plea for tolerance and sympathetic understanding on the part of the older folk in thair relation to modern youth.

Readers of the Cosmopolitan Magazine will recall the story by Rex Beach which appeared serially some months ago. It is a story of what is happening today in thousands of homes where parents and children look at life from different points of view. Edith Gilbert is a shining example of the modern, freedom-loving American girl, who resents her narrow-minded father's efforts to "padlock" her soul, stifle her ambitions and repress her innocent pleasures.

When his intolerance finally leads to her mother's accidental death, the girl runs away from home to become a cabaret dancer in New York. Her exciting adventures midst the gay night life of Broadway and the millionaire society atmosphere of Long Island is vividly and brilliantly portrayed. The manner in which the elder Gilbert is brought to a startling realization of his injustice to his daughter, their subsequent reunion and the girl's romance with a young scion of wealth bring the picture to a stirring climax and a happy ending.

Lois Moran, who jumped into the limelight via "Stella Dallas," gives a memorable performance as the modern daughter; Noah Beery handles the exacting role of the bigoted father in his usually deft fashion; and Louise Dresser adds to her laurels with her effective delineation of a woman with a past.

"ABIE'S IRISH ROSE" BOOKED

Anne Nichols' Hit Comes to Ceramic Sept. 16-17.

A ripple of mirth at first, speedily developing into a gale of laughter and eventually growing into a tornado of hilarity which engulfs an audience and tosses it about until it virtually cries for surcease from seemingly endless attacks on its risibilities—such, perhaps, best describes "Abie's Irish Rose," which opens a two-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre on Sept. 16.

The play is the creation of Anne Nichols, to whom several previous successful plays are credited. The author is herself the producer—one of the few independent producers in these days of combines and amalgamations.

The story of "Abie's Irish Rose," in brief, with Abie Levy, a war veteran, who fell in love while overseas with Rosemary Murphy, a war nurse. They return home and are surreptitiously married by a Methodist minister, although Abie is an orthodox Jew and Rosemary a fervent Catholic. When the play opens Abie is introducing Rosemary to his father as his fiancee, but to assuage suspicion of Rosemary's nationality and religion is forced to add a "ski" to her name, and as Rosie Murphiski, Abie's father welcomes her and arranges for a fitting wedding according to the Jewish rite. Just as the ceremony is being performed, Rosemary's father, Patrick Murphy, arrives on the scene, accompanied by Father Whalen, who, as they imagine, is to bind Rosemary and Michael McGee in wedlock according to the Catholic ritual. The fathers meet, discover each other's racial and religious status, and the complications that develop provide the comedy situations.

The company of players that will present "Abie's Irish Rose" here is the same that recently concluded an engagement of 29 weeks at the Colonial theatre, Cleveland.

The best of the season's models in new Felt Hats — exquisite colors—specially priced at $1.95 to $4.95 at TAYLOR'S MILLINERY.

City League Flag Winners To Start Title Series Tomorrow

Loop's Second Half Flag Race Decided By Forfeit Contest

K. T. K. Players Failing to Appear on Time for Clash at Smith Field, Give up Game; Pick-up Teams Put on Exhibition.

WINNING by forfeit last evening from K. T. K., at Smith Field, Chester was awarded the single contest that was necessary to cinch the City Industrial league second half pennant and put the 1926 champions into the 'baby world's series" with Laughlin for the 1927 gonfalon.

With rain threatening prior to game time a number of Katy players failed to show up in time to begin the game as scheduled and Umpire Fleming declared a forfeit victory, 9 to 0.

As the skies lifted an exhibition contest between the players on the ground was staged. Manager Riley loaned himself and Infielder Evans to K. T. K. for the clash and Babb, of Laughlin, was pressed into service at first base. Kinsey, arriving after one inning of play, went to third instead of McShane, and made a couple of wild heaves.

Manager Riley pitched the final inning of the contest and struck out Pete Cebula, among others, although Les McMath tripled and Potts doubled on him with Greene and C. Marshal getting singles off the erstwhile big league delivery. Fans got a big kick as McMath swiped home as Riley wound up.

Stoffel and Jennings permitted but four hits each during the engagement.

Two base hits—L. McMath, Potts.

Three base hit—L. McMath.

Stolen bases—L. McMath, Greene, C. Marshall.

Struck out—By Stoffel 6; by Jennings 2; by Riley 1.

Base on balls—off Stoffel 0; off Jennings 1.

Hits—off Jennings 3 and 6 runs in 4 innings; off Riley 4 and 3 runs in 1 inig.

Double plays—P. Cebula, L. McMath and Babb; Evans, Gerace, McShane, Babb, Evans and McShane; Hilditch and Babb.

Wild pitch—Jennings.

Left on bases—K. T. K. 3; Chester 3.

Umpires—Fleming and Merchant.

The Cardinals watched the Yanks play again and saw plenty. While Shawkey was holding the Red Sox to four hits, the Hugman murdered the Beaneaters, 10 to 0, and increased their lead over Cleveland to eight games.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 81 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

When the iron clubhead is placed at direct angles back of the ball in the address the player may have a tendency to pull all his iron shots and especially is this true if at the same time he plays the ball well forward. If opening up the blade some in the address constitutes a bothersome hazard—that is, if it doesn't look just right or if it makes you feel you are going to slice—then play the blade straight across the direction line, but play the ball a few inches farther back. At the same time be sure to hit outward—from the inside out—as the blade goes through the ball. Then gradually accustom yourself to playing the blade in the slightly opened position and gradually get the ball more forward, off the left foot. Always hit from the inside, never from the outside inward ward and around to the left. It is the throw from the inside out that delivers the good ball.

LOOSE TUNNEY MONEY SCARCE

New York Group Ready to Sink Roll on Champ.

By George Barry.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 10.—Jack Dempsey swung his two steel fists into action again today, after a lay-off of 72 hours, during which he added two pounds to his frame, bringing his present fighting bulk to 199.

Coincident with his return to fistic labors, a few citizens of New York, who had been loitering around these parts to find out what it's all about, returned to the large town with the announcement that:

"We're ready to sink the ships on Dempsey—and any odds we can get are good odds, for it's just like laying down money and picking up a whole lot of nice interest backing the champion."

Those men are presumed to be representing a syndicate which has $25,000 to back the champion, but their main difficulty has been to find any loose Tunney money.

The champion's program for the day called for plenty of heavy work with his "big three"—Bill Tate, Charlie Anderson and Marty Burke. The smaller men, who stood the brunt of his attack earlier in the week, will get some breathing spells for the next few days and will be called into fighting pose only when the champion figures he needs a bit of practice in the art of swiftness.

Some one called Dempsey's attention to an article in which Tunney is quoted as saying he cannot lose because "it is in the cards" and that he is "a man of destiny."

"Gene ought to be ashamed of himself for that—using that old, old stuff," commented Dempsey. "I hear he's a smart young fellow and I believe it, but if he pulls anything more like that I'm going to change my mind.

"The 'man of destiny' thing was originated by Georges Carpentier and, I believe, it was patented by him. And that 'it is in the cards'—well, that seems to belong to Tommy Gibbons. Those boys used that stuff, or their friends did, until folks got actually woozy listening to it. And, if I remember correctly, about 99 fortune tellers, without really being asked, spoke right up and said that Georges was going to knock my hat off and be the next champion. And when they missed on that they came right back and said it was Tommy they were really telling about.

"But I'm still champing around, even though 917 different people had dreams about my being whipped by Firpo and three times that many had visions that Georges would flatten me for ten."

MT. PERRY.—Sponsors of a movement to build a new $45,000 school house here are most persistent. A bond issue to raise the funds Aug. 10 failed by one vote. It will be submitted to the voters again November 2.

Riley Wins Toss and Takes Opening Clash To Chester Diamond

Monday, Wednesday and Saturday Selected as Dates for Second, Third and Fourth Battles; Plan Benefit for Carl Morgan.

THE City Industrial Baseball league "baby world's series" with Chester and Laughlin, West Virginia clubs, the contenders, will begin Saturday afternoon.

Five games will be played unless three victories are procured in straight games.

The dates selected for the contests are Saturday, Sept. 11, Monday, Sept, 13, Wednesday, Sept 15, and Saturday, Sept. 18.

Should the fifth game be necessary the date of play will later be selected and the place of playing decided by a toss.

Following the conclusion of the series another contest is to be played between the two clubs for the benefit of Carl Morgan, former league player and a scorer of the organization who early in August lost a leg at Midland, Pa., while in the performance of his duties as railway brakeman. He is now recuperating in the Rochester, Pa., hospital.

The opening game of the series will be played at Chester, Manager Frank Riley having won the toss of a coin flipped by President C. C. Cline. "Riley had first choice last year so Manager McCoy should have it on this occasion" averred the league executive.

"I'll take heads," said McCoy.

The coin fell. Tails were up. And so the first contest goes to the upriver town.

By the arrangement made, the second Saturday contest, unless the series is decided in straight games will go to Newell.

The first game will go nine innings as will the second Saturday contest. The Monday and Wednesday clashes will continue for the usual seven innings and will begin promptly at 5:00 o'clock.

The Saturday contests will start in both instances at 3:30 o'clock.

Fifteen minutes each will be devoted by the competing clubs in batting practices with five minutes apiece for fielding activities.

The umpires for the series will be decided upon by Friday evening. They will be of out of town men.

The admission for the series will be 25 cents for all spectators.

Additional seats will be placed behind the back stop at Chester for the games while the diamond has been overhauled in Newell and the pitching point raised to a respectable hillock. he alone can do. He was the McLean One one other than the players, league and team officials will be permitted on the team benches during all of these games. This rule will be rigidly adhered to.

Chester, which scored 108 runs as against 28 by their opponents during the season's second half when it also shut out six clubs and lost not a single road contest, will have the following players eligible for the series: Frank Henry Riley, Mayor and Manager; Capt. Robert Leslie McMath, Earl Potts, Walter McMath, Ray Wilde, Michael, Peter and George Cebula, James Green, Everett and Charles Marshall, John Evans, Paul Bennett, Alfred Heckathorne, David Stoffel and Percy Wyant.

Laughlin will have the following players who can compete in the clash: Saul McCoy, Manager; Capt. C. Finley, "Ted" Hunselman, Harry Herbert, Clyde Parsons, Louis Bubin, L. Briggle, Thomas Sayer, Kenneth Ashe, Gue Digman, Henry Aufterheide, Elmer Crawford, William Watson, Lee Babb, Paul English and "Becky" Barr.

Clubs Well Matched.

Both clubs loom evenly in comparison, all things being considered. Laughlin has shown form this year in crucial contests. Chester has the reputation for never quitting.

The veteran Hunselman to whom great credit is due for Laughlin winning the first half will backstop as catcher in 1923 against E. M. Knowles. He is a great asset to his team.

Chester will use the ponderous 280 pound Potts, who peculiarly, was the E. M. Knowles catcher of the 1923 series. He will be understudied by the capable W. McMath.

"Mike" Cebula, P. Bennett, D. Stoffel and Wilde constitute the Chester twirling staff. When right it is hard to overcome. Wilde has speed, Ben-

That Final Touch

When you light a Lucky Strike, you get more than the usual enjoyment which comes from an extra-fine cigarette.

You get the choicest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and perfectly blended—and something more.

The extra goodness of Lucky Strikes is due to toasting—a costly extra process.

Lucky Strikes offer you:

1. Finer Flavor. Toasting for 45 minutes develops the hidden flavors of the world's finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos.
2. Smoothness. Toasting for 45 minutes removes all "bite" and harshness, hence never any throat irritation.
3. Freshness. Then the tobacco is suddenly chilled. This seals the flavor in and insures constant freshness.

If judged only by comparison of tobaccos, Lucky Strikes would be the best on the market. But the extra process is a final touch, making Luckies far superior.

YANKS CAN FIGURE ON SERIES CHECKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—By winning ten of their remaining 17 games, the Yankees can clinch the American league pennant even if Cleveland wins 17 straight. The Hugmen increased their lead to eight full games by beating Boston yesterday while Cleveland was losing to Detroit.

The Cardinals, idle yesterday, profited when Pittsburgh and Chicago divided a double header. St. Louis plays Boston today while the Pirates will attempt to regain second place by winning both games of a twin bill from Cincinnati.

Big Fight Referee To Remain Mystery Until Gong Sounds

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—The man who will referee the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship bout in the sesqui-centennial stadium here will remain a mystery until the night of the fight Sept. 23; in fact his name will not be known until after the preliminaries.

This was the assertion made today by Frank L. Weiner, chairman of the Pennsylvania Athletic commission.

The commission will have at the stadium the night of the big bout three licensed referees—one for the feature event and one each for the preliminaries, according to Weiner. These men, Weiner explained, will not know until they are called into the battle ring whether they have been asked to preside at the "big sesqui battle" or are merely working during the minor events.

The Dodgers went on a spree in the ninth inning of their game with the Phillies, making eight hits and nine runs and winning 12 to 6. Cy Williams hit two homers.

High Record Set In "Carp" Go May Fall As Money Rolls In

Billy Gibson, Tunney's Manager, Expects to See Every Seat in Sesqui Stadium at Philly Filled for Big Fight.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Sept. 10.—One million, one hundred thousand dollars had been paid Tex Rickard on Wednesday, more than two weeks before the contest, for tickets for the Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney heavyweight championship contest, according to Billy Gibson, manager of Tunney.

Gibson, who yesterday saw his boxer work out for the first time since Gene began preparing for his bout for the title, declared the promoter of the sesqui-centennial fight had deposited that amount to his credit in a Philadelphia bank on Wednesday and, in addition, had sold about a quarter of a million dollars worth of tickets for which he had not, at that time, been paid. Gibson believes every seat in the stadium, and there are to be 140,000 of them, will be sold by next Wednesday, barring of course, the general admission seats which will not go on sale until the day of the fight.

Despite the fact the prices of admission for the Dempsey-Tunney encounter will be just half the prices charged for the gate-record-breaking Dempsey-Carpenter battle, Gibson thinks the $1,600,000 mark set by that fight will be shattered by at least $100,000.

Gibson stopped off here yesterday on his way to Philadelphia where he is to confer with the Pennsylvania boxing commission, Tex Richard, and Gene Normille, Dempsey's manager, late this afternoon concerning the rules which govern the September twenty-third bout and the identities of the referee and the judges. Neither Gibson nor Normile will have any voice in the selection of these men but they will be extended the privilege of protesting against any officials in the list to be presented them.

Gibson was favorably impressed by Tunney's work yesterday.

"He is close to the pink now," said Gibson, "and he must carefully guard against going stale. Gene, however, knows enough about training and his own body to do just enough work during the next ten days to maintain his edge."

Tunney worked out against Bryan Downey, Billy Vidabeck and Harold Mays yesterday, boxing two rounds with each of them. Downey kept him busy ducking to the body. Tunney had shaken off his lethargy by the time Mays stepped into the ring however, and he landed some telling blows to the Bayonne heavyweight's body.

Gene will do no work today. He may even lay off on Saturday although that is doubtful.

The Giants nosed out the Braves, 3 to 2, on Frisch's triple in the eleventh.

In the past year nearly 9,000,000 pairs of leather gloves were brought into the United States from other parts of the world.

City League Winners

nett great curves, Stoffel a hard ball to fathom and "Mike" is "Mike."

In Ashe, Digman, Briggle and English, Laughlin has a quartette of great flingers. Ashe is possessed of a smoke ball; Digman was the first half's leading twirler; Briggle, a southpaw, can speed 'em over, while English, though a youngster, shows rare form at times.

Strong Infields.

Babb, Sayers, or W. Watson, Finley and Herbert, Laughlin's infield, is a finished machine for the most part. Opposed to it will be Heckathorne, L. McMath, P. Cebula and Greene. The fans can take their choice.

Here is the Chester garden: F. Marshall, Evans and Wilde. The Newell outfield looms thusly: Parsons, Crawford and Aufterheide. There you have fielding capabilities, hitting capacity and speed intermingled. So again the spectators must pick their favorites.

Already great interest is manifested in the outcome. Great crowds, it is certain, will attend every game.

Both Managers Riley and McCoy are optimistic of the result of the games.

"It will be a great series" averred the Chester mayor and team leader. "This is the third straight time that Laughlin has won a league half," asserted Boss McCoy. "I have never led a losing club," interjected Riley. "The club getting the breaks will win," affirmed McCoy. "We are going after those breaks," put in Riley. And so the fans can conclude both pilots are after the series in earnest.

"It is a fine loyalty that Chester rooters show their team," opined Business Manager Joseph Dickey. "They are with the club through thick and thin." "But they let us know if we lose," spoke up Pilot Riley.

Rival Captains Confident.

Captains McMath and Finley are also both confident in the ability of their respective clubs to win. "I will be starting batting practice on the dot," observed Field Director Finley. "You will get it for we propose to start on time," replied McMath.

Neither leader is certain as to the pitcher that will be used in the opening game. Both will naturally want the jump and the twirler showing the best form will get the assignment in both instances.

Should rain interfere with the contest it doubtless will go over for the following Monday.

Latest Grecian Revolt Quelled Under Martial Law Decree.

ATHENS, Sept. 10.—All precautions have been taken to prevent a repetition of the mutiny among the republican guards, and the Athens garrison has been heavily re-inforced, the government announced today as normal conditions were being restored.

Leaders of the mutiny are being court-martialed today.

The government states that despite warnings the commandants of two battalions of republican guards marched their troops into Athens, making conflict inevitable.

The president of the republic, after conferring with General Kondylis, approved the action taken by the government.

The arrest of M. Vezikis, former mayor of Athens has been ordered, as the government states that it believes that a combination of Communists, anti-Venizelists, royalists and other extremists might cause trouble.

ATHENS, Sept. 10.—Athens was rapidly returning to normalcy today after 24 hours of bloody rioting in which 50 were killed and more than 100 wounded.

The fighting broke out as a result of an attempt by the Kondylis government to dissolve the republican guard, the officers of which are strong supporters of the recently deposed Greek dictator, M. Pangalos.

Refusal of the guard to disband led to a furious street battle in which artillery and machine guns were employed.

The government finally vanquished the guard after inflicting many casualties. Col. Dertillis, one of the leaders of the mutineers, was among the wounded.

Pangalos Friends Aid.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The latest Grecian revolt was not quelled until martial law had been decreed, according to a Central News dispatch from Athens.

Three hundred casualties were suffered during the fighting, this dispatch stated.

Although the fighting occurred over the refusal of the republican guard to be disbanded by the Kondylis government, there are indications here that citizens were engaged in street fighting and it seems probable that the republican guard had some support from adherents of the recent Pangalos government among citizenry.

Finished With War

where the German delegates sat, with a welcoming gesture.

"No More War"—Briand

"For France this day means we are finished with war," said M. Briand, and there was a hushed pause.

"Gone are the days of machine guns, trenches and bloody battles," continued the French foreign minister.

"There will be no more war between us.

"The machine guns have yielded to peace.

"There will be no more mourning and no grief. We have found a common judge and we will go to court together.

"No longer do we regard cannons and guns as our last arguments.

"We need no more demonstrations of heroism. Neither does Germany. We have enough glory on the battlefields to satisfy both of us."

Then the masterful French orator broke the dramatic awe which had marked his words, and interspersed a few pleasantries addressed to Herr Stresemann, only to return to his deadly earnest speech.

"They say faith moves mountains," said M. Briand. "We have had that faith and I can assure my German friends they will find me a loyal collaborator."

Briand Applauded.

Throughout his speech M. Briand was continually forced to wait for minutes at a time until the applause had subsided sufficiently to permit him to go on with his speech.

M. Briand joined with Herr Stresemann in expressing regret at the absence of Spain and Brazil.

When the excitement had subsided and while the interpreters were repeating an English version of M. Briand's speech, many of the delegates rushed up and shook the hands of the French foreign minister. Herr Stresemann was apparently undecided as to just what was expected of him and what was proper and he remained in his seat.

Seated in a far corner of the gallery, witnessing the demonstration with apparent joy, was Frau Stresemann.

Young La Follette and his friends are victorious. Lenroot is beaten, and Governor Blaine will be senator from Wisconsin.

Governor Blaine is a good, level-headed American. The objection to him is that he doesn't "belong" to any big corporation or group. A few more such men won't hurt the senate. Mr. Lenroot straddled on prohibition—a mistake in Wisconsin.

Also Senator Lenroot is the gentleman who herded and led other senators into voting for the world court.

WOMEN are brave, whether they swim the English channel at 19, or, like Mrs. Almatia Bennett, celebrate a hundredth birthday by flying over a city. Mrs. Bennett recently beat a 14-year-old by five stairs, in a race upstairs, and says, "Why should I fear to go up? I am going higher than that soon."

THREE British officers, four sailors, are killed fighting Chinese troops. The British won't declare war against China because there isn't any central recognized China. Besides fighting China, like fighting Russia, means burying your head in a feather bed. The deeper you go the more you smother.

STUDER, CANTON WITNESS, FACES PERJURY COUNT

Arrest Follows His Appearance at Lengel Trial.

GIVES SELF UP

Predict Apprehension of "Pay-off" Man in Mellett Murder.

CANTON, O., Sept. 10.—Carl Studer, who testified yesterday in the hearing of former Police Chief Seranus A. Lengel, surrendered himself here today on a perjury charge, which, authorities declared, grew out of his testimony during the hearing.

Studer is now under a federal charge of liquor conspiracy, a police charge here of operating a house of ill fame, and the perjury accusation.

Arrest of the "man who financed the Mellett murder" was deemed by certain investigators today as the next possible development in the inquiry into the assassination of the crusading publisher.

"The man to whom the evidence points has risked his money in other enterprises of a smaller nature," the official who asked that he would not nel records have been made reecntly be named, declared.

"He has been prominently mentioned in connection with the case," the authority concluded.

Accelerate McDermott Search.

Meantime the strenuous search for Patrick E. McDermott, alleged hired triggerman, and jointly indicted with Louis Mazer and Ben Rudner in the Mellett murder, was being accelerated by authorities throughout this and surrounding states.

"McDermott must be found, dead or alive," was the slogan of local authorities. The elusive "Pat" has been listed as "wanted" for 44 days despite a nationwide manhunt instigated by the plea of Canton officials. He was last seen at Brady Lake, 50 miles from here about July 28. The theory that he has been murdered has been advanced several times.

The hearing of former Police Chief Lengel, who was fired by the mayor of Canton because of his alleged "close contact with known law violators," was expected to terminate today.

Evidence Brought Out.

Insofar as the murder is concerned, because of the wide range of testimony, that has been introduced, the hearing has brought out the following evidence:

1—That the police department as a whole was evidently not over zealous in their investigation of the murder.

2—Denial by Carl Studer, alleged bootlegger and underworld character, of the testimony of two witnesses that he predicted "Mellett would be bumped off."

3—Denial by Police Sergeant Daniel Van Gunten that, shortly after the murder, he declared that "Mellett got just what was coming to him."

4—The statement by Van Gunten that he first heard of the murder when a man, whom Van Gunten "though to be 'Chuck' Burns," told him about it approximately 45 minutes after Mellett was killed. Burns is a brother-in-law of Carl Studer.

5—That Lengel, then chief of police here talked with Ben Rudner in front of the Canton police station about four hours before the murder occurred.

Expect Federal Developments.

Another development during the hearing that seemed to startle the local citizenry was the arrest of Carl Studer, following his testimony yesterday on a charge of operating a house of ill repute.

According to reports emanating from the semi-official sources here today, the federal probe being conducted by the United States Attorney A. E. Bernstein, Cleveland, was gathering force with amazing speed.

The Sturgis amoulance removed Mrs. Springer and her sister-in-law to the City hospital where they were attended by Dr. H. A. Turk. Bergner was taken to his home where he was attended by Dr. M. D. McCutcheon. Springer did not require the attention of a physician.

The Bergner car was towed to the Reo garage in Seventh street, while the Springer machine was taken to the Grate garage near Stop 55. Both cars were badly damaged.

Patrolman William Lister investigated the accident but no arrests were made.

AUTO RECORD BREAKER HERE

L. B. Miller, of Cross-continent Fame. Visits City.

L. B. Miller, San Francisco automobile accessory dealer, who recently set a new low record from a trans-continental motor drive from San Francisco to New York visited in East Liverpool for a few hours today on his return trip.

Miller, accompanied by J. E. Wieber, Portland, Oregon, mechanic and relief driver, and Dudley Siddall, New York, his manager, arrived at 10:30 a. m. from Pittsburgh. The trip was made via Ambridge, Rochester, Beaver and Midland.

He called at the Chamber of Commerce rooms where he conferred with Joseph Betz, president, and Miss Eva Wasbutzky, assistant secretary, and to express his thanks to the chamber for its efforts in arranging his epochal trip through this section.

Miller, Wieber and Siddall were guests of President Betz at luncheon at the Elks' club at noon, after which they continued their journey westward. A short stop off was also made in Lisbon this afternoon, where the party was met by Sheriff George Wright and James Costello, Lincoln Highway consul.

Hundreds crowded about Miller's Wills Ste. Claire roadster while it was parked in front of the Little building this morning. This is the car Miller drove across the continent.

Talks Over Radio.

Miller will reach Cleveland tonight. He will go on to Toledo on Sunday for a visit with friends and then to the Wills-Ste. Claire factory at Marysville, Mich., where he plans to spend a few days. He is to leave Chicago on September 21 and plans to complete the remainder of his trip to the coast in four days.

Siddall, who has accompanied him from New York, will leave Miller when he reaches Detroit on his way to the Wills Ste. Claire factory.

The record breaker left New York last Monday afternoon and stopped in Philadelphia where he visited the sesqui-centennial. Here he met two other champions — Miss Gertrude Ederle, New York, first woman to swim the English channel, and Fred Hoyt, aviator, who won the On-To-Sesqui airplane flight from Eureka, California, to Philadelphia.

A parade was given in Miller's honor in Pittsburgh yesterday. He was also the guest of honor at a banquet given at the Pittsburgh Athletic club by Eddie Connors of the Penn zoil company last evening. Miller discussed his cross-country motor trip from KDKA broadcasting station, last evening.

"What would your father say if he saw you out at this time of night?"

TWO WITNESSES TO HALL-MILLS MURDER PLOT

Vestryman and Girl Admit They Were at Scene.

ALL-NIGHT QUIZ

They Were Companions on Night of Double Slaying.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Sept. 10.—Ralph V. Gorsline, vestryman of the Church of St. John, the Evangelist, admitted to the authorities today, they announced, that he was in De Russey lane on the night four years ago when the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, his sweetheart, were murdered.

Gorsline heard shots, screams and voices speaking on that fatal night, he told the authorities, according to Inspector John W. Underwood who directed an all-night examination of Gorsline and Miss Catherine Rastall, a choir singer and companion of Gorsline on the night of the double murder.

Miss Rastall made similar admissions, the authorities announced.

For hours during the night Gorsline and Miss Rastall had been grilled by detectives who had sought to break down the story they told four years ago—during the first investigation.

Gorsline's story then was that he met Miss Rastall by chance in front of the New Brunswick Y. M. C. A. and drove her home, a mile from the Phillips home. This occurred on the night of the crime, Sept 14, 1922. He had reiterated during the first investigation that after leaving Miss Rastall at her home he went home himself and remained there.

breaking the channel swimming record were received.

The earlier reports had been received with some skepticism, and even now there are some who are inclined to make criticisms.

However, there are no official channel swimming regulations and no rules for timing and Michel's claim must stand, unless it is disproved.

Michel entered the water at exactly low tide which, according to the experts, is the most disadvantageous time for starting.

Michel, however, is easily France's premier swimmer, having recently won the Seine marathon of 26 miles.

Mrs. Corson, First Mother to Swim Channel, Returns

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Mrs. Mille Gade Corson, the first mother to swim the English channel, came home today amid a wild acclaim. Sirens and whistles shrilled their welcome at quarantine when she arrived on the Aquitania and was greeted by the mayor's reception committee, headed by Grover A. Whalen, which went down the bay on the municipal boat Macom.

GERMAN CALLED IN U. S. TRIAL

Merton Testifies in Daugherty-Miller Case.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—In calm, business-like tones, Richard Merton, German capitalist, today related in federal court details of the alleged $391,000 Liberty bond "pay-off" in the transaction whereby he was able to obtain the return to Germany interests of $7,000,000 from the United States alien property custodian which had been seized during the war as German property.

Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, are being tried before Judge Mack, charged with conspiring against the government in connection with their alleged participation in this deal.

Merton testified amid deadly silence in the courtroom that he turned this Liberty bond "divvy over to the late John T. King, Connecticut politician, in the lobby of the banking house of Goldman, Sach & Co., in New York City."

"SON OF SHEIK" COMING HERE

Valentino's Last Picture is Booked at American.

"The Son of the Sheig," Rudolph Valentino's last picture, comes to the American theatre Monday for a three-day run.

In it, Valentino, supported by Vilma Banky, the exotic Hungarian beauty, has returned to the screen in the same type of role that won him fame and name, that swept the world with its appeal and made the words "sheik" and "Rudy" synonymous. As a gesture of gracious deference, Agnes Ayres, the same charming lady who resisted the passionate advance of Rudy in that earlier film, returns to the screen in "The Son of the Sheik" for "flashbacks" to the first story.

"The Son of the Sheik' is a sequel to "The Sheik," written by the same Edith M. Hull and read by millions, and then adapted for the screen by Frances Marion, famous woman scnarist, and directed by George Fitzmaurice for United Artists Corporation release. During the production of the film and after its pre-view in Santa Monica, Cal., by an exclusive audience, when Valentino was cheered and had to fight his way to his automobile; and the ensuing acclamation by the public at the Million Dollar theatre, Los Angeles, and the Mark Strand theatre, New York, at the premiers, it was said that Rudy is "greater than ever."

The thrilling tale of Ahmed, son of the devil-may-care Englishman who is "The Sheik," and his love and hate of Yasmin, the exotic dancing girl of the desert, whose father is a renegade Frenchman, takes one across the dreaming desert with powerful sweeps of action and romance as the fast pace of the story unfolds the Son of the Sheik's belief that he has been betrayed by the girl for whom he would give all.

The capture of the Sheik's son by a villainous Moor (Montague Love), and his robber band, and the cruel whipping given the boy, the rescue by a loyal band commanded by the giant Ramadan,—our old friend, Karl Dane,—and the fierce fights of impassioned males for a woman, gouging and knifing and blows in the dark.——these are the flitting backgrounds for the love story. Valentino's role calls for shadings of sudden calm with his love in the desert silence, then crunching hate of her for her alleged deceit and clutching at her to ride away over the hills to his tent.

Matrons too, can find at TAYLOR'S MILLINERY a lovely range of choice in new Fall Hats, in pleasing shapes and delightful colors reasonably priced at $3.95 and $4.95.

Now every NEW EDISON is a FULL VOLUME Instrument

THOMAS A. EDISON has given owners of the New Edison all the advantages of his marvelous FULL VOLUME invention for the insignificant cost of a mere accessory. Your New Edison is just as modern as any phonograph; in fact, it is a distinct advancement—two phonographs in one. Living room and ball room volume! Variety, versatility, untiring charm! Your New Edison is twice as entertaining, twice as useful.

The transformation from modulated Re-Creation to FULL VOLUME is made as easily as changing a record. You're playing a snappy dance number for the bunch. Eager young feet are just "rarin' to go"—but you've found out before that the usual phonograph music hasn't volume enough to drown out the shuffling of feet—then you remember the DANCE ATTACHMENT—it takes just two shakes to slip it on in place of the regular reproducer. Oh boy! Hear that orchestra zipping it up, get that saxophone duet, listen to the traps, and can't that fellow pick a mean banjo?

You actually forget all about the Edison—you've got the orchestra right in your home. Let joy be unconfined. You can't lose this music. That's the combination of Edison tone quality and FULL VOLUME Re-Creation. Just this simple inexpensive attachment transforms your New Edison into a NEW-er music maker.

You can scarce believe it until you hear it. Demonstrations in our store every day. Come in now and hear it.

According to friends of Nungesser, he recently explained his inability to live any longer with his wife, as follows:

"She's too rich and too keen for the social life which I cannot endure."

Proposed Legion Journey to France Topic at Capital

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The proposed American Legion pilgrimage to the old stamping grounds of the A. E. F. in Paris today had become a matter of serious discussion among Washington officials with the prospect that Legion officers will carry into their Philadelphia convention next month some disillusioning reports on the situation abroad.

Whether the legionnaires as ambassadors of good will can overcome the anti-American feeling overseas is regarded by officials here as one of the most important questions the Legion has been called upon to answer.

Under normal conditions Washington officials would speed the Legion on its way. The frank statements of many unusally conservative citizens returning from Europe have, however, aroused more than ordinary skepticism in some quarters.

LIGHTNING HITS NOTTINGHAM HOME

Six members of the Mrs. Belle Nottingham family, Harrison street, narrowly escaped injury when lightning struck their home Monday, it developed today.

The bolt struck the chimney, damaging it and tearing plaster from the ceiling and walls of the upper bedrooms. Mrs. Nottingham and her three sons, asleep in the upstairs bedrooms, were hurled from their beds to the floor by the lightning. Two members of the family who were asleep in a bedroom near the chimney were stunned.

The downstairs rooms of the house were covered with soot to a depth of several inches, according to Mrs. Nottingham.

WEIRTON SCHOOL ENROLLMENT 3,100

Enrollment in the public and parochial schools at Weirton will pass the 3,500 mark this year, according to estimates made by school officials based on enrollment figures for the first few days of school.

On the opening day of the term last Tuesday about 2,500 children registered in the public schools, while approximately 600 others were enrolled in the parochial school. About 400 others are expected to register before the end of the month.

The high school enrollment was 235. About 25 more are expected to enter the freshman class. The registration in the junior high school is 230.

The new school building at the lower end of Holliday's Cove, which will be used for first, second and third grade pupils from Brooke county, will open next Monday. This building will take care of about 100 pupils who otherwise would have enrolled in the Weirton schools this week.

CRAWFORD HOME UNDER HAMMER

The old Crawford homestead, near the Weirton postoffice, once one of Hancock county's finest country homes, will be sold on Sept. 14 to the highest bidder.

The house stands on what was originally a 600-acre farm. Several years ago Cyrus Ferguson purchased the farm and a large sum was spent in modernizing the home. The stone barn, which is located close to the house, was erected about 125 years ago.

Odd Fellows' Session.

Members of Clark lodge No. 447, I. O. O. F., will hold their weekly meeting in the Aaron building at 8 o'clock tonight.

Police and Fountain News!

A very small apple came in one day
Hollerin "An apple a day keeps the doctor away",
And the sodas and sundaes were awful upset,
In fact they haven't got over it yet.

But the Sodas may NOW have a happier mood
For NOW it is claimed that ice-cream is food,
And that ice-cream if eaten a little each day
Keeps frowns, indiigestion and miseries away.
So you should GET some—don't you think?

It's a Great World!

Wednesday afternoon I turned to Zach Irwin, one of my assistants and told him to take a couple of hours off and go out on the highways down town here and FIND OUT WHAT PEOPLE WERE TALKING ABOUT!

Zach looked puzzled but after a bit put on his hat and stepped out as directed. He came back later and laid the following report on my desk. As it read sort of surprising to me I thought I'd print PART of it here. If you have time you might read it. Tisn't painful.

TWO MIDDLE AGED WOMEN: "Arn't children IMPOSSIBLE these days?"

THREE YOUTHS: "He promised to let me have a gallon when it got in and a gallon will make NINE QUARTS by golly!"

COUPLE OF FLAPPERS:—"I think Michael Arlen is just simply marvelous, I really MEAN it—awfly smart don't you think so?"

TWO MEN (not classified)—"Business will NEVER come back to what it was. The auto has simple RUINED this country!"

In A CIGAR STORE:—"No champion EVER came back who laid off as long as Dempsey. Can't be done."

PLUMP MAN IN A DEPARTMENT STORE:—"I'm NOT going to wear NO corset no matter WHAT the style is."

HORRIFIED OLD LADY:—"My dear I'm telling you she hadn't a THING on except just one of these slippy silk things!"

There were five other reports but they were too exciting to stand the day light on a cold dignified page like this—so they're omitted. No one said anything FOR or AGAINST the drug stores so mebbe I'm lucky to be left out! Further there's no "moral" to this yarn and no lesson to be learned or taught. Its just a little slice of things AS THEY ARE.

Chicago Sunday Crowds Battle In Ghetto For Bargains

Hundreds of Shoppers Gather at Maxwell and Halstead Streets Amid Colorful Shops.

CHICAGO.—State and Madison streets, the busiest corner in Chicago, are world known for traffic.

But only during week days is this the keystone of Chicago.

Sunday the crowds shift to Chicago's Ghetto, where thousands gather at Maxwell and Halstead streets to battle for bargains amid the colorful street shops. From furcoats to canary birds are offered for sale in the open-air booths.

There are no traffic officers in the crowded section and from early morning, until the sun is hidden by the surrounding "slum" apartments, hundreds of shoppers jam the markets.

Recently the Jewish traders have been forced to adopt heroic efforts to claim the markets and pace even with the invasion of negro dealers.

The negroes have made rapid strides in taking over the dog and bird markets and enterprising Yankees have driven out the Jews as corn doctors and sellers of "snake oil" and other liniments.

Colored merchants are also building up a special clientele among the buyers of old clothes and numerous signs announcing "clothes for colored gentlemen" dot the ghetto street shops.

If one choose, it has been figured he might dress in the height of fashion by trading in Maxwell street, providing, of course, no objection were made to second-hand garments, at a cost of $25.00 a year.

Once splendid dress suits, handsome coats and gorgeous ties, formerly worn by some smart millionaire on Chicago's "gold coast" are often displayed in the street stores. Fancy sport garments in gayest hues, feature the colored men's higher class second-hand booths and trading in these specialties is intense on Sunday.

"THE SAVAGE" IS SCREEN HIT

Ben Lyon and May McAvoy in Picture at American.

"The Savage," a First National picture featuring Ben Lyon and May McAvoy, opened yesterday at the American theatre, and sets the pace for the current season's better pictures.

In this picture is everything one can possibly want in a motion picture. There are thrills, love story, laughs by the score, beautiful women, perfectly marvelous settings, and Ben Lyon gives one of the best performances of his screen career. May McAvoy is admirably cast and gives a splendid characterization, and the other players could not have been more wisely chosen.

Sam Hardy, as the managing editor of a scientific magazine, is immense. Charlotte Walker, as a wife who believes the wife should be the better ninety-five per cent, could not be excelled. Philo McCollough is an excellent "heavy" and Tom Maguire apparently was born to play the role of the hen-pecked scientist husband of Charlotte Walker.

Most of the story is laid in the South Seas, and there are some unusually fine jungle scenes in which Ben Lyon dashes about garbed in only a goat skin. He even rides on the back of a pre-historic brontosarus. To tell the plot always spoils a story, so we will only say that Ben is sent to the South Seas to play the part of a white savage and be discovered by a party of scientists so that they may be exposed and made a laughing stock of. Fred Newmeyer is to be complimented for some excellent direction.

The government of South Africa is actively extending its railways.

WATER, BRUSH AND ELBOW GREASE MAKE $100,000 FOR POLISH LAD

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — With a bucket of water, a brush and a boundless store of energy as his sole assets, he has laid way a fortune of more than $100,000—and all by washing windows at 10 cents a pane. He has washed over a million windoys.

Thus goes the lifetime story of Frank Stanko, who 15 years ago lived in Poland, a fatherless poverty-stricken lad. His friends told him of the great land across the seas—America.

Hard work was the key to success in America, he was told. Then Frank could succeed because he glorified in work. So he obtained a $100 by scraping and scriming.

He came to America. New York was too noisy and too big. He heard of Chatanooga. The name of the town was peculiar so he decided to take a chance.

His first job there was to earn a meal. He washed the windows of a restaurant. He liked the work and decided to become the best window washer in the city.

He did. Eventually Frank was capable of washing 125 to 150 windows a day. He began to lay away a little money. People learned they could depend on him.

"I have seen the big moving pictures of life by washing windows. I see big business deals, bankers lending money, the troubles of husbands and wives. The eyes through the windows are of the soul."

But now that Frank is rich, he still keeps washing windows.

Natural gas has been discovered at Johannesburg and may be piped to other cities of South Africa.

COUNTY SCHOOL FUND GROWING

Larger Balance on June 30 Than Year Ago.

The county board of education had more money to its credit at the close of the fiscal year on June 30 than it had the year previous, according to a report now being compiled for the state department of education.

On July 1, 1925, the board had $4.80 balance, and at the close of business June 30, last, the balance was $1,131.32.

The expenses amounted to $17,119.12, divided as follows: County board of education, $119.60; salary and expenses of county superintendent, $4,161.07; salaries of two assistant county superintendents, $7,534.71; attendance officer, $1,860; clerk hire, $960; incidentals, $2,514.55.

WIDEN HIGHWAY NORTH OF LISBON

Widening of the macadam section of the Lisbon-Salem road north of the Lisbon village limits will be finished before late fall, according to State Highway Superintendent Kiltner, of Lisbon. A part of this highway has been widened on the right side going northward two and one-half feet, and a similar width is to be added the west side of the road. This will make the road 19 feet in width.

Widening this section has been held up on account of wet weather during the last two weeks. Between 300 and 500 tons of road surfacing material will be used on this job, which will extend northward from Lisbon to tap the brick section of this highway at Long's Crossing in Salem township.

DEATH SETTLES DIVORCE ACTION

The case has been dismissed from the record.

Another divorce action was quickly put aside by the court when the case of Viola M. Percy, 17, through her next friend, M. F. Bricker, against Jesse G. Percy, was dismissed without prejudice. In this case the costs were paid by plaintiff.

PROSECUTOR HOME FROM VACATION

Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brookes has returned to his office at Lisbon following his vacation which was spent at Atlantic City. He immediately began the preparation of cases that will come before the grand jury which has been summoned to convene Sept. 20. It is expected that between 40 and 50 cases will be presented, making the session one of the heaviest in recent years.

GLITTER

By Katharine Brush

BOOK TWO—V.

The girls who attend college proms are tabulated neatly within an hour of their arrival. In undergraduate language, they are either knockouts, or else they're dull thuds. There is no middle class. The knockouts enjoy two days of exhilarating popularity and unalloyed bliss. The dull thuds look on and wonder miserably why they had been so awfully excited about coming . . .

Everybody in the Zeta Kappa house—members of the fraternity, visiting young ladies, everybody—knew that Dopey Lane's prom-girl was a dull thud. They knew it the minute she came downstairs to join the group congregated in the living room. By the dark blue taffeta gown that bunched in the wrong places they knew it. By the heavy black stockings in a year of sheer flesh-colored ones, and by the hair that wasn't shingled, and by the face that wasn't rouged, and by the lack of self-confidence they knew it. But being ultra-modern boys and girls, unto whom "Everyone for himself" was the law, they did not care. They stared at her, hard, for a second or two. They summed her up, "No looks, no style, no pep." Then they forgot her utterly, the girls because they were not afraid of her, the boys because they were not interested.

Pep! Fuel for the speed of the generation! Sine qua non of the ultra-moderns! The Zeta Kappa living room whizzed with it. The atmosphere was hectic with it. Every damsel strove to prove at once, then and there, that she had it—that she had more of it than any other damsel. You should have seen Norma Knight gulping straight Scotch from a bottle. You should have seen the celebrated Winky Winters, prom-trotter extraordinary, seated atop the piano, beating time on its mahogany with her sharp small heels. You should have seen Gloria Martin, minister's daughter, doing an imitation of Ted Lewis with somebody's derby hat. You should have seen Molly kissing each new man as she met him, saying, "Eventually—why not now?"

Pep! Something a little different, a little conspicuous, a little rowdy, and extremely loud—pep!

Through it all, Cecily Graves sat in a great armchair pushed to one side. She seemed literally to be clinging there, as one would cling to a small safe isle in a mad and treacherous sea. She was quite alone. Even Dopey had left her, drawn to the other side of the room by the irresistible pull of something-going-on. She sat speechless and motionless—that is, motionless except for her eyes, which darted here and there and everywhere excitedly. "She isn't missing a trick," Jock told himself.

After a time, meeting her glance over the top of Molly's head, he winked at her in a friendly way. Her reaction was immediate and pathetic. She seemed to shrink even further into the depths of the great chair; and then, an instant later, she smiled. Tremulously. Gratefully. With a look in her eyes like the eyes of a dog when you pat him.

This was too much for Jock. He abandoned Molly in the middle of the floor and went across to her. He seized her wrists and pulled her to her feet. "You've got to dance with me, lady."

Just that. No "You look lonesome," no "why all by yourself"—none of the tactless remarks that another young man, with the best intentions in the world but without Jock's sensitive understanding, might have made. Instead, "You've got to dance with me"—as though he wanted her to tremendously, as though he could not wait.

And the brief glance he had of her face before it tucked itself out of sight against his shoulder told him unmistakably that he had made a friend, for life.

VI.

Jock contrived to be seldom alone with Molly during the next two days. He rushed her determinedly from one festivity to the next, and somehow they found no opportunity for the sweet secluded moments that are as important as the prom itself to most prom couples. The shadowy billiard-room, the little corner back of the staircase—all the places known in the fraternity (and with reason) as "necking nooks"—saw them not. No one entered a room and backed out hastily, murmuring apologies, on their account. No one had opportunity to hoot at Molly because her hair was mussed. . . .

"I don't believe you love me any more, Jock?"

"What makes you think that?"

Pep, fuel for the speed of the generation. The Zeta Kappa living room whizzed with it.

"You've only kissed me once since I've been here, and that was just a tiny peck—sort of a sense-of-duty peck—"

"Well, when has there been time, for heaven's sake? Look here, Molly, be sensible; you got in yesterday afternoon at three. We met the bunch, hung around here for awhile, went over to the Union and danced till seven-thirty, dashed back to dress for the Dramatic Club show, saw that, and danced afterward till dawn. This morning we didn't get together until nearly noon, and then we had to have lunch, and after that the game, and then the tea dance here at the house, and now—"

"I notice," broke in Molly, sniffing, "that other people find time. Your roommate and Norma—"

"Oh, well, Bones—" Jock dismissed Bones with a flip of his hand. "He's a glutton for that stuff, of course."

"Besides," Molly continued, "you certainly don't seem to have any trouble finding time to talk to that ash-can—that Cecily whatever-her-name-is who wears the bargain-basement clothes. What you can see in her is more than I can understand—"

"I'm sorry for her."

"Well, I'm not! It's a girl's own fault if she's a—"

"It isn't Cecily's fault, Molly. She'd like to be different, but she just doesn't know how to go about it."

"That's right!" flared Molly. "Stick up for her! Make a nut out of me by cutting in on her all the time, and talking to her, and kidding her—you're the only man who does, I'm sure of that! Can't you look at my side, for a change? Do you think it's flattering to me to be brought down here and then neglected for a simp with a shiny nose? Well, it isn't. It's positively insulting! People must certainly think I'm good, if I can't interest you any more than she does!"

This conversation took place in the roadster, which was bearing them from the fraternity house to the gymnasium for the final big event of the week-end—the junior promenade. A distance of two blocks only, but Molly had declined to walk because she said she must spare her feet as much as possible. She sat well over in her own seat, the personification of injured pride and self-pity.

RUDY FORGETS POLA IN WILL

Aunt of Valentino's Second Wife Gets Third of Estate.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10.—The will of the late Rudolph Valentino although not yet filed for probate, leaves one-third of his estate to Mrs. Teresa Werner of Salt Lake City, aunt of Natacha Rambova, his second wife, according to an admission by Attorney Gilbert, the actor's personal lawyer today.

Announcement of a third beneficiary, to share equally in the estate with Alberto Guglielmi and Maria, brother and sister of Valentino was a surprise to Valentino's friends and associates here. It was known, however, that Valentino held a sincere affection for Mrs. Werner and the estrangement and divorce of the actor and Miss Rambova had not affected his friendship for the aunt of his second wife.

S. George Ullman, secretary and manager for Valentino, estimated today that the will disposed of an estate valued at approximately $500,000, after meeting all debts and obligations.

Included in Valentino's property listed by Ullman are a collection of armor and antiques valued at $250,000; a house in Beverly Hills appraised at $175,000; $50,000 life insurance; jewelry, $50,000; and other valuable possessions, including a yacht and a fleet of foreign motor cars.

Ullman is appointed executor of the will, it was learned, and will have charge of the property for three years, Miss Rambova was left a $1 bequest, and Pola Negri, asserted fiance of Valentino, was not mentioned in the will.

The will will be offered for probate here tomorrow.

FACE DISFIGURED WITH PIMPLES AND BLACKHEADS

Druggist proves a friend in need

Kalispell, Mont., March 1:—"Two years ago my face was an awful sight. The skin broke out with pimples and blackheads and itched all the time. I washed it frequently and applied various salves, but they helped little. One day I asked a druggist for a good cure for my case, and that night I took home a small jar of Resinol Ointment. Every morning and night I washed my face and applied the ointment, rubbing it in good. After a few treatments I noticed the pimples were starting to decrease and in two or three weeks they were practically gone. I was so well pleased with the results that I now keep Resinol on hand and recommend it whenever I can." (Signed) Elkin E. Berry, 1028 Third Ave. West.

She Bared Her Soul!

To the man whose kindly tolerance and sympathy have put thousands back on the road to happiness

AND she was but one of hundreds who have done the same—told secrets she would not tell her mother—or perhaps her husband—but in the confessional of the Judge's chambers she revealed all. Her story and the stories of scores of others—men as well as women—are now being retold for society's good by Judge Ben B. Lindsey in the most candid and startling series of articles ever published in any magazine. Reasoning from the stories of real life told him in court day after day, Judge Lindsey has reached certain conclusions, and now he boldly asks: "Is a new code of sex morals being created?" It is a startling question—but a question that has heretofore existed unasked in the minds of all intelligent men and women; and it is no more startling than the evidence that Judge Lindsey offers in his great series of articles under the title: "The Moral Revolt."

When you have read the first of the Judge's articles and considered it, turn a few pages of the same magazine and read the first article in another astonishing series in which the internationally famous beauty and social leader—

Mrs. Philip Lydig Reveals Secrets of New York Society

ALMOST since girlhood, beautiful Mrs. Philip Lydig has been an unquestioned leader of New York's ultra-smart society. Now for the first time Mrs. Lydig proceeds to turn the spot-light on that society—telling in great detail why she finds it futile, false and corrupt. The statements she makes will astonish you—story after story of tragedies heretofore never publicly disclosed. If chronicles of the real lives of the prominently fashionable—heretofore known only to those on the inside of that group—are of interest to you, then you must read Mrs. Lydig's revealing article, "Marriage Without Love." In these two remarkable series—the one by Mrs. Lydig, the other by Judge Lindsey—The Red Book Magazine for October inaugurates its new plan of adding the drama of Fact to the drama of Fiction—which latter is expressed by Rupert Hughes in his splendid novel, "We Live But Once," and by these other distinguished novelists and story-writers: Ruth Comfort Mitchell, James Francis Dwyer, Struthers Burt, Samuel Merwin, Leroy Scott, Thyra Samter Winslow, Robert Benchley, Wm. H. Osborne, Arthur K. Akers and Michael J. Phillips.

Mrs. Philip Lydig

How old is your car?

—just fill her up with Refiners Ethyl Gasoline and watch her run like new!

THIS is the marvelous thing about Refiners Ethyl Gasoline:

The more carbon you have in your car, the better Refiners Ethyl works. The older your engine is, the younger it will seem when you use this magic fuel. In fact, Refiners Ethyl Gas makes old engines run like new!

The first tankful will convince you of the truth of this statement. "Knocking" will stop instantly and the carbon in your cylinders will become an agency of service—restoring power and smooth and economical operation.

Automotive science worked seven years to perfect this new fuel. It has no substitute. Fill your tank with Refiners Ethyl Gasoline today.

REFINERS ETHYL GASOLINE — Knocks out that "knock"

NOTICE: Dilution of Refiners Ethyl Gasoline with other fuels decreases its effectiveness. Therefore it is important to drain your tank before filling it with Refiners Ethyl Gasoline for the first time—and to use Refiners Ethyl Gasoline exclusively thereafter.

Remember also that no motor fuel will "grind valves." While Refiners Ethyl Gasoline makes carbon an agency of service, you must keep your valves in good condition.

COLUMBUS, O.—Wallace Scott, 36, must attend church services for the next six months, without missing a Sunday, or go to jail for the same length of time.

Scott was arrested near a colored church for promiscuously displaying a revolver.

A minister interceded with Judge Harry B. Holmes in municipal court. Scott promised to go to church.

GERMANY is admitted to the league by unanimous vote of the nations, gets a permanent seat on the league council and the thing is done enthusiastically, as it well may be. One big war is over, the next might come from the east, starting in Russia, with Asia behind it. Western Europe would like the Germans, trained fighters and trained scientists, as a protecting wall on the east.

JAMES M. NORRIS, president of the American Chemical society, says chemistry will end the gold standard. We use heat as our source of energy, or water power, using it to make steam or electricity. By and by we shall use energy tied up in the atom with the electrons revolving around their nucleus thousands of billions of times in a second. Intensity of energy will change everything, and new standards of value will be found, wiping out gold.

THAT will suit men as well as gold. What they want is something that other men lack and want and for which other men will work.

WHEN men ta[illegible] harnessing the [illegible] grow into the heavens, or penetrating man to move up too rapidly. Air, water, the earth nature gives to us free, and the sun's light and heat. We must work for everything else.

Science will discover and use other new forces before unlocking the power of the atom and extracting from a copper cent energy enough to drive an express train across the continent.

You read that an automobile engine had been made to run with the explosive power of dust from a grain elevator instead of gasoline. Messrs. Noel and Heilbach, department of agriculture engineers, showed that ordinary dust might be used to create an explosive force greater than that of gasoline.

IF YOU have tears for high finance, this is the time to shed them.

INQUIRY BOARD WILL MEET IN STEUBENVILLE NEXT TUESDAY

Utilities Commission to Fix Responsibility for Collision.

TOLL UNCHANGED

Coroner Also Investigates Wreck in Which One Man Died.

Representatives of the state utilities commission will make an investigation next Tuesday of Wednesday's passenger carwork train collision on the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company's line at King's crossing, in which one passenger was killed and 18 other persons injured.

Will Visit Crash Scene.

The investigators, according to notification received by C. A. Smith, [illegible] manager of the traction company, will arrive in the down river city at 1 p. m., following which they will visit the scene of the fatal crash, question members of the passenger crew and then come to East Liverpool to continue the inquiry and inspect the wrecked car which was removed to the car barn here late Wednesday night.

In the meantime, Coroner A. L. Bell, of Jefferson county, is conducting a probe.

No additional deaths are expected as a result of the collision which, according to unofficial reports, was due to a misunderstanding of signals.

Bert Slee, 45, of Steubenville, paymaster of the Follansbee Brothers' Sheet and Tin Plate company of Toronto, died of his injuries in the Ohio Valley hospital in Steubenville shortly after the wreck occurred.

Injured Are Recovering.

The most seriously injured were two East Liverpool men, Motorman Frank Guy, 33, and Conductor Carl Emery, 24, of the passenger car. Reports from Steubenville hospitals, to which they were removed, indicate both men will recover.

"I stuck to my post" was the only comment Motorman Guy made when newspaper men questioned him.

According to persons who arrived on the scene shortly after the passenger car rammed the work train, which was hauling a chemical tank being used in killing weeds along the right of way, a semaphore signal was down, denoting danger. This signal was directly above where the wreck occurred.

SECOND ARREST MADE IN ASSASSINATION OF WELLSVILLE PATROLMAN

Appeal is Certain If Canton Police Chief Loses Fight

CANTON, O., Sept. 10.—Assuming that the action of the civil service commission in denying a motion by deposed Police Chief S. A. Lengel's counsel for an order recognizing Lengel as police head, was indicative of their final action, Attorney James Amerman today declared that an appeal would be taken upon the final decision.

"There has been a lot of political string pulling and I have not the slightest chance before this commission," Amerman declared.

"The chief was not fired by Mayor S. M. Swartz according to the legal method prescribed," he added.

After Attorney H. C. Pontius made a closing argument, both sides rested.

Joseph Fusco, 20, Pool Room Operator, is Taken Into Custody by Sheriff George Wright.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY INQUIRY

Nick Scaccuto is Also Held as Suspect in Murder of James Kenney in May.

Investigation of Sheriff George Wright into the murder of Patrolman James Kenney, of Wellsville, who was shot down in the yard of the Frank Maggio home, Commerce street, last May, today reach a climax with the arrest of Joe Fusco, 20, of Wellsville, on a charge of first degree murder.

Denies Knowledge of Crime.

Fusco was taken to Lisbon by Sheriff Wright and Deputy Lawrence Kindsvatter last night at midnight. He was arraigned before Justice M. K. Zimerman, entered a plea of not guilty and was bound over to the [illegible] court, bond.

Fusco was put through a two hours' grilling by Sheriff Wright, but the prisoner steadfastly maintained his innocence and stoutly asserted he knew nothing of the murder.

But the prisoner's statements and explanations, according to Sheriff Wright, failed at times to dovetail.

Fusco, after two and a half hours of questioning, was locked up in the county jail this morning at 2:30 o'clock.

Admits He Bought Gun.

His arrest is the second in connection with the Kenney slaying. Nick Scaccuto, who was found by Wellsville police in a home in Fourteenth street with bullet wounds in his body the day following the murder, is in jail at Lisbon, also awaiting grand jury action.

Scaccuto was bound over from Wellsville. Probate Judge Lodge Riddle later refused requests of his attorneys to release him on bond.

In statements to Sheriff Wright, Fusco is alleged to have asserted that he had left Italy in order to get out of the army. He admitted having bought a gun some time ago from a colored man in the pool room which he operates for his father.

A broken banjo which was found a short distance from Kenney's body is still an isolated clue.

Monroeville Farmer Falls Under Wheels of Machine.

CHEST CRUSHED

Accident Occurs on Salineville-Bergholz Road.

William P. Adams, 70, farmer, near Monroeville, was crushed to death at 11 o'clock this morning, when he fell under the wheels of a threshing engine on the Salineville-Bergholz road, two miles from the former village.

The accident occurred when Adams, with the machine in operation, climbed to the top of it to make an adjustment. Jarred from his place, he fell directly in the path of the thresher. The wheels passed over his face and chest. He was dead when other farmers reached his side.

Adams was en route to the Elder farm, near Monroeville when he was killed.

The body was removed to the John T. Hutson morgue in Salineville.

Adams, whose wife died about three years ago, resided with a son, George.

French Minister Pledges Nation Considers Germany Friend in Future

GENEVA, Sept. 10. — "For France this day means we are finished with war — machine guns have yielded to peace—we have had enough glory on the battlefields to satisfy both of us—."

With his hands extended towards Germany's delegates, Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, uttered these dramatic words today in welcoming Germany, long the traditional enemy of France, into the league of nations amidst epochal scenes of enthusiasm.

Herr Stresemann, German foreign minister, had prefaced Germany's entry into the league with a speech declaring Germany's policy to be one of peace and voiced a plea for general disarmament.

Speech Goes Down In History.

Briand replied to Herr Stresemann with a speech destined to go down in history, as marking the final ending of the great world war, a speech which pledged France to consider Germany as a friend in the future.

When M. Briand had finished his dramatic utterances the German delegates arose from their seats and applauded wildly, showing signs of great emotion. Sir George Foster, Canadian delegate, pulled out his handkerchief and leaped to the floor waving and cheering like a college football enthusiast and other delegates applauded and almost danced for joy.

M. Briand, slow-moving and unexcitable, arose from his seat when Herr Stresemann had concluded his speech and with no efforts for dramatics, stretched his hands towards the seats

Fordham Records Quake 5,700 Miles From New York City

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—An earthquake disturbance of four hours' duration was recorded on the seismograph of Fordham university today.

The first tremor was felt at 6:44 a. m., and the shocks reached the greatest intensity at 8 a. m. Traces of the disturbance were noticeable on the seismograph until after 10 o'clock.

The quake was about 5700 miles distance, and in a southwesterly direction. Officials of the institution place the quake in the vicinity of one of the numerous island in the southern part of the Pacific ocean.

Like Names Prove Embarrassing to Salineville Man

The Samuel Dodson who was found wandering on the street in Wellsburg, W. Va., Wednesday, and who was brought to Lisbon and placed in the county home last night by Sheriff Wright, is not Samuel Dodson of Water street, Salineville, the latter's relatives said today. The Salineville Dodson is employed as a potter. The man found in Wellsburg is said to have resided on a rural route out of Lisbon.

CHIEF'S FRIENDS BOO AS WELLSVILLE SOLONS VOTE FOR NEW TRIAL

Councilmen, Balloting 5 to 2 to Continue Five-month Battle, Adjourn Session as Ex-Mayor George D. Ingram, One of 60 Persons Present, Seeks Permission to Speak.

CONNORS AND SWEARINGEN TAKE STAND AGAINST CITY PROPOSAL

"You Can't Crowd That Down Voters' Throats," Ingram, Standing at Rail, Shouts at Legislative Body—Threats of Injunction Heard as Fultz Supporters Leave Hall.

By a vote of five to two, Wellsville city council, at an adjourned session last night decided to carry the Chief of Police John Fultz removal fight to the court of appeals.

Solons McLean, Peters, Reil, Heldman and Nicholson voted to appeal the decision of Judge W. H. Spence, who in common pleas court, Lisbon, reinstated Fultz, and Councilmen W. S. Connor and Fred Swearingen opposed the move.

There was no debate on the issue and council adjourned as ex-Mayor George D. Ingram, one of the 60 or more persons who attended the session, attempted to obtain permission to speak.

The resolution authorizing the proceeding in error was read by Clerk George Hardman. Councilman Peters moved that the resolution be adopted as read and the motion was seconded by Reil.

President Clyde Baker interrupted the proceedings, calling attention of solons to the fact that several petitions which he thought had a bearing on the issue, had been laid on the clerk's table.

"There's a motion before the house," declared Solicitor S. C. Luccock, and Baker's objections were over-ruled. Solons then voted to approve the resolution.

Ingram Fails to Get Floor.

Council then was asked to certify the matter to the board of elections in order that it could be placed on the ballot. The vote followed.

A motion to adjourn was made and it was seconded, as Ingram, attorney and Wellsville grocery store owner, threaded his way through the audience and reached the railing in front of the council table.

Ingram attempted to gain council's attention. President Clyde Baker interjected a suggestion that the citizens should be permitted to speak.

Chorus of Boos.

"Call the roll," ordered Solicitor Luccock and Clerk Hardman called off the solons' names.

Council adjourned.

Angered, Ingram, standing at the rail as the adjournment vote was taken, shouted at the solons:

"You can't crowd that down the voters' throaat."

His statement prompted a chorus of boos and unfavorable comment, directed at council in general, from the crowd, a decidedly pro-Fultz audience.

The crowd filed out and down the city building steps to the street in front of the doors and here congregated again as council's action was discussed.

Threats of an injunction were heard as the Fultz backers discussed the city's proposed appeal.

Eight Boys Face City Court; Woman Signs Affidavits

Eight East End youths were arraigned before Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today upon charges of disorderly conduct preferred by Mrs. Minnie McDaniels, Mulberry street.

They are: William Cain, Clyde Jackson, Fred McCormack, Cecil McCormack, Lester Slavin, Tony Roush, Riley Wilson and "Fat" Hoffman. Charges against two others, who have not yet appeared, were also preferred.

Judge Hanley ordered the case continued until 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Warn of Tropical Disturbance.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10. — The weather bureau today issued a warning of a tropical disturbance that is central about 500 miles northeast of Porto Rico and probably moving northwestward.

C. of C. Endorses School Tax, City Hall Bond Issue

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce endorsed the proposed $225,000 municipal building project and the 2.4 mill school levy at a meeting last evening.

Financial status of the schools and their need for additional revenue was emphasized before the vote. Need for a new building to house all departments of the city government, was also explained.

Both projects will go before the voters at the general election on Tuesday, November 2.

Cars Collide at Lisbon and West Eighth Streets.

Four persons were injured when two automobiles crashed head-on at the intersection of Lisbon and West Eighth streets at 6:55 o'clock this morning.

The collision occurred, it is claimed, when John Bergner, 174 Thompson avenue, employed at the McNicol-Corns pottery, Wellsville, and driving a Ford coupe, attempted to pull across the road in front of an Overland sedan, driven by Gerald Springer, Cannons Mills, which was coming down the Lisbon street hill.

Mrs. Mildred Springer, wife of the driver of the south-bound car was lacerated about the face and hands by shattered glass, while her sister-in-law, Miss Elizabeth Springer, who was riding alone in the rear seat of the machine, sustained an injury to her left knee. One of Springer's fingers

GEORGE MICHEL, FRENCHMAN, IN THIRD ATTEMPT, BREAKS ENGLISH CHANNEL SWIMMING RECORD BY CROSSING IN 11 HOURS AND 5 MINUTES

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The English channel swimming record was lowered again today when George Michel, a Frenchman, who has repeatedly attempted the crossing, negotiated it in the remarkable time of 11 hours and 5 minutes.

Michel started from Gris Nez at 8:32 o'clock last evening and landed at St. Margaret's bay, three miles north of Dover, at 7:37 this morning

Michel's achievement surpasses the record made recently by the German, Ernst Venkoetter, of 12 hours and 43 minutes, by one hour and 38 minutes.

Upon landing, the swimmer breakfasted and then was hustled into a motor car and driven to Folkestone where he called upon the French consul.

Favored By Ideal Conditions.

Michel was favored throughout his performance by ideal conditions of the weather and the state of the water. This is the third attempt he made this summer.

Previously he had followed the advice of the experts that the only way to beat the channel is to start late at night in order to have the advantage of the high tide. Michel announced that he would swim on a new plan, starting early in the evening and depending for his success on the low tide.

Before starting he announced that he would swim the distance in 11 hours, a boast which he failed only by five minutes in making good.

Few Persons on Beach.

Michel, who in civilian life, pursues the occupation of butcher in Paris, is well known as the swimming champion of France. He is only 30 years old.

Save for a mild southwesterly wind which made the sea a little choppy, the water was extraordinarily smooth when Michel started swimming. A strong ebb tide carried Michel from Gris Nez northward in the direction of the Goodwin lightship.

There the swimmer caught the flood tide running northeast, bringing him within six miles of England. In the last part of the swim Michel had to fight against the ebb and was able to defeat it because of his excellent physical condition. Had he failed against the tide he would have been compelled to swim several hours longer.

Eats Ham and Eggs.

Only a few persons were on the beach when the Frenchman landed. After a rest the party went to a public house, "The Green Man," in St. Margaret's Bay for a bath and breakfast before returning to Boulogne.

"Before I entered the water last night," he said, "I felt I would be able to not only to swim the channel but break Verkoetten's record. As soon as I had swum half an hour I was more ectrain than ever although there was a little trouble about one o'clock this morning when the sea began to get rough.

"The last five miles were a terrible battle with the tide seeming to push me out. It was wonderful to feel land under my feet. Since so many channel records have been made recently people have been saying that the French did not possess champion swimmers. I am glad to be able to prove definitely that they are wrong."

Between mouthfulls of ham and eggs which he ate ravenously, Michel described the swim to the International News Service correspondent.

Skepticism in Cape Gris Nez.

GERMANY is admitted to the league by unanimous vote of the nations, gets a permanent seat on the league council and the thing is done enthusiastically, as it well may be. One big war is over, the next might come from the east, starting in Russia, with Asia behind it. Western Europe would like the Germans, trained fighters and trained scientists, as a protecting wall on the east.

JAMES M. NORRIS, president of the American Chemical society, says chemistry will end the gold standard. We use heat as our source of energy, or water power, using it to make steam or electricity. By and by we shall use energy tied up in the atom with the electrons revolving around their nucleus thousands of billions of times in a second. Intensity of energy will change everything, and new standards of value will be found, wiping out gold.

THAT will suit men as well as gold. What they want is something that other men lack and want and for which other men will work.

WHEN men talk of harnessing the ... that grow into the heavens, of conquering man to move up too rapidly. Air, water, the earth, nature gives to us free, and the sun's light and heat. We must work for everything else.

Science will discover and use other new forces before unlocking the power of the atom and extracting from a copper cent energy enough to drive an express train across the continent.

You read that an automobile engine had been made to run with the explosive power of dust from a grain elevator instead of gasoline. Messrs. Noel and Heilbach, department of agriculture engineers, showed that ordinary dust might be used to create an explosive force greater than that of gasoline.

IF YOU have tears for high finance, this is the time to shed them.

INQUIRY BOARD WILL MEET IN STEUBENVILLE NEXT TUESDAY

Utilities Commission to Fix Responsibility for Collision.

TOLL UNCHANGED

Coroner Also Investigates Wreck in Which One Man Died.

Representatives of the state utilities commission will make an investigation next Tuesday of Wednesday's passenger carwork train collision on the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company's line at King's crossing, in which one passenger was killed and 18 other persons injured.

Will Visit Crash Scene.

The investigators, according to notification received by C. A. Smith, general manager of the traction company, will arrive in the down river city at 1 p. m., following which they will visit the scene of the fatal crash, question members of the passenger crew and then come to East Liverpool to continue the inquiry and inspect the wrecked car which was removed to the car barn here late Wednesday night.

In the meantime, Coroner A. L. Bell, of Jefferson county, is conducting a probe.

No additional deaths are expected as a result of the collision which, according to unofficial reports, was due to a misunderstanding of signals.

Bert Slee, 45, of Steubenville, paymaster of the Follansbee Brothers' Sheet and Tin Plate company of Toronto, died of his injuries in the Ohio Valley hospital in Steubenville shortly after the wreck occurred.

Injured Are Recovering.

The most seriously injured were two East Liverpool men, Motorman Frank Guy, 33, and Conductor Carl Emery, 24, of the passenger car. Reports from Steubenville hospitals, to which they were removed, indicate both men will recover.

"I stuck to my post" was the only comment Motorman Guy made when newspaper men questioned him.

According to persons who arrived on the scene shortly after the passenger car rammed the work train, which was hauling a chemical tank being used in killing weeds along the right of way, a semaphore signal was down, denoting danger. This signal was directly above where the wreck occurred.

SECOND ARREST MADE IN ASSASSINATION OF WELLSVILLE PATROLMAN

Appeal is Certain If Canton Police Chief Loses Fight

CANTON, O., Sept. 10.—Assuming that the action of the civil service commission in denying a motion by deposed Police Chief S. A. Lengel's counsel for an order recognizing Lengel as police head, was indicative of their final action, Attorney James Amerman today declared that an appeal would be taken upon the final decision.

"There has been a lot of political string pulling and I have not the slightest chance before this commission," Amerman declared.

"The chief was not fired by Mayor S. M. Swartz according to the legal method prescribed," he added.

After Attorney H. C. Pontius made a closing argument, both sides rested.

Joseph Fusco, 20, Pool Room Operator, is Taken Into Custody by Sheriff George Wright.

HELD FOR GRAND JURY INQUIRY

Nick Scaccuto is Also Held as Suspect in Murder of James Kenney in May.

Investigation of Sheriff George Wright into the murder of Patrolman James Kenney, of Wellsville, who was shot down in the yard of the Frank Maggio home, Commerce street, last May, today reach a climax with the arrest of Joe Fusco, 20, of Wellsville, on a charge of first degree murder.

Denies Knowledge of Crime.

Fusco was taken to Lisbon by Sheriff Wright and Deputy Lawrence Kindsvatter last night at midnight. He was arraigned before Justice M. K. Zimerman, entered a plea of not guilty and was bound over to the grand jury in bond.

Fusco was put through a two hours' grilling by Sheriff Wright, but the prisoner steadfastly maintained his innocence and stoutly asserted he knew nothing of the murder.

But the prisoner's statements and explanations, according to Sheriff Wright, failed at times to dovetail.

Fusco, after two and a half hours of questioning, was locked up in the county jail this morning at 2:30 o'clock.

Admits He Bought Gun.

His arrest is the second in connection with the Kenney slaying. Nick Scaccuto, who was found by Wellsville police in a home in Fourteenth street with bullet wounds in his body the day following the murder, is in jail at Lisbon, also awaiting grand jury action.

Scaccuto was bound over from Wellsville. Probate Judge Lodge Riddle later refused requests of his attorneys to release him on bond.

In statements to Sheriff Wright, Fusco is alleged to have asserted that he had left Italy in order to get out of the army. He admitted having bought a gun some time ago from a colored man in the pool room which he operates for his father.

A broken banjo which was found a short distance from Kenney's body is still an isolated clue.

Monroeville Farmer Falls Under Wheels of Machine.

CHEST CRUSHED

Accident Occurs on Salineville-Bergholz Road.

William P. Adams, 70, farmer, near Monroeville, was crushed to death at 11 o'clock this morning, when he fell under the wheels of a threshing engine on the Salineville-Bergholz road, two miles from the former village.

The accident occurred when Adams, with the machine in operation, climbed to the top of it to make an adjustment. Jarred from his place, he fell directly in the path of the thresher. The wheels passed over his face and chest. He was dead when other farmers reached his side.

Adams was en route to the Elder farm, near Monroeville when he was killed.

The body was removed to the John T. Hutson morgue in Salineville.

French Minister Pledges Nation Considers Germany Friend in Future

GENEVA, Sept. 10. — "For France this day means we are finished with war — machine guns have yielded to peace—we have had enough glory on the battlefields to satisfy both of us—."

With his hands extended towards Germany's delegates, Aristide Briand, French foreign minister, uttered these dramatic words today in welcoming Germany, long the traditional enemy of France, into the league of nations amidst epochal scenes of enthusiasm.

Herr Stresemann, German foreign minister, had prefaced Germany's entry into the league with a speech declaring Germany's policy to be one of peace and voiced a plea for general disarmament.

Speech Goes Down In History.

The speech ... man with ... history, as marking the final ending of the great world war, a speech which pledged France to consider Germany as a friend in the future.

When M. Briand had finished his dramatic utterances the German delegates arose from their seats and applauded wildly, showing signs of great emotion. Sir George Foster, Canadian delegate, pulled out his handkerchief and leaped to the floor waving and cheering like a college football enthusiast and other delegates applauded and almost danced for joy.

M. Briand, slow-moving and unexcitable, arose from his seat when Herr Stresemann had concluded his speech and with no efforts for dramatics, stretched his hands towards the seats

The Salineville Dodson is employed as a potter. The man found in Wellsburg is said to have resided on a rural route out of Lisbon.

CHIEF'S FRIENDS BOO AS WELLSVILLE SOLONS VOTE FOR NEW TRIAL

Councilmen, Balloting 5 to 2 to Continue Five-month Battle, Adjourn Session as Ex-Mayor George D. Ingram, One of 60 Persons Present, Seeks Permission to Speak.

CONNORS AND SWEARINGEN TAKE STAND AGAINST CITY PROPOSAL

"You Can't Crowd That Down Voters' Throats," Ingram, Standing at Rail, Shouts at Legislative Body—Threats of Injunction Heard as Fultz Supporters Leave Hall.

By a vote of five to two, Wellsville city council, at an adjourned session last night decided to carry the Chief of Police John Fultz removal fight to the court of appeals.

Solons McLean, Peters, Reil, Heldman and Nicholson voted to appeal the decision of Judge W. H. Spence, who in common pleas court, Lisbon, reinstated Fultz, and Councilmen W. S. Connor and Fred Swearingen opposed the move.

There was no debate on the issue and council adjourned as ex-Mayor George D. Ingram, one of the 60 or more persons who attended the session, attempted to obtain permission to speak.

The resolution authorizing the proceeding in error was read by Clerk George Hardman. Councilman Peters moved that the resolution be adopted as read and the motion was seconded by Reil.

President Clyde Baker interrupted the proceedings, calling attention of solons to the fact that several petitions which he thought had a bearing on the issue, had been laid on the clerk's table.

"There's a motion before the house," declared Solicitor S. C. Luccock, and Baker's objections were over-ruled. Solons then voted to approve the resolution.

Ingram Fails to Get Floor.

Council then was asked to certify ... board of elections in order that it could be placed on the ballot. The vote followed.

A motion to adjourn was made and it was seconded, as Ingram, attorney and Wellsville grocery store owner, threaded his way through the audience and reached the railing in front of the council table.

Ingram attempted to gain council's attention. President Clyde Baker interjected a suggestion that the citizens should be permitted to speak.

Chorus of Boos.

"Call the roll," ordered Solicitor Luccock and Clerk Hardman called off the solons' names.

Council adjourned.

Angered, Ingram, standing at the rail as the adjournment vote was taken, shouted at the solons:

"You can't crowd that down the voters' throaat."

His statement prompted a chorus of boos and unfavorable comment, directed at council in general, from the crowd, a decidedly pro-Fultz audience.

The crowd filed out and down the city building steps to the street in front of the doors and here congregated again as council's action was discussed.

Threats of an injunction were heard as the Fultz backers discussed the city's proposed appeal.

MIDLAND MAN GETS JAIL TERM

Liquor cases were tried yesterday before Judge Frank Reader in Beaver county court at Beaver.

Charles Tortis, of Midland, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of transporting liquor. He was sentenced to pay the costs, a fine of $250 and be imprisoned in the Beaver county jail for a period of 60 days.

Charles Cox, of Beaver Falls, entered a plea of driving a motor vehicle while drunk. Cox stated to the court that the bottle he is alleged to have thrown away just before he was arrested was only a small bottle and contained nothing but eye medicine. The sentence of the court was that he pay the costs and be committed to the Beaver county jail for 15 days.

BEAVER COUNTY FAIR SEPT. 22-25

A meeting of the speed committee of the Beaver County Fair association was held in Beaver yesterday. Secretary Eugene Newell, of Beaver Falls, reported that the races this year will be better and faster than ever. The fair will be held at Junction Park, New Brighton, Sept. 22, 23, 24 and 25. However, only three days of racing are scheduled.

The track at Junction Park is one of the fastest in western Pennsylvania. Last year over 125 race horses took part in the races, and Secretary Newell reports that nearly that number have already been entered this year. Two stake races, with purses of $1,000 each have drawn a goodly number of the best horses in this section of the country. About 60 horses are entered in these two events.

Nearly one-third more American agricultural implements were exported this year than last.

A Swedish concern will erect a complete network of telephone lines in Mexico with connections with the United States.

Frequent storms in Italy so damaged mulberry trees that many cocoons starved this year.

Always Something New at Ogilvie's and Always a Dependableness About It

It Takes Sand

We don't like dry statistics any more than you do. But bear with us just this once. It is said that 2,000,000 tons of sand are used in the United States each year in making glass. There's a bit of a lesson for all of us in this magic transformation of the gritty element into clear crystal.

It takes sand to mould the crystal of character. It takes sand—the pure grit of determination to get ahead. And sand and the sense of duty are pretty much the same.

You see evidence of it every day, and so do we.

BROTHER DIES IN RAIL CRASH

Mrs. Howard Moore Claims Body of Vay Booth.

Mrs. Howard Moore, of Pennsylvania avenue, East End, accompanying the body of her brother, Vay Booth, of Cleveland, who died Tuesday as a result of injuries received in a railroad accident, has left for Wayne, W. Va., where funeral services will be held.

Booth died yesterday morning in the Massillon city hospital as a result of a crushed back and internal injuries received when he was struck by a Pennsylvania railroad train while he was walking along the track.

The body will be shipped to Wayne from Massillon.

Mrs. George Jenkins, of Chicago, formerly Mrs. Gertrude Whitney, of the East End, is also a sister of Booth's.

MIDLAND MAN GETS JAIL TERM

Liquor cases were tried yesterday before Judge Frank Reader in Beaver county court at Beaver.

Charles Tortis, of Midland, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of transporting liquor. He was sentenced to pay the costs, a fine of $250 and be imprisoned in the Beaver county jail for a period of 60 days.

Charles Cox, of Beaver Falls, entered a plea of driving a motor vehicle while drunk. Cox stated to the court that the bottle he is alleged to have thrown away just before he was arrested was only a small bottle and contained nothing but eye medicine. The sentence of the court was that he pay the costs and be committed to the Beaver county jail for 15 days.

BEAVER COUNTY FAIR SEPT. 22-25

A meeting of the speed committee of the Beaver County Fair association was held in Beaver yesterday. Secretary Eugene Newell, of Beaver Falls, reported that the races this year will be better and faster than ever. The fair will be held at Junction Park, New Brighton, Sept. 22, 23, 24 and 25. However, only three days of racing are scheduled.

The track at Junction Park is one of the fastest in western Pennsylvania. Last year over 125 race horses took part in the races, and Secretary Newell reports that nearly that number have already been entered this year. Two stake races, with purses of $1,000 each have drawn a goodly number of the best horses in this section of the country. About 60 horses are entered in these two events.

Nearly one-third more American agricultural implements were exported this year than last.

A Swedish concern will erect a complete network of telephone lines in Mexico with connections with the United States.

Frequent storms in Italy so damaged mulberry trees that many cocoons starved this year.

Back at school, the youngsters will feel proud to wear these new School Felt Hats in pleasing range of popular colors, at TAYLOR'S MILLINERY, now only $1.95.

EVERY WARDROBE NEEDFUL FOR THE SCHOOL GIRL OR BOY FROM KINDERGARTEN TO COLLEGE AGE

VOL. VII. EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO. FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1926. EDITION 260.

Always Something New at Ogilvie's and Always a Dependableness About It

It Takes Sand

We don't like dry statistics any more than you do. But bear with us just this once. It is said that 2,000,000 tons of sand are used in the United States each year in making glass. There's a bit of a lesson for all of us in this magic transformation of the gritty element into clear crystal.

It takes sand to mould the crystal of character. It takes sand—the pure grit of determination to get ahead. And sand and the sense of duty are pretty much the same.

You see evidence of it every day, and so do we.

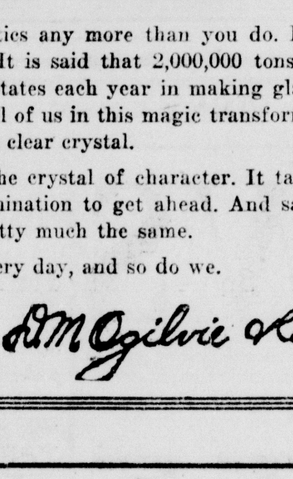
SCANTIES

TRADE MARK

by Model

The Ideal Garment For The College Girl



Modern youth demanded this undergarment. It is designed to meet their needs—and therefore is the ideal garment for the girl going to college.

All she need wear beneath her dress—in one. Only one garment to put on—one to take off and just enough to fashion her figure to perfection.

Scanties weigh but eight ounces. The college girl will love the fact that there is only one pair of shoulder straps instead of the usual three or four.

Then the economy of Scanties: A brassiere, a vest, a girdle, garters and panties for about what you would pay for a single undergarment.

Scanties is the newest creation of the Model Brassiere, whose originality in creating figure improving garments has always kept pace with fashion. To appreciate it's novelty and practicability one must see for oneself, the number of styles of Scanties now on display in our Corset Section.

NEGRO SLAYER DIES TONIGHT

Henry Jackson Will Pay Penalty on Gallows.

Henry Jackson, negro, will die on the state prison gallows, at 5 o'clock this afternoon, for the murder of Guard Earl Langfitt, last April. The negro, a life termer, fatally stabbed the guard when the officer reprimanded him for violating prison rules.

Jackson will begin the death march to the gallows to the accompaniment of hymns sung by a negro quartette.

The prison today assumed the deathlike stillness that prevails before an execution. All prisoners were locked in their cells until the state exacts its penalty. The custom is an old one.

Jackson was served his last meal in the death cell at noon. The regulation black suit, white collar and tie were given him this morning.

Newspapermen, physicians, guards and county officials will be the only ones to witness the execution, the warden announced.

Jackson stabbed and killed Guard Langfitt on April 11. He was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged in Marshall county circuit court on July 2. A writ of mandamus forced Judge Morris to set the date for today. Several days ago the state supreme court refused a writ of error.

NEGRO SLAYER DIES TONIGHT

Henry Jackson Will Pay Penalty on Gallows.

Henry Jackson, negro, will die on the state prison gallows, at 5 o'clock this afternoon, for the murder of Guard Earl Langfitt, last April. The negro, a life termer, fatally stabbed the guard when the officer reprimanded him for violating prison rules.

Jackson will begin the death march to the gallows to the accompaniment of hymns sung by a negro quartette.

The prison today assumed the deathlike stillness that prevails before an execution. All prisoners were locked in their cells until the state exacts its penalty. The custom is an old one.

Jackson was served his last meal in the death cell at noon. The regulation black suit, white collar and tie were given him this morning.

Newspapermen, physicians, guards and county officials will be the only ones to witness the execution, the warden announced.

Jackson stabbed and killed Guard Langfitt on April 11. He was found guilty and sentenced to be hanged in Marshall county circuit court on July 2. A writ of mandamus forced Judge Morris to set the date for today. Several days ago the state supreme court refused a writ of error.

Steubenville Mayor And Chief Ousted For Second Time

STEUBENVILLE, O., Sept. 10.—The status of Steubenville's mayor and chief of police today is that of being suspended after a hectic legal clash yesterday which resulted in the ousted official being reinstated only to be removed again.

Attorneys for Mayor J. S. H. Patton and Chief Blaine D. Carter filed a motion with Judge J. S. Paisley alleging that the petition requesting their removal had been illegally drawn. The judge ruled favorably upon this plea and the two officials resumed office.

W. R. Alban, attorney for the Ministerial association, then filed a new petition alleging that the mayor and police head had failed to perform their duties. Judge Paisley then again suspended the officials.

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, 1926.

State Investigation of Street Car Crash

The state utilities commission announced today that a hearing will be conducted in Steubenville on Tuesday to determine the cause of the passenger car-work train collision Wednesday night on the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company's line at King's crossing, near Steubenville, in which one passenger was killed and 18 other persons injured.

Unofficial reports indicate a misunderstanding of signals was responsible for the crash, the most serious to occur on the East Liverpool-Steubenville interurban road since it has been under the management of C. A. Smith.

Thanks to alertness of motormen, who have a man-sized job in avoiding reckless automobile drivers, the street car affords a greater degree of safety than other means of transportation, statistics show. New York City, the busiest American city, presents figures to prove the argument from a street accident standpoint. In 1924, when the last report was issued, street cars killed 74 persons, while automobiles exacted 961 lives.

In 1923, motor vehicles killed 18,788. Of the auto deaths, 16,452 occurred in accidents on highways.

Eight thousand six hundred and seventy-four casualties were reported in grade crossing accidents on American railways, including steam and electric, in 1924. In the list were 2,149 killed and 6,525 injured. In other railroad accidents, 1,543 employees lost their lives and 175 passengers were killed. The injured included 125,319 employees and 6,677 passengers. And a comparatively small percentage of the toll was exacted on street car lines.

This is a good record for the electric railway lines which carried 12,665,300,050 passengers in 1923, and probably 15,000,000 last year.

Crowds

Gertrude Ederle found harder navigating in the seething streets of New York than in the English channel. Applause for her victory was more wearing than winds, waves and tides. Her strenuous swim did not exhaust her, but the strenuousity of her home-coming welcome drained her vitality, shattered her nerves, overwhelmed her emotionally and sent her to bed under the care of a physician, with hypodermics to bring her a little much-needed sleep.

Never was there a greater demonstration of what might be called the crowd-power of modern life. Gerald Stanley Lee, when he wrote his popular book on that theme some years ago, could hardly have foreseen the extent to which crowds would come to dominate civilized existence. Roused by publicity-power, they tend to overwhelm anyone who attains any kind of special fame or popularity.

One of the growing problems of mankind is to protect the individual against this crushing pressure of crowds. Will there be left in all the world, after a few more generations, enough quiet spots for that?

It not, the individual will have to take the advice of eastern sages, and cultivate a space for quietness and privacy within his own spirit.

Safety Outdoors

A British member of Parliament, traveling in Africa, is amazed to find that he can walk more safely in the middle of the Dark Continent than in the East End of London.

"Still, it seems a long way to go for a stroll," remarks the London Punch. Which frivolous remark may be ignored by serious persons interested in the cult of the Great Outdoors.

That M. P. has simply discovered what thousands of American tourists are learning right along—especially the motor campers. To a typical city person, the country, especially at a distance, is full of nameless fears and alarms. Any strange or sparsely settled place suggests hostile beasts or men. One of the finest fruits of travel in the "open spaces" is the knowledge that men and women are as safe almost anywhere out of doors as they are in their own beds at home.

That makes the world, somehow, seem more secure, and breeds faith in the Universe.

Trans-Atlantic Radio

David Sarnoff, the practical persiding genius of American radio, has gone to Europe to arrange for better programs from the American point of view.

"The day is gone," he tells London broadcasters, "when people in the United States listened to Europe for the novelty of doing so. The listeners are no longer interested in how they get their air programs, but in what they get. The object of my visit is to arrange for Americans to hear things from Europe that they cannot hear at home."

He will try to make more satisfactory arrangement of broadcasting hours, as well as programs. Present hours are awkward.

The arrangement ought to work both ways. If each continent can get characteristic radio programs from the other, by friendly co-operation, here will be a version of "hands across the seas" possibly more effective than any kind of friendly interchanges yet tried. When different nationalities entertain each other, they begin to understand and like each other.

Another marvel—we know of a girl who's a good swimmer and hasn't any desire to swim the channel.

"Spunky" Edwards' Wonderful Chemical Discovery— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Thoughts while strolling: That mysterious sudden hush of Washington Square. The house in front of which David Graham Phillips was slain. Iron fences and tiny patches of yard. The new entrance to the old Brevoort.

What's become of the fellows who scratched matches on their breeches? A taxi driver smoking a cigar. An old lady with black net mittens. More mansions become shops. A little too cool for those green eye shade caps. A little girl dragging a doll in a shoe box.

What became of the ban on Fifth Avenue signs? A window of ballet shoes. Auto flirts driving slowly along the curbs. What is that shivery tune they play for oil tank fires at the movies? A fencing school. With its audible click like a typewriter.

The young bond messengers who wear golf togs. The deep building gaps in 42d street. And the row of furniture displays in West 47th. Stephen Vincent Benet. Chorus girls in those floppy hats. The wise-cracking crew near the Palace.

And strolling buyers feeling the tug of the great temptation. As Broadway hurls off its luminous challenge. Those hatless vaudevillians who eat early and loiter in front of quick lunches. Also, Daves and Eddies discussing sexy diversions.

The alert clerks in the theatrical ticket agencies. Who sell you seats you don't want before you can protest. Why do people cringe before a boxoffice man? And act as though it was a great favor to be waited upon?

My favorite arrondissement, pardon the French—Times Square. The noise, the traffic and the thousand gestures. The ceaseless arena of gaiety and despair. And the stroll is over. Silly way to make a living. But easier than selling insurance.

The sophistication of Broadway was epitomized the other night when a Broadwayite was introduced to a gentleman from Iowa.

"Who is the American consul in Iowa now?" he blandly inquired.

But if it were not for the well-filled pockets of Iowans and other mid-westerners the sophisticates would have no place to loaf.

The smart talkers of Broadway furnish a lot of free laughs. They hang their mots on every topic—even tragedy. One was telling a group of an actor who broke both legs swimming in the high waves of a nearby beach. "It surfs him right," exclaimed another.

And Walter Winchell tells of a counterman in a quick eatery who placated a customer over a delay in serving his turtle soup with: "It'll be here in a minute. You know how turtles are."

The mad waggishness extends to the pert waitresses in the white-tiled caravansaries on the White Way. One in a place below the Palace has quite a following as a result of her adept patter. But the proprietor doubled her salary and instead of being kidded she continues to kid the customers.

SQUARING THE NATIONAL OBLIGATION.

As Heywood Broun tells the story, an American, some two years following the Great War was spending a vacation in London. Having changed his clothes he was distressed to discover, after entering a bus, that he had left all his money behind at the hotel. He made this discovery when the conductor held out a hand for the fare.

An Englishman riding in the next seat saw his embarrassment and courteously proffered the necessary change. The American accepted the loan.

"If you will give me your card," he said gratefully, "I will send the amount to you immediately."

"My deah fellow," replied the Britisher, "let it apply on the debt."

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Our Overseas Markets.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—That the export trade of the United States increased in every continent except Europe during the last fiscal year is shown by special survey of our overseas markets recently made by the department of commerce. This survey is summarized in a statement by Dr. Julius Klein, director of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, that was made public immediately following that official's departure for Europe for a two-months' study of trade conditions there.

His report upon his return, which is scheduled for early in November, may aid administration leaders and congress to determine what weight is to be attached to former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker's prediction that if the United States does not cancel the war debts we shall lose practically all our European trade. There is no intimation that Dr. Klein's mission across the Atlantic has any connection whatever with Mr. Baker's broadside that startled the country, but it may prove a fortunate coincidence that he had arranged to make a survey of European markets just at this time.

Dr. Klein's statement does not touch the figures of the falling off in our exports to Europe, but points out that there was a substantial gain in our sales to those markets of finished manufactures.

"This is especially significant," he says, "in view of the fact that our exports of fabricated wares require intensive sales efforts under highly competitive conditions, in contrast with the so-called self-selling raw materials such as foodstuffs, minerals, etc. The loss in total sales to Europe was due to diminished shipments or lower prices of the latter items."

Figures which this trade expert does not quote show that last year on account of a short crop of wheat and we exported to Europe about a net 100,000,000 bushels, while in the previous year we sent over some 250,000,000 bushels. There was also a material reduction in exports of pork products and coarse grains, and the export of cotton in terms of value rather than quantity was also decidedly depressed.

Where Gains Have Been made.

Besing his trade analysis on comparative statistics covering the last four fiscal periods, Dr. Klein emphasizes what he describes as unusually significant figures which show that United States sales to South America were more tha ntwice as large in the fiscal year 1925-26 as in the year 1921-22, in spite of increasingly rigorous competition. Furthermore, American exports to Oceania during the same interval increased nearly two and one-half times and those to Africa almost doubled, in the face of the marked advantages enjoyed in those regions by European traders in their respective colonial jurisdfctions.

Our exports to our neighbors to the north and south, Canada and Cuba, also show marked growth during the past four years, it is pointed out. It is but natural, however, that this gain should be relatively less than in the sales to South America, Oceania, and Africa. We have always enjoyed a dominant portion of the total trade of these adjoining markets and no considerable gain in our share of their foreign purchases was to be expected. And in view of the depression in Cuba resulting from sugar prices, and of the recent difficulties in Mexico, the increase of almost 33 per cent in our exports to those countries is termed altogether satisfying.

Apart from China and Japan, where the United States is fully holding its own, exports to the countries of the Asiatic Far East show quite as remarkable a gain as those to South America or to Oceanica. The political situation in China and the rapid industrialization of Japan are the outstanding factors which operated against expansion of our trade with those two countries.

The greatest gain in our export trade is found in our sales to Venezuela which amounted to $31,600,000 last year as against only $7,600,000 four years ago. This was due largely to the rapid expansion of the petroleum industry in that country. Argentine, long our best customer in South America, bought 83 per cent more from us last year than in 1921-22. Exports to Colombia and Chile for the same period nearly trebled; and is interesting to note, says Dr. Klein, that the former has replaced the latter as our third ranking market in South America, next after Argentina and Brazil.

Large Gains In Automoiles.

The automotive industry has gained conspicuously in the South American trade that has been garnered by United States exporters. As compared with 1921-22, the volume of American automobiles and parts exported to Argentina in 1925-26 showed an increase of 700 per cent; of 1,291 per cent to Brazil; of 1,399 per cent to Chile; of 1,089 per cent to Colombia, and of 540 per cent to Venezuela, with corresponding gains in the smaller countries.

Among others of our products that are being sent to South America in rapidly increasing volume may be mentioned picture films, textiles and iron and steel. The growth of our sales there of industrial and agricultural machinery continues steadily.

Sales two Austraili and New Zealand of automobiles and trucks, radio equipment and other electrical apparatus, pianos, clocks and watches, adding and computing machines, typewriters, hardware, tools, rubber goods and a long list of other manufactured articles is characterized as truly extraoddinary, our total sales to those two countries last year of nearly $200,000,000 being almost $30 per capita, computed on a population basis. This is all the more impressive when it is borne in mind that the aggregate imports of the United States from the entire world amount only to about $35 per capita.

Specifically, last year Australia and New Zealand bought $54,000,000 worth of American automobiles and trucks, more than six times as much as four years before, and they are today our leading overseas market for automotive products, far in advance of Argentina which ranked second with $33,000,000.

"The remarkable recent gains in our sales of manufactured goods to Latin America, Oceania, Africa, and most countries of Asia have taken place despite the growth in their own manufacturing industries and despite a reviving competition of European countries," says Dr. Klein.

"As the standards of living tend to rise, this development reflects itself in the ever greater demand for elaborated articles. The consumption of foodstuffs and other basic necessities

EAST LIVERPOOL—AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

State Investigation of Street Car Crash

The state utilities commission announced today that a hearing will be conducted in Steubenville on Tuesday to determine the cause of the passenger car-work train collision Wednesday night on the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company's line at King's crossing, near Steubenville, in which one passenger was killed and 18 other persons injured.

Unofficial reports indicate a misunderstanding of signals was responsible for the crash, the most serious to occur on the East Liverpool-Steubenville interurban road since it has been under the management of C. A. Smith.

Thanks to alertness of motormen, who have a man-sized job in avoiding reckless automobile drivers, the street car affords a greater degree of safety than other means of transportation, statistics show. New York City, the busiest American city, presents figures to prove the argument from a street accident standpoint. In 1924, when the last report was issued, street cars killed 74 persons, while automobiles exacted 961 lives.

In 1923, motor vehicles killed 18,788. Of the auto deaths, 16,452 occurred in accidents on highways.

Eight thousand six hundred and seventy-four casualties were reported in grade crossing accidents on American railways, including steam and electric, in 1924. In the list were 2,149 killed and 6,525 injured. In other railroad accidents, 1,543 employees lost their lives and 175 passengers were killed. The injured included 125,319 employees and 6,677 passengers. And a comparatively small percentage of the toll was exacted on street car lines.

This is a good record for the electric railway lines which carried 12,665,300,050 passengers in 1923, and probably 15,000,000 last year.

Crowds

Gertrude Ederle found harder navigating in the seething streets of New York than in the English channel. Applause for her victory was more wearing than winds, waves and tides. Her strenuous swim did not exhaust her, but the strenuousity of her home-coming welcome drained her vitality, shattered her nerves, overwhelmed her emotionally and sent her to bed under the care of a physician, with hypodermics to bring her a little much-needed sleep.

Never was there a greater demonstration of what might be called the crowd-power of modern life. Gerald Stanley Lee, when he wrote his popular book on that theme some years ago, could hardly have foreseen the extent to which crowds would come to dominate civilized existence. Roused by publicity-power, they tend to overwhelm anyone who attains any kind of special fame or popularity.

One of the growing problems of mankind is to protect the individual against this crushing pressure of crowds. Will there be left in all the world, after a few more generations, enough quiet spots for that?

It not, the individual will have to take the advice of eastern sages, and cultivate a space for quietness and privacy within his own spirit.

Safety Outdoors

A British member of Parliament, traveling in Africa, is amazed to find that he can walk more safely in the middle of the Dark Continent than in the East End of London.

"Still, it seems a long way to go for a stroll," remarks the London Punch. Which frivolous remark may be ignored by serious persons interested in the cult of the Great Outdoors.

That M. P. has simply discovered what thousands of American tourists are learning right along—especially the motor campers. To a typical city person, the country, especially at a distance, is full of nameless fears and alarms. Any strange or sparsely settled place suggests hostile beasts or men. One of the finest fruits of travel in the "open spaces" is the knowledge that men and women are as safe almost anywhere out of doors as they are in their own beds at home.

That makes the world, somehow, seem more secure, and breeds faith in the Universe.

Trans-Atlantic Radio

David Sarnoff, the practical persiding genius of American radio, has gone to Europe to arrange for better programs from the American point of view.

"The day is gone," he tells London broadcasters, "when people in the United States listened to Europe for the novelty of doing so. The listeners are no longer interested in how they get their air programs, but in what they get. The object of my visit is to arrange for Americans to hear things from Europe that they cannot hear at home."

He will try to make more satisfactory arrangement of broadcasting hours, as well as programs. Present hours are awkward

The arrangement ought to work both ways. If each continent can get characteristic radio programs from the other, by friendly co-operation, here will be a version of "hands across the seas" possibly more effective than any kind of friendly interchanges yet tried. When different nationalities entertain each other, they begin to understand and like each other.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Thoughts while strolling: That mysterious sudden hush of Washington Square. The house in front of which David Graham Phillips was slain. Iron fences and tiny patches of yard. The new entrance to the old Brevoort.

What's become of the fellows who scratched matches on their breeches? A taxi driver smoking a cigar. An old lady with black net mittens. More mansions become shops. A little too cool for those green eye shade caps. A little girl dragging a doll in a shoe box.

What became of the ban on Fifth Avenue signs? A window of ballet shoes. Auto flirts driving slowly along the curbs. What is that shivery tune they play for oil tank fires at the movies? A fencing school. With its audible click like a typewriter.

The young bond messengers who wear golf togs. The deep building gaps in 42d street. And the row of furniture displays in West 47th. Stephen Vincent Benet. Chorus girls in those floppy hats. The wise-cracking crew near the Palace.

And strolling buyers feeling the tug of the great temptation. As Broadway hurls off its luminous challenge. Those hatless vaudevillians who eat early and loiter in front of quick lunches. Also, Daves and Eddies discussing sexy diversions.

The alert clerks in the theatrical ticket agencies. Who sell you seats you don't want before you can protest. Why do people cringe before a boxoffice man? And act as though it was a great favor to be waited upon?

My favorite arrondissement, pardon the French—Times Square. The noise, the traffic and the thousand gestures. The ceaseless arena of gaiety and despair. And the stroll is over. Silly way to make a living. But easier than selling insurance.

The sophistication of Broadway was epitomized the other night when a Broadwayite was introduced to a gentleman from Iowa.

"Who is the American consul in Iowa now?" he blandly inquired.

But if it were not for the well-filled pockets of Iowans and other mid-westerners the sophisticates would have no place to loaf.

The mad waggishness extends to the pert waitresses in the white-tiled caravansaries on the White Way. One in a place below the Palace has quite a following as a result of her adept patter. She was indeed offered a job as a member of a cross-fire team. She was to be the feeder and be the butt of all the quips. 40 GRIDDERS ON HIGH SQUAD

Practice Sessions Held at Hammond Park.

Forgetting the season of 1925, one of the "off" years in football history of the high school, Wellsville scholastic gridders have gotten down to work in earnest under the direction of Coach Earl Klinck with a determination to atone in as great a measure as possible for their unsuccessful performance of the previous campaign.

If hard work, earnestness and a desire to win count for anything the youngsters are bound to make progress. Between 35 and 40 of them have been drilling daily under Klinck at Hammond park and although the finished product may not come up to the great football team that represented the school several years ago, it will at least make a good showing.

Practice drills were transferred from Central park, the old "stamping grounds," to the hilltop because of the condition of the park which is covered with water and mud as a result of recent heavy rains, and there is a possibility, school authorities announced today, that games on this season's schedule may be taken to Hammond park, if a gridiron can be laid out there properly.

Although it is possible Faculty Manager Trumbull may book an earlier contest, the schedule as it is at present will send the Orange and Black to Chester October 2 for the opener.

ENROLLMENT IN SCHOOLS NORMAL

Wellsville schools, opened for the 1926-27 term last Tuesday, are back on schedule with probably a better than normal enrollment, according to announcement by Superintendent S. E. Daw.

Unusually heavy enrollment is reported in the first and the seventh grades, with the other classes running about normal. Although no definite check on the numbers of students in the various classes has been made, it is estimated that the total enrollment will reach approximately 1,800 or better.

School officials today commented on the unusually heavy demand for working certificates among students, including a number from the high school.

The meeting will be held in the Second Presbyterian church, in Eighteenth street.

Occupants Flee in Darkness After Chase to 13th Street.

Chased from Third street to Thirteenth where they backtracked on to Center, two unidentified pilots of a booze car, pursued by local police, jumped and escaped to freedom into the darkness last night at 11:30 o'clock.

The police squad, including Chief Fultz, Patrolmen Pugh, Cole and Oyster and Harry Brennan, local auto dealer, confiscated the automobile, a Ford roadster, and eight five-gallon cans of alleged liquor.

Police were "tipped off" to the car as it stopped for a moment at Third street. A boy, whose identity was not revealed, detected the odor of the liquor seeping from a leak in one of the cans and notified the authorities.

The two men in the car learned of the police squad's approach and "stepped on the gas" down Main street. They ducked into Thirteenth and around the corner into Center where they abandoned the machine and fled.

This work will keep her busy for a while but later she expects to place the health survey plan in operation throughout the entire system.

40 GRIDDERS ON HIGH SQUAD

Practice Sessions Held at Hammond Park.

Forgetting the season of 1925, one of the "off" years in football history of the high school, Wellsville scholastic gridders have gotten down to work in earnest under the direction of Coach Earl Klinck with a determination to atone in as great a measure as possible for their unsuccessful performance of the previous campaign.

If hard work, earnestness and a desire to win count for anything the youngsters are bound to make progress. Between 35 and 40 of them have been drilling daily under Klinck at Hammond park and although the finished product may not come up to the great football team that represented the school several years ago, it will at least make a good showing.

Practice drills were transferred from Central park, the old "stamping grounds," to the hilltop because of the condition of the park which is covered with water and mud as a result of recent heavy rains, and there is a possibility, school authorities announced today, that games on this season's schedule may be taken to Hammond park, if a gridiron can be laid out there properly.

Although it is possible Faculty Manager Trumbull may book an earlier contest, the schedule as it is at present will send the Orange and Black to Chester October 2 for the opener.

MISSES RICE ARE CLASS HOSTESSES

Members of the Parthenon Sunday school class of the First Methodist Episcopal church were entertained last evening an the home of Misses Birdie and Blanche Rice, in Riverside avenue.

A general business session opened the meeting. Arrangements were launched for a progressive dinner party, which will take the form of an "around the world trip," to be held in two weeks.

Music, games and contests were diversions during the social hour. Contest prizes were won by Mrs. Pearl Robinson and Miss Blanche Rice.

Lunch was served by the hostesses.

Gives Birthday Party.

Miss Geraldine Swearengin, little daughter of Councilman and Mrs. Ted Swearengin, of Center street, entertained a number of her friends recently at her home, the affair honoring fifth birthday anniversary.

Games and music were diversions. Luncheon was served by the hostess' mother.

Visit In Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beresford and family, of Arthur avenue, have concluded a motor trip to Pittsburgh.

ENROLLMENT IN SCHOOLS NORMAL

Wellsville schools, opened for the 1926-27 term last Tuesday, are back on schedule with probably a better than normal enrollment, according to announcement by Superintendent S. E. Daw.

Unusually heavy enrollment is reported in the first and the seventh grades, with the other classes running about normal. Although no definite check on the numbers of students in the various classes has been made, it is estimated that the total enrollment will reach approximately 1,800 or better.

School officials today commented on the unusually heavy demand for working certificates among students, including a number from the high school.

KIWANIS WILL HEAR IOWAN

Industrial Expert Will Give Talk Here Tuesday.

Wellsville Kiwanis club members are anticipating with no small degree of interest their next Tuesday's noon luncheon meeting when they will hear an address by Robert J. Eustace, of Davenport, Ill., representative of the Davenport Industrial commission and special representative of Governor Hamill, of Iowa, in a nation-wide inspection of industrial resources.

The meeting will be held in the Second Presbyterian church, in Eighteenth street.

Mr. Eustace will inspect the city's industrial facilities and will give a talk on industrial attainments of the mid-west.

He has recently completed a tour of New England states, speaking in several score cities and towns before chambers of commerce, Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions clubs.

POLICE NAB "BOOZE" CAR

Occupants Flee in Darkness After Chase to 13th Street.

Chased from Third street to Thirteenth where they backtracked on to Center, two unidentified pilots of a booze car, pursued by local police, jumped and escaped to freedom into the darkness last night at 11:30 o'clock.

The police squad, including Chief Fultz, Patrolmen Pugh, Cole and Oyster and Harry Brennan, local auto dealer, confiscated the automobile, a Ford roadster, and eight five-gallon cans of alleged liquor.

Police were "tipped off" to the car as it stopped for a moment at Third street. A boy, whose identity was not revealed, detected the odor of the liquor seeping from a leak in one of the cans and notified the authorities.

The two men in the car learned of the police squad's approach and "stepped on the gas" down Main street. They ducked into Thirteenth and around the corner into Center where they abandoned the machine and fled.

NURSE CONDUCTS HEALTH SURVEY

Miss Martha Rex, Wellsville community nurse, whose activities here are sponsored by the Wellsville Kiwanis club, will lend her aid in keeping public school health percentages up to standard.

Miss Rex has already begun a survey of health conditions among pupils of the first to the third grades in the various school buildings.

This work will keep her busy for a while but later she expects to place the health survey plan in operation throughout the entire system.

"PADLOCKED" TRUE TO LIFE

Rex Beach Story on Screen at Ceramic.

Realistically picturing the clash between the old and the new generation, "Padlocked," Allan Dawn's latest Paramount production opened at the Ceramis theatre last night and captured a first night audience with the vitality and dramatic vigor of its story, the charm and human appeal of its characters, and the glamor and luxury of its atmosphere and backgrounds.

The picture, aside from its excellent entertainment qualities, is a moving and powerful plea for tolerance and sympathetic understanding on the part of the older folk in thair relation to modern youth.

Readers of the Cosmopolitan Magazine will recall the story by Rex Beach which appeared serially some months ago. It is a story of what is happening today in thousands of homes where parents and children look at life from different points of view. Edith Gilbert is a shining example of the modern, freedom-loving American girl, who resents her narrow-minded father's efforts to "padlock" her soul, stifle her ambitions and repress her innocent pleasures.

When his intolerance finally leads to her mother's accidental death, the girl runs away from home to become a cabaret dancer in New York. Her exciting adventures midst the gay night life of Broadway and the millionaire society atmosphere of Long Island is vividly and brilliantly portrayed. The manner in which the elder Gilbert is brought to a startling realization of his injustice to his daughter, their subsequent reunion and the girl's romance with a young scion of wealth bring the picture to a stirring climax and a happy ending.

Lois Moran, who jumped into the limelight via "Stella Dallas," gives a memorable performance as the modern daughter; Noah Beery handles the exacting role of the bigoted father in his usually deft fashion; and Louise Dresser adds to her laurels with her effective delineation of a woman with a past.

"ABIE'S IRISH ROSE" BOOKED

Anne Nichols' Hit Comes to Ceramic Sept. 16-17.

A ripple of mirth at first, speedily developing into a gale of laughter and eventually growing into a tornado of hilarity which engulfs an audience and tosses it about until it virtually cries for surcease from seemingly endless attacks on its risibilities—such, perhaps, best describes "Abie's Irish Rose," which opens a two-day engagement at the Ceramic theatre on Sept. 16.

The play is the creation of Anne Nichols, to whom several previous successful plays are credited. The author is herself the producer—one of the few independent producers in these days of combines and amalgamations.

The story of "Abie's Irish Rose," in brief, with Abie Levy, a war veteran, who fell in love while overseas with Rosemary Murphy, a war nurse. They return home and are surreptitiously married by a Methodist minister, although Abie is an orthodox Jew and Rosemary a fervent Catholic. When the play opens Abie is introducing Rosemary to his father as his fiancee, but to assuage suspicion of Rosemary's nationality and religion is forced to add a "ski" to her name, and as Rosie Murphiski, Abie's father welcomes her and arranges for a fitting wedding according to the Jewish rite. Just as the ceremony is being performed, Rosemary's father, Patrick Murphy, arrives on the scene, accompanied by Father Whalen, who, as they imagine, is to bind Rosemary and Michael McGee in wedlock according to the Catholic ritual. The fathers meet, discover each other's racial and religious status, and the complications that develop provide the comedy situations.

The company of players that will present "Abie's Irish Rose" here is the same that recently concluded an engagement of 29 weeks at the Colonial theatre, Cleveland.

The best of the season's models in new Felt Hats — exquisite colors—specially priced at $1.95 to $4.95 at TAYLOR'S MILLINERY.

City League Flag Winners To Start Title Series Tomorrow

Loop's Second Half Flag Race Decided By Forfeit Contest

K. T. K. Players Failing to Appear on Time for Clash at Smith Field, Give up Game; Pick-up Teams Put on Exhibition.

WINNING by forfeit last evening from K. T. K., at Smith Field, Chester was awarded the single contest that was necessary to cinch the City Industrial league second half pennant and put the 1926 champions into the 'baby world's series" with Laughlin for the 1927 gonfalon.

With rain threatening prior to game time a number of Katy players failed to show up in time to begin the game as scheduled and Umpire Fleming declared a forfeit victory, 9 to 0.

As the skies lifted an exhibition contest between the players on the ground was staged. Manager Riley loaned himself and Infielder Evans to K. T. K. for the clash and Babb, of Laughlin, was pressed into service at first base. Kinsey, arriving after one inning of play, went to third instead of McShane, and made a couple of wild heaves.

Manager Riley pitched the final inning of the contest and struck out Pete Cebula, among others, although Les McMath tripled and Potts doubled on him with Greene and C. Marshal getting singles off the erstwhile big league delivery. Fans got a big kick as McMath swiped home as Riley wound up.

Stoffel and Jennings permitted but four hits each during the engagement.

Two base hits—L. McMath, Potts.

Three base hit—L. McMath.

Stolen bases—L. McMath, Greene, C. Marshall.

Struck out—By Stoffel 6; by Jennings 2; by Riley 1.

Base on balls—off Stoffel 0; off Jennings 1.

Hits—off Jennings 3 and 6 runs in 4 innings; off Riley 4 and 3 runs in 1 inig.

Double plays—P. Cebula, L. McMath and Babb; Evans, Gerace, McShane, Babb, Evans and McShane; Hilditch and Babb.

Wild pitch—Jennings.

Left on bases—K. T. K. 3; Chester 3.

Umpires—Fleming and Merchant.

Fight Results

AT NEW YORK—Joe Dundee, Baltimore welterweight knocked out Eddie Burnbro, Camp Holabird, Md., in the third round.

Harry Persson, Swedish heavyweight, outpointed Carl Carter, Cuban, 10 rounds.

Jimmy Jones, Youngstown, O., and Jack Hood, British welterweight champion, fought a draw, 10 rounds.

The Cardinals watched the Yanks play again and saw plenty. While Shawkey was holding the Red Sox to four hits, the Hugman murdered the Beaneaters, 10 to 0, and increased their lead over Cleveland to eight games.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

When the iron clubhead is placed at direct angles back of the ball in the address the player may have a tendency to pull all his iron shots and especially is this true if at the same time he plays the ball well forward. If opening up the blade some in the address constitutes a bothersome hazard—that is, if it doesn't look just right or if it makes you feel you are going to slice—then play the blade straight across the direction line, but play the ball a few inches farther back. At the same time be sure to hit outward—from the inside out—as the blade goes through the ball. Then gradually accustom yourself to playing the blade in the slightly opened position and gradually get the ball more forward, off the left foot. Always hit from the inside, never from the outside inward ward and around to the left. It is the throw from the inside out that delivers the good ball.

LOOSE TUNNEY MONEY SCARCE

New York Group Ready to Sink Roll on Champ.

By George Barry.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 10.—Jack Dempsey swung his two steel fists into action again today, after a lay-off of 72 hours, during which he added two pounds to his frame, bringing his present fighting bulk to 199.

Coincident with his return to fistic labors, a few citizens of New York, who had been loitering around these parts to find out what it's all about, returned to the large town with the announcement that:

"We're ready to sink the ships on Dempsey—and any odds we can get are good odds, for it's just like laying down money and picking up a whole lot of nice interest backing the champion."

Those men are presumed to be representing a syndicate which has $25,000 to back the champion, but their main difficulty has been to find any loose Tunney money.

The champion's program for the day called for plenty of heavy work with his "big three"—Bill Tate, Charlie Anderson and Marty Burke. The smaller men, who stood the brunt of his attack earlier in the week, will get some breathing spells for the next few days and will be called into fighting pose only when the champion figures he needs a bit of practice in the art of swiftness.

Some one called Dempsey's attention to an article in which Tunney is quoted as saying he cannot lose because "it is in the cards" and that he is "a man of destiny."

"Gene ought to be ashamed of himself for that—using that old, old stuff," commented Dempsey. "I hear he's a smart young fellow and I believe it, but if he pulls anything more like that I'm going to change my mind.

"The 'man of destiny' thing was originated by Georges Carpentier and, I believe, it was patented by him. And that 'it is in the cards'—well, that seems to belong to Tommy Gibbons. Those boys used that stuff, or their friends did, until folks got actually woozy listening to it. And, if I remember correctly, about 99 fortune tellers, without really being asked, spoke right up and said that Georges was going to knock my hat off and be the next champion. And when they missed on that they came right back and said it was Tommy they were really telling about.

"But I'm still champing around, even though 917 different people had dreams about my being whipped by Firpo and three times that many had visions that Georges would flatten me for ten."

MT. PERRY.—Sponsors of a movement to build a new $45,000 school house here are most persistent. A bond issue to raise the funds Aug. 10 failed by one vote. It will be submitted to the voters again November 2.

Riley Wins Toss and Takes Opening Clash To Chester Diamond

Monday, Wednesday and Saturday Selected as Dates for Second, Third and Fourth Battles; Plan Benefit for Carl Morgan.

THE City Industrial Baseball league "baby world's series" with Chester and Laughlin, West Virginia clubs, the contenders, will begin Saturday afternoon.

Five games will be played unless three victories are procured in straight games.

The dates selected for the contests are Saturday, Sept. 11, Monday, Sept. 13, Wednesday, Sept 15, and Saturday, Sept. 18.

Should the fifth game be necessary the date of play will later be selected and the place of playing decided by a toss.

Following the conclusion of the series another contest is to be played between the two clubs for the benefit of Carl Morgan, former league player and a scorer of the organization who early in August lost a leg at Midland, Pa., while in the performance of his duties as railway brakeman. He is now recuperating in the Rochester, Pa., hospital.

The opening game of the series will be played at Chester, Manager Frank Riley having won the toss of a coin flipped by President C. C. Cline. "Riley had first choice last year so Manager McCoy should have it on this occasion" averred the league executive.

"I'll take heads," said McCoy.

The coin fell. Tails were up. And so the first contest goes to the up-river town.

By the arrangement made, the second Saturday contest, unless the series is decided in straight games will go to Newell.

The first game will go nine innings as will the second Saturday contest. The Monday and Wednesday clashes will continue for the usual seven innings and will begin promptly at 5:00 o'clock.

The Saturday contests will start in both instances at 3:30 o'clock.

Fifteen minutes each will be devoted by the competing clubs in batting practices with five minutes apiece for fielding activities.

The umpires for the series will be decided upon by Friday evening. They will be of out of town men.

The admission for the series will be 25 cents for all spectators.

Additional seats will be placed behind the back stop at Chester for the games while the diamond has been overhauled in Newell and the pitching point raised to a respectable hillock. he alone can do. He was the McLean One one other than the players, league and team officials will be permitted on the team benches during all of these games. This rule will be rigidly adhered to.

Chester, which scored 108 runs as against 28 by their opponents during the season's second half when it also shut out six clubs and lost not a single road contest, will have the following players eligible for the series: Frank Henry Riley, Mayor and Manager; Capt. Robert Leslie McMath, Earl Potts, Walter McMath, Ray Wilde, Michael, Peter and George Cebula, James Green, Everett and Charles Marshall, John Evans, Paul Bennett, Alfred Heckathorne, David Stoffel and Percy Wyant.

Laughlin will have the following players who can compete in the clash: Saul McCoy, Manager; Capt. C. Finley, "Ted" Hunselman, Harry Herbert, Clyde Parsons, Louis Bubin, L. Briggle, Thomas Sayer, Kenneth Ashe, Gue Digman, Henry Auferheide, Elmer Crawford, William Watson, Lee Babb, Paul English and "Becky" Barr.

Clubs Well Matched.

Both clubs loom evenly in comparison, all things being considered. Laughlin has shown form this year in crucial contests. Chester has the reputation for never quitting.

The veteran Hunselman to whom great credit is due for Laughlin winning the first half will backstop as catcher in 1923 against E. M. Knowles. He is a great asset to his team.

Chester will use the ponderous 280 pound Potts, who peculiarly, was the E. M. Knowles catcher of the 1923 series. He will be understudied by the capable W. McMath.

When you light a Lucky Strike, you get more than the usual enjoyment which comes from an extra-fine cigarette.

The extra goodness of Lucky Strikes is due to toasting—a costly extra process.

City League Flag Winners To Start Title Series Tomorrow

Loop's Second Half Flag Race Decided By Forfeit Contest

K. T. K. Players Failing to Appear on Time for Clash at Smith Field, Give up Game; Pick-up Teams Put on Exhibition.

WINNING by forfeit last evening from K. T. K., at Smith Field, Chester was awarded the single contest that was necessary to cinch the City Industrial league second half pennant and put the 1926 champions into the 'baby world's series" with Laughlin for the 1927 gonfalon.

With rain threatening prior to game time a number of Katy players failed to show up in time to begin the game as scheduled and Umpire Fleming declared a forfeit victory, 9 to 0.

As the skies lifted an exhibition contest between the players on the ground was staged. Manager Riley loaned himself and Infielder Evans to K. T. K. for the clash and Babb, of Laughlin, was pressed into service at first base. Kinsey, arriving after one inning of play, went to third instead of McShane, and made a couple of wild heaves.

Manager Riley pitched the final inning of the contest and struck out Pete Cebula, among others, although Les McMath tripled and Potts doubled on him with Greene and C. Marshal getting singles off the erstwhile big league delivery. Fans got a big kick as McMath swiped home as Riley wound up.

Stoffel and Jennings permitted but four hits each during the engagement.

Two base hits—L. McMath, Potts.

Three base hit—L. McMath.

Stolen bases—L. McMath, Greene, C. Marshall.

Struck out—By Stoffel 6; by Jennings 2; by Riley 1.

Base on balls—off Stoffel 0; off Jennings 1.

Hits—off Jennings 3 and 6 runs in 4 innings; off Riley 4 and 3 runs in 1 inig.

Double plays—P. Cebula, L. McMath and Babb; Evans, Gerace, McShane, Babb, Evans and McShane; Hilditch and Babb.

Wild pitch—Jennings.

Left on bases—K. T. K. 3; Chester 3.

Umpires—Fleming and Merchant.

The Cardinals watched the Yanks play again and saw plenty. While Shawkey was holding the Red Sox to four hits, the Hugman murdered the Beaneaters, 10 to 0, and increased their lead over Cleveland to eight games.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON, Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

When the iron clubhead is placed at direct angles back of the ball in the address the player may have a tendency to pull all his iron shots and especially is this true if at the same time he plays the ball well forward. If opening up the blade some in the address constitutes a bothersome hazard—that is, if it doesn't look just right or if it makes you feel you are going to slice—then play the blade straight across the direction line, but play the ball a few inches farther back. At the same time be sure to hit outward—from the inside out—as the blade goes through the ball. Then gradually accustom yourself to playing the blade in the slightly opened position and gradually get the ball more forward, off the left foot. Always hit from the inside, never from the outside inward ward and around to the left. It is the throw from the inside out that delivers the good ball.

LOOSE TUNNEY MONEY SCARCE

New York Group Ready to Sink Roll on Champ.

By George Barry.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 10.—Jack Dempsey swung his two steel fists into action again today, after a lay-off of 72 hours, during which he added two pounds to his frame, bringing his present fighting bulk to 199.

Coincident with his return to fistic labors, a few citizens of New York, who had been loitering around these parts to find out what it's all about, returned to the large town with the announcement that:

"We're ready to sink the ships on Dempsey—and any odds we can get are good odds, for it's just like laying down money and picking up a whole lot of nice interest backing the champion."

Those men are presumed to be representing a syndicate which has $25,000 to back the champion, but their main difficulty has been to find any loose Tunney money.

The champion's program for the day called for plenty of heavy work with his "big three"—Bill Tate, Charlie Anderson and Marty Burke. The smaller men, who stood the brunt of his attack earlier in the week, will get some breathing spells for the next few days and will be called into fighting pose only when the champion figures he needs a bit of practice in the art of swiftness.

Some one called Dempsey's attention to an article in which Tunney is quoted as saying he cannot lose because "it is in the cards" and that he is "a man of destiny."

"Gene ought to be ashamed of himself for that—using that old, old stuff," commented Dempsey. "I hear he's a smart young fellow and I believe it, but if he pulls anything more like that I'm going to change my mind.

"The 'man of destiny' thing was originated by Georges Carpentier and, I believe, it was patented by him. And that 'it is in the cards'—well, that seems to belong to Tommy Gibbons. Those boys used that stuff, or their friends did, until folks got actually woozy listening to it. And, if I remember correctly, about 99 fortune tellers, without really being asked, spoke right up and said that Georges was going to knock my hat off and be the next champion. And when they missed on that they came right back and said it was Tommy they were really telling about.

"But I'm still champing around, even though 917 different people had dreams about my being whipped by Firpo and three times that many had visions that Georges would flatten me for ten."

MT. PERRY.—Sponsors of a movement to build a new $45,000 school house here are most persistent. A bond issue to raise the funds Aug. 10 failed by one vote. It will be submitted to the voters again November 2.

JACK-GENE BOUT RECEIPTS PASS MILLION DOLLAR MARK

YANKS CAN FIGURE ON SERIES CHECKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—By winning ten of their remaining 17 games, the Yankees can clinch the American league pennant even if Cleveland wins 17 straight. The Hugmen increased their lead to eight full games by beating Boston yesterday while Cleveland was losing to Detroit.

The Cardinals, idle yesterday, profited when Pittsburgh and Chicago divided a double header. St. Louis plays Boston today while the Pirates will attempt to regain second place by winning both games of a twin bill from Cincinnati.

The Dodgers went on a spree in the ninth inning of their game with the Phillies, making eight hits and nine runs and winning 12 to 6. Cy Williams hit two homers.

Big Fight Referee To Remain Mystery Until Gong Sounds

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—The man who will referee the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship bout in the sesqui-centennial stadium here will remain a mystery until the night of the fight Sept. 23; in fact his name will not be known until after the preliminaries.

This was the assertion made today by Frank L. Weiner, chairman of the Pennsylvania Athletic commission.

The commission will have at the stadium the night of the big bout three licensed referees—one for the feature event and one each for the preliminaries, according to Weiner. These men, Weiner explained, will not know until they are called into the battle ring whether they have been asked to preside at the "big sesqui battle" or are merely working during the minor events.

High Record Set In "Carp" Go May Fall As Money Rolls In

Billy Gibson, Tunney's Manager, Expects to See Every Seat in Sesqui Stadium at Philly Filled for Big Fight.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Sept. 10.—One million, one hundred thousand dollars had been paid Tex Rickard on Wednesday, more than two weeks before the contest, for tickets for the Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney heavyweight championship contest, according to Billy Gibson, manager of Tunney.

Gibson, who yesterday saw his boxer work out for the first time since Gene began preparing for his bout for the title, declared the promoter of the sesqui-centennial fight had deposited that amount to his credit in a Philadelphia bank on Wednesday and, in addition, had sold about a quarter of a million dollars worth of tickets for which he had not, at that time, been paid. Gibson believes every seat in the stadium, and there are to be 140,000 of them, will be sold by next Wednesday, barring of course, the general admission seats which will not go on sale until the day of the fight.

Despite the fact the prices of admission for the Dempsey-Tunney encounter will be just half the prices charged for the gate-record-breaking Dempsey-Carpenter battle, Gibson thinks the $1,600,000 mark set by that fight will be shattered by at least $100,000.

Gibson stopped off here yesterday on his way to Philadelphia where he is to confer with the Pennsylvania boxing commission, Tex Richard, and Gene Normille, Dempsey's manager, late this afternoon concerning the rules which govern the September twenty-third bout and the identities of the referee and the judges. Neither Gibson nor Normile will have any voice in the selection of these men but they will be extended the privilege of protesting against any officials in the list to be presented them.

Gibson was favorably impressed by Tunney's work yesterday.

"He is close to the pink now," said Gibson, "and he must carefully guard against going stale. Gene, however, knows enough about training and his own body to do just enough work during the next ten days to maintain his edge."

Tunney worked out against Bryan Downey, Billy Vidabeck and Harold Mays yesterday, boxing two rounds with each of them. Downey kept him busy ducking to the body. Tunney had shaken off his lethargy by the time Mays stepped into the ring however, and he landed some telling blows to the Bayonne heavyweight's body.

Gene will do no work today. He may even lay off on Saturday although that is doubtful.

The Giants nosed out the Braves, 3 to 2, on Frisch's triple in the eleventh.

nett great curves, Stoffel a hard ball to fathom and "Mike" is "Mike."

Strong Infields.

Babb, Sayers, or W. Watson, Finley and Herbert, Laughlin's infield, is a finished machine for the most part. Opposed to it will be Heckathorne, L. McMath, P. Cebula and Greene. The fans can take their choice.

Here is the Chester garden: F. Marshall, Evans and Wilde. The Newell outfield looms thusly: Parsons, Crawford and Aufterheide. There you have fielding capabilities, hitting capacity and speed intermingled. So again the spectators must pick their favorites.

Already great interest is manifested in the outcome. Great crowds, it is certain, will attend every game.

Both Managers Riley and McCoy are optimistic of the result of the games.

"It will be a great series" averred the Chester mayor and team leader. "This is the third straight time that Laughlin has won a league half," asserted Boss McCoy. "I have never led a losing club," interjected Riley. "The club getting the breaks will win," affirmed McCoy. "We are going after those breaks," put in Riley. And so the fans can conclude both pilots are after the series in earnest.

"It is a fine loyalty that Chester rooters show their team," opined Business Manager Joseph Dickey. "They are with the club through thick and thin." "But they let us know if we lose," spoke up Pilot Riley.

Rival Captains Confident.

Captains McMath and Finley are also both confident in the ability of their respective clubs to win. "I will be starting batting practice on the dot," observed Field Director Finley. "You will get it for we propose to start on time," replied McMath.

Neither leader is certain as to the pitcher that will be used in the opening game. Both will naturally want the jump and the twirler showing the best form will get the assignment in both instances.

Should rain interfere with the contest it doubtless will go over for the following Monday.

YANKS CAN FIGURE ON SERIES CHECKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—By winning ten of their remaining 17 games, the Yankees can clinch the American league pennant even if Cleveland wins 17 straight. The Hugmen increased their lead to eight full games by beating Boston yesterday while Cleveland was losing to Detroit.

The Cardinals, idle yesterday, profited when Pittsburgh and Chicago divided a double header. St. Louis plays Boston today while the Pirates will attempt to regain second place by winning both games of a twin bill from Cincinnati.

The Dodgers went on a spree in the ninth inning of their game with the Phillies, making eight hits and nine runs and winning 12 to 6. Cy Williams hit two homers.

Big Fight Referee To Remain Mystery Until Gong Sounds

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—The man who will referee the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship bout in the sesqui-centennial stadium here will remain a mystery until the night of the fight Sept. 23; in fact his name will not be known until after the preliminaries.

This was the assertion made today by Frank L. Weiner, chairman of the Pennsylvania Athletic commission.

The commission will have at the stadium the night of the big bout three licensed referees—one for the feature event and one each for the preliminaries, according to Weiner. These men, Weiner explained, will not know until they are called into the battle ring whether they have been asked to preside at the "big sesqui battle" or are merely working during the minor events.

High Record Set In "Carp" Go May Fall As Money Rolls In

Billy Gibson, Tunney's Manager, Expects to See Every Seat in Sesqui Stadium at Philly Filled for Big Fight.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Sept. 10.—One million, one hundred thousand dollars had been paid Tex Rickard on Wednesday, more than two weeks before the contest, for tickets for the Jack Dempsey-Gene Tunney heavyweight championship contest, according to Billy Gibson, manager of Tunney.

Gibson, who yesterday saw his boxer work out for the first time since Gene began preparing for his bout for the title, declared the promoter of the sesqui-centennial fight had deposited that amount to his credit in a Philadelphia bank on Wednesday and, in addition, had sold about a quarter of a million dollars worth of tickets for which he had not, at that time, been paid. Gibson believes every seat in the stadium, and there are to be 140,000 of them, will be sold by next Wednesday, barring of course, the general admission seats which will not go on sale until the day of the fight.

Despite the fact the prices of admission for the Dempsey-Tunney encounter will be just half the prices charged for the gate-record-breaking Dempsey-Carpenter battle, Gibson thinks the $1,600,000 mark set by that fight will be shattered by at least $100,000.

Gibson stopped off here yesterday on his way to Philadelphia where he is to confer with the Pennsylvania boxing commission, Tex Richard, and Gene Normille, Dempsey's manager, late this afternoon concerning the rules which govern the September twenty-third bout and the identities of the referee and the judges. Neither Gibson nor Normile will have any voice in the selection of these men but they will be extended the privilege of protesting against any officials in the list to be presented them.

Gibson was favorably impressed by Tunney's work yesterday.

"He is close to the pink now," said Gibson, "and he must carefully guard against going stale. Gene, however, knows enough about training and his own body to do just enough work during the next ten days to maintain his edge."

Tunney worked out against Bryan Downey, Billy Vidabeck and Harold Mays yesterday, boxing two rounds with each of them. Downey kept him busy ducking to the body. Tunney had shaken off his lethargy by the time Mays stepped into the ring however, and he landed some telling blows to the Bayonne heavyweight's body.

Gene will do no work today. He may even lay off on Saturday although that is doubtful.

The Giants nosed out the Braves 3 to 2, on Frisch's triple in the eleventh.

In the past year nearly 9,000,000 pairs of leather gloves were brought into the United States from other parts of the world.

City League Winners

nett great curves, Stoffel a hard ball to fathom and "Mike" is "Mike."

In Ashe, Digman, Briggle and English, Laughlin has a quartette of great flingers. Ashe is possessed of a smoke ball; Digman was the first half's leading twirler; Briggle, a southpaw, can speed 'em over, while English, though a youngster, shows rare form at times.

Strong Infields.

Babb, Sayers, or W. Watson, Finley and Herbert, Laughlin's infield, is a finished machine for the most part. Opposed to it will be Heckathorne, L. McMath, P. Cebula and Greene. The fans can take their choice.

Here is the Chester garden: F. Marshall, Evans and Wilde. The Newell outfield looms thusly: Parsons, Crawford and Aufterheide. There you have fielding capabilities, hitting capacity and speed intermingled. So again the spectators must pick their favorites.

Already great interest is manifested in the outcome. Great crowds, it is certain, will attend every game.

Both Managers Riley and McCoy are optimistic of the result of the games.

"It will be a great series" averred the Chester mayor and team leader. "This is the third straight time that Laughlin has won a league half," asserted Boss McCoy. "I have never led a losing club," interjected Riley. "The club getting the breaks will win," affirmed McCoy. "We are going after those breaks," put in Riley. And so the fans can conclude both pilots are after the series in earnest.

"It is a fine loyalty that Chester rooters show their team," opined Business Manager Joseph Dickey. "They are with the club through thick and thin." "But they let us know if we lose," spoke up Pilot Riley.

Rival Captains Confident.

Captains McMath and Finley are also both confident in the ability of their respective clubs to win. "I will be starting batting practice on the dot," observed Field Director Finley. "You will get it for we propose to start on time," replied McMath.

Neither leader is certain as to the pitcher that will be used in the opening game. Both will naturally want the jump and the twirler showing the best form will get the assignment in both instances.

Should rain interfere with the contest it doubtless will go over for the following Monday.

ATHENS RETURNS TO NORMALCY AFTER NIGHT RIOT

50 ARE KILLED AND MORE THAN 100 WOUNDED

Kondylis Government Attempts to Dissolve Republican Guard.

STREET BATTLE

Latest Grecian Revolt Quelled Under Martial Law Decree.

ATHENS, Sept. 10.—All precautions have been taken to prevent a repetition of the mutiny among the republican guards, and the Athens garrison has been heavily re-inforced, the government announced today as normal conditions were being restored.

Leaders of the mutiny are being court-martialed today.

The government states that despite warnings the commandants of two battalions of republican guards marched their troops into Athens, making conflict inevitable.

The president of the republic, after conferring with General Kondylis, approved the action taken by the government.

The arrest of M. Vezikis, former mayor of Athens has been ordered, as the government states that it believes that a combination of Communists, anti-Venizelists, royalists and other extremists might cause trouble.

ATHENS, Sept. 10.—Athens was rapidly returning to normalcy today after 24 hours of bloody rioting in which 50 were killed and more than 100 wounded.

The fighting broke out as a result of an attempt by the Kondylis government to dissolve the republican guard, the officers of which are strong supporters of the recently deposed Greek dictator, M. Pangalos.

Refusal of the guard to disband led to a furious street battle in which artillery and machine guns were employed.

Pangalos Friends Aid.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The latest Grecian revolt was not quelled until martial law had been decreed, according to a Central News dispatch from Athens.

Three hundred casualties were suffered during the fighting, this dispatch stated.

Although the fighting occurred over the refusal of the republican guard to be disbanded by the Kondylis government, there are indications here that citizens were engaged in street fighting and it seems probable that the republican guard had some support from adherents of the recent Pangalos government among citizenry.

where the German delegates sat, with a welcoming gesture.

"No More War"—Briand

"For France this day means we are finished with war," said M. Briand, and there was a hushed pause.

"Gone are the days of machine guns, trenches and bloody battles," continued the French foreign minister.

"There will be no more war between us.

"The machine guns have yielded to peace.

"There will be no more mourning and no grief. We have found a common judge and we will go to court together.

"No longer do we regard cannons and guns as our last arguments.

"We need no more demonstrations of heroism. Neither does Germany. We have enough glory on the battlefields to satisfy both of us."

Then the masterful French orator broke the dramatic awe which had marked his words, and interspersed a few pleasantries addressed to Herr Stresemann, only to return to his deadly earnest speech.

"They say faith moves mountains," said M. Briand. "We have had that faith and I can assure my German friends they will find me a loyal collaborator."

Briand Applauded.

Throughout his speech M. Briand was continually forced to wait for minutes at a time until the applause had subsided sufficiently to permit him to go on with his speech.

M. Briand joined with Herr Stresemann in expressing regret at the absence of Spain and Brazil.

When the excitement had subsided and while the interpreters were repeating an English version of M. Briand's speech, many of the delegates rushed up and shook the hands of the French foreign minister. Herr Stresemann was apparently undecided as to just what was expected of him and what was proper and he remained in his seat.

Seated in a far corner of the gallery, witnessing the demonstration with apparent joy, was Frau Stresemann.

Young La Follette and his friends are victorious. Lenroot is beaten, and Governor Blaine will be senator from Wisconsin.

Governor Blaine is a good, level-headed American. The objection to him is that he doesn't "belong" to any big corporation or group. A few more such men won't hurt the senate. Mr. Lenroot straddled on prohibition—a mistake in Wisconsin.

Also Senator Lenroot is the gentleman who herded and led other senators into voting for the world court.

WOMEN are brave, whether they swim the English channel at 19, or, like Mrs. Almatia Bennett, celebrate a hundredth birthday by flying over a city. Mrs. Bennett recently beat a 14-year-old by five stairs, in a race upstairs, and says, "Why should I fear to go up? I am going higher than that soon."

THREE British officers, four sailors, are killed fighting Chinese troops. The British won't declare war against China because there isn't any central recognized China. Besides fighting China, like fighting Russia, means burying your head in a feather bed. The deeper you go the more you smother.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Relief over the money situation was exhibited in a buoyant market for the leading speculative stocks in the early trading today. The week has practically passed without changes of any kind in rediscount rates while the weekly report of thereserve banks as a whole revealed a slight decline in rediscounts, where a considerable increase had been looked for.

Price gains in excess of two points were scored by a number of the active stocks in the first period, including Cast Iron Pipe, General Motors, Warner Brothers Pictures, Postum Cereal and others. Public utility, railroad, equipment and copper stocks resumed their forward movement with moderate gains in the representative issues and even a few of the oils made an effort to reach higher price levels.

Studebaker's rise to 60 featured the popular automobile stocks, while Stewart Warner recovered to above 68. Warner Brothers Pictures A stock, callable at 17, rose to a new high at 62¾ in a movement which proclaimed the stock the most active on the board. Radio and Postum Cereal attracted considerable attention.

STUDER, CANTON WITNESS, FACES PERJURY COUNT

Arrest Follows His Appearance at Lengel Trial.

GIVES SELF UP

Predict Apprehension of "Pay-off" Man in Mellett Murder.

CANTON, O., Sept. 10.—Carl Studer, who testified yesterday in the hearing of former Police Chief Serafinus A. Lengel, surrendered himself here today on a perjury charge, which, authorities declared, grew out of his testimony during the hearing.

Studer is now under a federal charge of liquor conspiracy, a police charge here of operating a house of ill fame, and the perjury accusation.

Arrest of the "man who financed the Mellett murder" was deemed by certain investigators today as the next possible development in the inquiry into the assassination of the crusading publisher.

"The man to whom the evidence points has risked his money in other enterprises of a smaller nature," the official who asked that he would not nel records have been made reecntly be named, declared.

"He has been prominently mentioned in connection with the case," the authority concluded.

Accelerate McDermott Search.

Meantime the strenuous search for Patrick E. McDermott, alleged hired triggerman, and jointly indicted with Louis Mazer and Ben Rudner in the Mellett murder, was being accelerated by authorities throughout this and surrounding states.

"McDermott must be found, dead or alive," was the slogan of local authorities. The elusive "Pat" has been listed as "wanted" for 44 days despite a nationwide manhunt instigated by the plea of Canton officials. He was last seen at Brady Lake, 50 miles from here about July 28. The theory that he has been murdered has been advanced several times.

The hearing of former Police Chief Lengel, who was fired by the mayor of Canton because of his alleged "close contact with known law violators," was expected to terminate today.

Evidence Brought Out.

Insofar as the murder is concerned, because of the wide range of testimony, that has been introduced, the hearing has brought out the following evidence:

1—That the police department as a whole was evidently not over zealous in their investigation of the murder.

2—Denial by Carl Studer, alleged bootlegger and underworld character, of the testimony of two witnesses that he predicted "Mellett would be bumped off."

3—Denial by Police Sergeant Daniel Van Gunten that, shortly after the murder, he declared that "Mellett got just what was coming to him."

4—The statement by Van Gunten that he first heard of the murder when a man, whom Van Gunten "though to be 'Chuck' Burns," told him about it approximately 45 minutes after Mellett was killed, Burns is a brother-in-law of Carl Studer.

5—That Lengel, then chief of police here talked with Ben Rudner in front of the Canton police station about four hours before the murder occurred.

Expect Federal Developments.

Another development during the hearing that seemed to startle the local citizenry was the arrest of Carl Studer, following his testimony yesterday on a charge of operating a house of ill repute.

According to reports emanating from the semi-official sources here today, the federal probe being conducted by the United States Attorney A. E. Bernstein, Cleveland, was gathering force with amazing speed.

60 Workmen Buried When Cork Factory In Europe Crumbles

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Sixty workmen were buried today when a cork factory in Lisbon collapsed, according to a dispatch to the Central News.

Thirty-five of the workmen are known to be dead, having succumbed to injuries which they received.

Excessive heat is believed to have warned the foundations of the factory building, causing the collapse.

was badly lacerated. Bergner was also bruised.

The Sturgis ambulance removed Mrs. Springer and her sister-in-law to the City hospital where they were attended by Dr. H. A. Turk. Bergner was taken to his home where he was attended by Dr. M. D. McCutcheon. Springer did not require the attention of a physician.

The Bergner car was towed to the Reo garage in Seventh street, while the Springer machine was taken to the Grate garage near Stop 55. Both cars were badly damaged.

Patrolman William Lister investigated the accident but no arrests were made.

AUTO RECORD BREAKER HERE

L. B. Miller, of Cross-continent Fame. Visits City.

L. B. Miller, San Francisco automobile accessory dealer, who recently set a new low record from a transcontinental motor drive from San Francisco to New York visited in East Liverpool for a few hours today on his return trip.

Miller, accompanied by J. E. Wieber, Portland, Oregon, mechanic and relief driver, and Dudley Siddall, New York, his manager, arrived at 10:30 a. m. from Pittsburgh. The trip was made via Ambridge, Rochester, Beaver and Midland.

He called at the Chamber of Commerce rooms where he conferred with Joseph Betz, president, and Miss Eva Wasbutzky, assistant secretary, and to express his thanks to the chamber for its efforts in arranging his epochal trip through this section.

Miller, Wieber and Siddall were guests of President Betz at luncheon at the Elks' club at noon, after which they continued their journey westward. A short stop off was also made in Lisbon this afternoon, where the party was met by Sheriff George Wright and James Costello, Lincoln Highway consul.

Hundreds crowded about Miller's Wills Ste. Claire roadster while it was parked in front of the Little building this morning. This is the car Miller drove across the continent.

Talks Over Radio.

Miller will reach Cleveland tonight. He will go on to Toledo on Sunday for a visit with friends and then to the Wills-Ste. Claire factory at Marysville, Mich., where he plans to spend a few days. He is to leave Chicago on September 21 and plans to complete the remainder of his trip to the coast in four days.

Siddall, who has accompanied him from New York, will leave Miller when he reaches Detroit on his way to the Wills Ste. Claire factory.

The record breaker left New York last Monday afternoon and stopped in Philadelphia where he visited the sesqui-centennial. Here he met two other champions — Miss Gertrude Ederle, New York, first woman to swim the English channel, and Fred Hoyt, aviator, who won the On-To-Sesqui airplane flight from Eureka, California, to Philadelphia.

A parade was given in Miller's honor in Pittsburgh yesterday. He was also the guest of honor at a banquet given at the Pittsburgh Athletic club by Eddie Connors of the Penn zoil company last evening. Miller discussed his cross-country motor trip from KDKA broadcasting station, last evening.

"What would your father say if he saw you out at this time of night?"

TWO WITNESSES TO HALL-MILLS MURDER PLOT

Vestryman and Girl Admit They Were at Scene.

ALL-NIGHT QUIZ

They Were Companions on Night of Double Slaying.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Sept. 10.—Ralph V. Gorsline, vestryman of the Church of St. John, the Evangelist, admitted to the authorities today, they announced, that he was in De Russey lane on the night four years ago when the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, his sweetheart, were murdered.

Gorsline heard shots, screams and voices speaking on that fatal night, he told the authorities, according to Inspector John W. Underwood who directed an all-night examination of Gorsline and Miss Catherine Rastall, a choir singer and companion of Gorsline on the night of the double murder.

Miss Rastall made similar admissions, the authorities announced.

For hours during the night Gorsline and Miss Rastall had been grilled by detectives who had sought to break down the story they told four years ago—during the first investigation.

Gorsline's story then was that he met Miss Rastall by chance in front of the New Brunswick Y. M. C. A. and drove her home, a mile from the Phillips home. This occurred on the night of the crime, Sept 14, 1922. He had reiterated during the first investigation that after leaving Miss Rastall at her home he went home himself and remained there.

The earlier reports had been received with some skepticism, and even now there are some who are inclined to make criticisms.

However, there are no official channel swimming regulations and no rules for timing and Michel's claim must stand, unless it is disproved.

Michel entered the water at exactly low tide which, according to the experts, is the most disadvantageous time for starting.

Michel, however, is easily France's premier swimmer, having recently won the Seine marathon of 26 miles.

GERMAN CALLED IN U. S. TRIAL

Merton Testifies in Daugherty-Miller Case.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—In calm, business-like tones, Richard Merton, German capitalist, today related in federal court details of the alleged $391,000 Liberty bond "pay-off" in the transaction whereby he was able to obtain the return to Germany interests of $7,000,000 from the United States alien property custodian which had been seized during the war as German property.

Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, are being tried before Judge Mack, charged with conspiring against the government in connection with their alleged participation in this deal.

Merton testified amid deadly silence in the courtroom that he turned this Liberty bond "divvy over to the late John T. King, Connecticut politician, in the lobby of the banking house of Goldman, Sach & Co., in New York City."

"SON OF SHEIK" COMING HERE

"The Son of the Sheik," Rudolph Valentino's last picture, comes to the American theatre Monday for a three-day run.

In it, Valentino, supported by Vilma Banky, the exotic Hungarian beauty, has returned to the screen in the same type of role that won him fame and name, that swept the world with its appeal and made the words "sheik" and "Rudy" synonymous. As a gesture of gracious deference, Agnes Ayres, the same charming lady who resisted the passionate advance of Rudy in that earlier film, returns to the screen in "The Son of the Sheik" for "flashbacks" to the first story.

"The Son of the Sheik' is a sequel to "The Sheik," written by the same Edith M. Hull and read by millions, and then adapted for the screen by Frances Marion, famous woman scenarist, and directed by George Fitzmaurice for United Artists Corporation release. During the production of the film and after its pre-view in Santa Monica, Cal., by an exclusive audience, when Valentino was cheered and had to fight his way to his automobile; and the ensuing acclamation by the public at the Million Dollar theatre, Los Angeles, and the Mark Strand theatre, New York, at the premiers, it was said that Rudy is "greater than ever."

The thrilling tale of Ahmed, son of the devil-may-care Englishman who is "The Sheik," and his love and hate of Yasmin, the exotic dancing girl of the desert, whose father is a renegade Frenchman, takes one across the dreaming desert with powerful sweeps of action and romance as the fast pace of the story unfolds the Son of the Sheik's belief that he has been betrayed by the girl for whom he would give all.

The capture of the Sheik's son by a villainous Moor (Montague Love), and his robber band, and the cruel whipping given the boy, the rescue by a loyal band commanded by the giant Ramadan,—our old friend, Karl Dane,—and the fierce fights of impassioned males for a woman, gouging and knifing and blows in the dark,——these are the flitting backgrounds for the love story. Valentino's role calls for shadings of sudden calm with his love in the desert silence, then crunching hate of her for her alleged deceit and clutching at her to ride away over the hills to his tent.

ATHENS RETURNS TO NORMALCY AFTER NIGHT RIOT

Kondylis Government Attempts to Dissolve Republican Guard.

STREET BATTLE

Latest Grecian Revolt Quelled Under Martial Law Decree.

ATHENS, Sept. 10.—All precautions have been taken to prevent a repetition of the mutiny among the republican guards, and the Athens garrison has been heavily re-inforced, the government announced today as normal conditions were being restored.

Leaders of the mutiny are being court-martialed today.

The government states that despite warnings the commandants of two battalions of republican guards marched their troops into Athens, making conflict inevitable.

The president of the republic, after conferring with General Kondylis, approved the action taken by the government.

The arrest of M. Vezikis, former mayor of Athens has been ordered, as the government states that it believes that a combination of Communists, anti-Venizelists, royalists and other extremists might cause trouble.

ATHENS, Sept. 10.—Athens was rapidly returning to normalcy today after 24 hours of bloody rioting in which 50 were killed and more than 100 wounded.

The fighting broke out as a result of an attempt by the Kondylis government to dissolve the republican guard, the officers of which are strong supporters of the recently deposed Greek dictator, M. Pangalos.

Refusal of the guard to disband led to a furious street battle in which artillery and machine guns were employed.

The government finally vanquished the guard after inflicting many casualties. Col. Dertillis, one of the leaders of the mutineers, was among the wounded.

Pangalos Friends Aid.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The latest Grecian revolt was not quelled until martial law had been decreed, according to a Central News dispatch from Athens.

Three hundred casualties were suffered during the fighting, this dispatch stated.

Although the fighting occurred over the refusal of the republican guard to be disbanded by the Kondylis government, there are indications here that citizens were engaged in street fighting and it seems probable that the republican guard had some support from adherents of the recent Pangalos government among citizenry.

where the German delegates sat, with a welcoming gesture.

"No More War"—Briand

"For France this day means we are finished with war," said M. Briand, and there was a hushed pause.

"Gone are the days of machine guns, trenches and bloody battles," continued the French foreign minister.

"There will be no more war between us.

"The machine guns have yielded to peace.

"There will be no more mourning and no grief. We have found a common judge and we will go to court together.

"No longer do we regard cannons and guns as our last arguments.

"We need no more demonstrations of heroism. Neither does Germany. We have enough glory on the battlefields to satisfy both of us."

Then the masterful French orator broke the dramatic awe which had marked his words, and interspersed a few pleasantries addressed to Herr Stresemann, only to return to his deadly earnest speech.

"They say faith moves mountains," said M. Briand. "We have had that faith and I can assure my German friends they will find me a loyal collaborator."

Briand Applauded.

Throughout his speech M. Briand was continually forced to wait for minutes at a time until the applause had subsided sufficiently to permit him to go on with his speech.

M. Briand joined with Herr Stresemann in expressing regret at the absence of Spain and Brazil.

When the excitement had subsided and while the interpreters were repeating an English version of M. Briand's speech, many of the delegates rushed up and shook the hands of the French foreign minister. Herr Stresemann was apparently undecided as to just what was expected of him and what was proper and he remained in his seat.

Seated in a far corner of the gallery, witnessing the demonstration with apparent joy, was Frau Stresemann.

Young La Follette and his friends are victorious. Lenroot is beaten, and Governor Blaine will be senator from Wisconsin.

Governor Blaine is a good, level-headed American. The objection to him is that he doesn't "belong" to any big corporation or group. A few more such men won't hurt the senate. Mr. Lenroot straddled on prohibition—a mistake in Wisconsin.

Also Senator Lenroot is the gentleman who herded and led other senators into voting for the world court.

WOMEN are brave, whether they swim the English channel at 19, or, like Mrs. Almatia Bennett, celebrate a hundredth birthday by flying over a city. Mrs. Bennett recently beat a 14 year-old by five stairs, in a race upstairs, and says, "Why should I fear to go up? I am going higher than that soon."

THREE British officers, four sailors, are killed fighting Chinese troops. The British won't declare war against China because there isn't any central recognized China. Besides fighting China, like fighting Russia, means burying your head in a feather bed The deeper you go the more you smother.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Relief over the money situation was exhibited in a buoyant market for the leading speculative stocks in the early trading today. STUDER, CANTON WITNESS, FACES PERJURY COUNT

Arrest Follows His Appearance at Lengel Trial.

GIVES SELF UP

Predict Apprehension of "Pay-off" Man in Mellett Murder.

CANTON, O., Sept. 10.—Carl Studer, who testified yesterday in the hearing of former Police Chief Seranus A. Lengel, surrendered himself here today on a perjury charge, which, authorities declared, grew out of his testimony during the hearing.

Studer is now under a federal charge of liquor conspiracy, a police charge here of operating a house of ill fame, and the perjury accusation.

Arrest of the "man who financed the Mellett murder" was deemed by certain investigators today as the next possible development in the inquiry into the assassination of the crusading publisher.

"The man to whom the evidence points has risked his money in other enterprises of a smaller nature," the official who asked that he would not nel records have been made reecntly be named, declared.

"He has been prominently mentioned in connection with the case," the authority concluded.

Accelerate McDermott Search.

Meantime the strenuous search for Patrick E. McDermott, alleged hired triggerman, and jointly indicted with Louis Mazer and Ben Rudner in the Mellett murder, was being accelerated by authorities throughout this and surrounding states.

"McDermott must be found, dead or alive," was the slogan of local authorities. The elusive "Pat" has been listed as "wanted" for 44 days despite a nationwide manhunt instigated by the plea of Canton officials. He was last seen at Brady Lake, 50 miles from here about July 28. The theory that he has been murdered has been advanced several times.

The hearing of former Police Chief Lengel, who was fired by the mayor of Canton because of his alleged "close contact with known law violators," was expected to terminate today.

Evidence Brought Out.

Insofar as the murder is concerned, because of the wide range of testimony, that has been introduced, the hearing has brought out the following evidence:

1—That the police department as a whole was evidently not over zealous in their investigation of the murder.

2—Denial by Carl Studer, alleged bootlegger and underworld character, of the testimony of two witnesses that he predicted "Mellett would be bumped off."

3—Denial by Police Sergeant Daniel Van Gunten that, shortly after the murder, he declared that "Mellett got just what was coming to him."

4—The statement by Van Gunten that he first heard of the murder when a man, whom Van Gunten "though to be 'Chuck' Burns," told him about it approximately 45 minutes after Mellett was killed. Burns is a brother-in-law of Carl Studer.

5—That Lengel, then chief of police here talked with Ben Rudner in front of the Canton police station about four hours before the murder occurred.

Expect Federal Developments.

Another development during the hearing that seemed to startle the local citizenry was the arrest of Carl Studer, following his testimony yesterday on a charge of operating a house of ill repute.

According to reports emanating from the semi-official sources here today, the federal probe being conducted by the United States Attorney A. E. Bernstein, Cleveland, was gathering force with amazing speed.

The Sturgis ambulance removed Mrs. Springer and her sister-in-law to the City hospital where they were attended by Dr. H. A. Turk. Bergner was taken to his home where he was attended by Dr. M. D. McCutcheon. Springer did not require the attention of a physician.

The Bergner car was towed to the Reo garage in Seventh street, while the Springer machine was taken to the Grate garage near Stop 55. Both cars were badly damaged.

Patrolman William Lister investigated the accident but no arrests were made.

AUTO RECORD BREAKER HERE

L. B. Miller, of Cross-continent Fame, Visits City.

L. B. Miller, San Francisco automobile accessory dealer, who recently set a new low record from a trans-continental motor drive from San Francisco to New York visited in East Liverpool for a few hours today on his return trip.

Miller, accompanied by J. E. Wieber, Portland, Oregon, mechanic and relief driver, and Dudley Siddall, New York, his manager, arrived at 10:30 a. m. from Pittsburgh. The trip was made via Ambridge, Rochester, Beaver and Midland.

He called at the Chamber of Commerce rooms where he conferred with Joseph Betz, president, and Miss Eva Wasbutzky, assistant secretary, and to express his thanks to the chamber for its efforts in arranging his epochal trip through this section.

Miller, Wieber and Siddall were guests of President Betz at luncheon at the Elks' club at noon, after which they continued their journey westward. A short stop off was also made in Lisbon this afternoon, where the party was met by Sheriff George Wright and James Costello, Lincoln Highway consul.

Hundreds crowded about Miller's Wills Ste. Claire roadster while it was parked in front of the Little building this morning. This is the car Miller drove across the continent.

Talks Over Radio.

Miller will reach Cleveland tonight. He will go on to Toledo on Sunday for a visit with friends and then to the Wills-Ste. Claire factory at Marysville, Mich., where he plans to spend a few days. He is to leave Chicago on September 21 and plans to complete the remainder of his trip to the coast in four days.

Siddall, who has accompanied him from New York, will leave Miller when he reaches Detroit on his way to the Wills Ste. Claire factory.

The record breaker left New York last Monday afternoon and stopped in Philadelphia where he visited the sesqui-centennial. Here he met two other champions — Miss Gertrude Ederle, New York, first woman to swim the English channel, and Fred Hoyt, aviator, who won the On-To-Sesqui airplane flight from Eureka, California, to Philadelphia.

A parade was given in Miller's honor in Pittsburgh yesterday. He was also the guest of honor at a banquet given at the Pittsburgh Athletic club by Eddie Connors of the Pennzoil company last evening. Miller discussed his cross-country motor trip from KDKA broadcasting station, last evening.

"What would your father say if he saw you out at this time of night?"

The transformation from modulated Re-Creation to FULL VOLUME is made as easily as changing a record. You're playing a snappy dance number for the bunch. Eager young feet are just "rarin' to go"—but you've found out before that the usual phonograph music hasn't volume enough to drown out the shuffling of feet—then you remember the DANCE ATTACHMENT—it takes just two shakes to slip it on in place of the regular reproducer. Oh boy! Hear that orchestra zipping it up, get that saxophone duet, listen to the traps, and can't that fellow pick a mean banjo?

You actually forget all about the Edison—you've got the orchestra right in your home. Let joy be unconfined. You can't lose this music. That's the combination of Edison tone quality and FULL VOLUME Re-Creation. Just this simple inexpensive attachment transforms your New Edison into a NEW-er music maker.

You can scarce believe it until you hear it. Demonstrations in our store every day. Come in now and hear it.

French War Ace's Rich Wife Granted Divorce in Paris

PARIS, Sept. 10.—Mrs. Consuelo Hatmaker Nungesser was granted a divorce yesterday from her husband, the French war ace, Charles Eugene Nungesser.

Mrs. Nungesser originally requested a decree in October, 1925. Nungesser went to America seeking to effect a reconciliation. The couple later returned to France together.

Mrs. Nungesser charged that her husband had refused to resume marital relations with her after their misunderstanding.

According to friends of Nungesser, he recently explained his inability to live any longer with his wife, as follows:

"She's too rich and too keen for the social life which I cannot endure."

of life increase only moderately, but as a new or backward country develops and raises its standard of living it develops new industries, exploits new resources, and asquires new purchasing power. This is the transformation which is now going on in the land of the South Temperate Zone.

"Even though this development is often accompanied by the rise of new manufactures with products apparently competing with our products, these new industries stimulate demands for machinery, equipment, supplies, transportation mediums, etc., and what is more—they contribute at once to the buying power of their employees."

Proposed Legion Journey to France Topic at Capital

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The proposed American Legion pilgrimage to the old stamping grounds of the A. E. F. in Paris today had become a matter of serious discussion among Washington officials with the prospect that Legion officers will carry into their Philadelphia convention next month some disillusioning reports on the situation abroad.

Whether the legionnaires as ambassadors of good will can overcome the anti-American feeling overseas is regarded by officials here as one of the most important questions the Legion has been called upon to answer.

Under normal conditions Washington officials would speed the Legion on its way. The frank statements of many unusally conservative citizens returning from Europe have, however, aroused more than ordinary skepticism in some quarters.

Don't overlook the fact that TAYLOR'S MILLINERY are showing those adorable close-fitting Felt Hats in a range of colors that includes all the new shades, yet surprisingly low priced at $1.95 to $4.95.

LIGHTNING HITS NOTTINGHAM HOME

Six members of the Mrs. Belle Nottingham family, Harrison street, narrowly escaped injury when lightning struck their home Monday, it developed today.

The bolt struck the chimney, damaging it and tearing plaster from the ceiling and walls of the upper bedrooms. Mrs. Nottingham and her three sons, asleep in the upstairs bedrooms, were hurled from their beds to the floor by the lightning. Two members of the family who were asleep in a bedroom near the chimney were stunned.

The downstairs rooms of the house were covered with soot to a depth of several inches, according to Mrs. Nottingham.

Sutton Funeral Services.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Sutton, resident of Turkeyfoot, this county, who died in her home Tuesday of a stroke of paralysis, was conducted in the home of her son, Henry Sutton, Fifth street, Toronto, at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Burial was made in the Toronto cemetery.

WEIRTON SCHOOL ENROLLMENT 3,100

Enrollment in the public and parochial schools at Weirton will pass the 3,500 mark this year, according to estimates made by school officials based on enrollment figures for the first few days of school.

On the opening day of the term last Tuesday about 2,500 children registered in the public schools, while approximately 600 others were enrolled in the parochial school. About 400 others are expected to register before the end of the month.

The high school enrollment was 235. About 25 more are expected to enter the freshman class. The registration in the junior high school is 230.

The new school building at the lower end of Holliday's Cove, which will be used for first, second and third grade pupils from Brooke county, will open next Monday. This building will take care of about 100 pupils who otherwise would have enrolled in the Weirton schools this week.

CRAWFORD HOME UNDER HAMMER

The old Crawford homestead, near the Weirton postoffice, once one of Hancock county's finest country homes, will be sold on Sept. 14 to the highest bidder.

The house stands on what was originally a 600-acre farm. Several years ago Cyrus Ferguson purchased the farm and a large sum was spent in modernizing the home. The stone barn, which is located close to the house, was erected about 125 years ago.

Police and Fountain News!

A very small apple came in one day
Hollerin "An apple a day keeps the doctor away",
And the sodas and sundaes were awful upset,
In fact they haven't got over it yet.

But the Sodas may NOW have a happier mood
For NOW it is claimed that ice-cream is food,
And that ice-cream if eaten a little each day
Keeps frowns, indigestion and miseries away.
So you should GET some—don't you think?

It's a Great World!

Wednesday afternoon I turned to Zach Irwin, one of my assistants and told him to take a couple of hours off and go out on the highways down town here and FIND OUT WHAT PEOPLE WERE TALKING ABOUT!

Zach looked puzzled but after a bit put on his hat and stepped out as directed. He came back later and laid the following report on my desk. As it read sort of surprising to me I thought I'd print PART of it here. If you have time you might read it. Tisn't painful.

TWO MIDDLE AGED WOMEN: "Arn't children IMPOSSIBLE these days?"

THREE YOUTHS: "He promised to let me have a gallon when it got in and a gallon will make NINE QUARTS by golly!"

COUPLE OF FLAPPERS:—"I think Michael Arlen is just simply marvelous, I really MEAN it—awfly smart don't you think so?"

TWO MEN (not classified)—"Business will NEVER come back to what it was. The auto has simple RUINED this country!"

In A CIGAR STORE:—"No champion EVER came back who laid off as long as Dempsey. Can't be done."

PLUMP MAN IN A DEPARTMENT STORE:—"I'm NOT going to wear NO corset no matter WHAT the style is."

HORRIFIED OLD LADY:—"My dear I'm telling you she hadn't a THING on except just one of these slippy silk things!"

There were five other reports but they were too exciting to stand the day light on a cold dignified page like this—so they're omitted. No one said anything FOR or AGAINST the drug stores so mebbe I'm lucky to be left out! Further there's no "moral" to this yarn and no lesson to be learned or taught. Its just a little slice of things AS THEY ARE.

Police and Fountain News!

A very small apple came in one day
Hollerin "An apple a day keeps the doctor away",
And the sodas and sundaes were awful upset,
In fact they haven't got over it yet.

But the Sodas may NOW have a happier mood
For NOW it is claimed that ice-cream is food,
And that ice-cream if eaten a little each day
Keeps frowns, indigestion and miseries away.
So you should GET some—don't you think?

It's a Great World!

Wednesday afternoon I turned to Zach Irwin, one of my assistants and told him to take a couple of hours off and go out on the highways down town here and FIND OUT WHAT PEOPLE WERE TALKING ABOUT!

Zach looked puzzled but after a bit put on his hat and stepped out as directed. He came back later and laid the following report on my desk. As it read sort of surprising to me I thought I'd print PART of it here. If you have time you might read it. Tisn't painful.

TWO MIDDLE AGED WOMEN: "Arn't children IMPOSSIBLE these days?"

THREE YOUTHS: "He promised to let me have a gallon when it got in and a gallon will make NINE QUARTS by golly!"

COUPLE OF FLAPPERS:—"I think Michael Arlen is just simply marvelous, I really MEAN it—awfly smart don't you think so?"

TWO MEN (not classified)—"Business will NEVER come back to what it was. The auto has simple RUINED this country!"

In A CIGAR STORE:—"No champion EVER came back who laid off as long as Dempsey. Can't be done."

PLUMP MAN IN A DEPARTMENT STORE:—"I'm NOT going to wear NO corset no matter WHAT the style is."

HORRIFIED OLD LADY:—"My dear I'm telling you she hadn't a THING on except just one of these slippy silk things!"

There were five other reports but they were too exciting to stand the day light on a cold dignified page like this—so they're omitted. No one said anything FOR or AGAINST the drug stores so mebbe I'm lucky to be left out! Further there's no "moral" to this yarn and no lesson to be learned or taught. Its just a little slice of things AS THEY ARE.

If the next 420 are as full of juice as the first ones I wouldn't trade 'em for any OTHER set of months anyone EVER had since this ole ball of mud got the habit of chasing its tail around Old Sol! Chicago Sunday Crowds Battle In Ghetto For Bargains

Hundreds of Shoppers Gather at Maxwell and Halstead Streets Amid Colorful Shops.

CHICAGO.—State and Madison streets, the busiest corner in Chicago, are world known for traffic.

But only during week days is this the keystone of Chicago.

Sunday the crowds shift to Chicago's Ghetto, where thousands gather at Maxwell and Halstead streets to battle for bargains amid the colorful street shops. From furcoats to canary birds are offered for sale in the open-air booths.

There are no traffic officers in the crowded section and from early morning, until the sun is hidden by the surrounding "slum" apartments, hundreds of shoppers jam the markets.

Recently the Jewish traders have been forced to adopt heroic efforts to claim the markets and pace even with the invasion of negro dealers.

The negroes have made rapid strides in taking over the dog and bird markets and enterprising Yankees have driven out the Jews as corn doctors and sellers of "snake oil" and other liniments.

Colored merchants are also building up a special clientele among the buyers of old clothes and numerous signs announcing "clothes for colored gentlemen" dot the ghetto street shops.

If one choose, it has been figured, he might dress in the height of fashion by trading in Maxwell street, providing, of course, no objection were made to second-hand garments, at a cost of $25.00 a year.

Once splendid dress suits, handsome coats and gorgeous ties, formerly worn by some smart millionaire on Chicago's "gold coast" are often displayed in the street stores. Fancy sport garments in gayest hues, feature the colored men's higher class second-hand booths and trading in these specialties is intense on Sunday.

"THE SAVAGE" IS SCREEN HIT

Ben Lyon and May McAvoy in Picture at American.

"The Savage," a First National picture featuring Ben Lyon and May McAvoy, opened yesterday at the American theatre, and sets the pace for the current season's better pictures.

In this picture is everything one can possibly want in a motion picture. There are thrills, love story, laughs by the score, beautiful women, perfectly marvelous settings, and Ben Lyon gives one of the best performances of his screen career. May McAvoy is admirably cast and gives a splendid characterization, and the other players could not have been more wisely chosen.

Sam Hardy, as the managing editor of a scientific magazine, is immense. Charlotte Walker, as a wife who believes the wife should be the better ninety-five per cent, could not be excelled. Philo McCollough is an excellent "heavy" and Tom Maguire apparently was born to play the role of the hen-pecked scientist husband of Charlotte Walker.

Most of the story is laid in the South Seas, and there are some unusually fine jungle scenes in which Ben Lyon dashes about garbed in only a goat skin. He even rides on the back of a pre-historic brontosarus. To tell the plot always spoils a story, so we will only say that Ben is sent to the South Seas to play the part of a white savage and be discovered by a party of scientists so that they may be exposed and made a laughing stock of. Fred Newmeyer is to be complimented for some excellent direction.

The government of South Africa is actively extending its railways.

have discarded old hygienic methods for this new way—true protection—discards like tissue

WHEN the world started expecting more of women, the old-time "sanitary pad" had to go.

Doctors urge a new way. Millions employ it. You wear sheerest frocks without a second thought, any time, anywhere. You meet every day unhandicapped.

It is called "KOTEX" . . . five times as absorbent as the ordinary cotton pad!

Thoroughly deodorizes . . . thus ending ALL fear of offending.

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You ask for it without hesitancy simply by saying "KOTEX," at any drug or department store. Costs only a few cents. Proves old ways an unnecessary risk.

Chicago Sunday Crowds Battle In Ghetto For Bargains

Hundreds of Shoppers Gather at Maxwell and Halstead Streets Amid Colorful Shops.

CHICAGO.—State and Madison streets, the busiest corner in Chicago, are world known for traffic.

But only during week days is this the keystone of Chicago.

Sunday the crowds shift to Chicago's Ghetto, where thousands gather at Maxwell and Halstead streets to battle for bargains amid the colorful street shops. From furcoats to canary birds are offered for sale in the open-air booths.

There are no traffic officers in the crowded section and from early morning, until the sun is hidden by the surrounding "slum" apartments, hundreds of shoppers jam the markets.

Recently the Jewish traders have been forced to adopt heroic efforts to claim the markets and pace even with the invasion of negro dealers.

The negroes have made rapid strides in taking over the dog and bird markets and enterprising Yankees have driven out the Jews as corn doctors and sellers of "snake oil" and other liniments.

Colored merchants are also building up a special clientele among the buyers of old clothes and numerous signs announcing "clothes for colored gentlemen" dot the ghetto street shops.

If one choose, it has been figured, he might dress in the height of fashion by trading in Maxwell street, providing, of course, no objection were made to second-hand garments, at a cost of $25.00 a year.

Once splendid dress suits, handsome coats and gorgeous ties, formerly worn by some smart millionaire on Chicago's "gold coast" are often displayed in the street stores. Fancy sport garments in gayest hues, feature the colored men's higher class second-hand booths and trading in these specialties is intense on Sunday.

"THE SAVAGE" IS SCREEN HIT

Ben Lyon and May McAvoy in Picture at American.

"The Savage," a First National picture featuring Ben Lyon and May McAvoy, opened yesterday at the American theatre, and sets the pace for the current season's better pictures.

In this picture is everything one can possibly want in a motion picture. There are thrills, love story, laughs by the score, beautiful women, perfectly marvelous settings, and Ben Lyon gives one of the best performances of his screen career. May McAvoy is admirably cast and gives a splendid characterization, and the other players could not have been more wisely chosen.

Sam Hardy, as the managing editor of a scientific magazine, is immense. Charlotte Walker, as a wife who believes the wife should be the better ninety-five per cent, could not be excelled. Philo McCollough is an excellent "heavy" and Tom Maguire apparently was born to play the role of the hen-pecked scientist husband of Charlotte Walker.

Most of the story is laid in the South Seas, and there are some unusually fine jungle scenes in which Ben Lyon dashes about garbed in only a goat skin. He even rides on the back of a pre-historic brontosarus. To tell the plot always spoils a story, so we will only say that Ben is sent to the South Seas to play the part of a white savage and be discovered by a party of scientists so that they may be exposed and made a laughing stock of. Fred Newmeyer is to be complimented for some excellent direction.

The government of South Africa is actively extending its railways.

WHEN the world started expecting more of women, the old-time "sanitary pad" had to go.

Doctors urge a new way. Millions employ it. You wear sheerest frocks without a second thought, any time, anywhere. You meet every day unhandicapped.

It is called "KOTEX" . . . five times as absorbent as the ordinary cotton pad!

Thoroughly deodorises . . . thus ending ALL fear of offending.

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You ask for it without hesitancy simply by saying "KOTEX," at any drug or department store. Costs only a few cents. Proves old ways an unnecessary risk.

WATER, BRUSH AND ELBOW GREASE MAKE $100,000 FOR POLISH LAD

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — With a bucket of water, a brush and a boundless store of energy as his sole assets, he has laid way a fortune of more than $100,000—and all by washing windows at 10 cents a pane. He has washed over a million windoys.

Thus goes the lifetime story of Frank Stanko, who 15 years ago lived in Poland, a fatherless poverty-stricken lad. His friends told him of the great land across the seas—America.

Hard work was the key to success in America, he was told. Then Frank could succeed because he glorified in work. So he obtained a $100 by scraping and scriming.

He came to America. New York was too noisy and too big. He heard of Chatanooga. The name of the town was peculiar so he decided to take a chance.

His first job there was to earn a meal. He washed the windows of a restaurant. He liked the work and decided to become the best window washer in the city.

He did. Eventually Frank was capable of washing 125 to 150 windows a day. He began to lay away a little money. People learned they could depend on him.

"I have seen the big moving pictures of life by washing windows. I see big business deals, bankers lending money, the troubles of husbands and wives. The eyes through the windows are of the soul."

But now that Frank is rich, he still keeps washing windows.

WIDEN HIGHWAY NORTH OF LISBON

Widening of the macadam section of the Lisbon-Salem road north of the Lisbon village limits will be finished before late fall, according to State Highway Superintendent Kiltner, of Lisbon. A part of this highway has been widened on the right side going northward two and one-half feet, and a similar width is to be added the west side of the road. This will make the road 19 feet in width.

Widening this section has been held up on account of wet weather during the last two weeks. Between 300 and 500 tons of road surfacing material will be used on this job, which will extend northward from Lisbon to tap the brick section of this highway at Long's Crossing in Salem township.

WIDEN HIGHWAY NORTH OF LISBON

Widening of the macadam section of the Lisbon-Salem road north of the Lisbon village limits will be finished before late fall, according to State Highway Superintendent Kiltner, of Lisbon. A part of this highway has been widened on the right side going northward two and one-half feet, and a similar width is to be added the west side of the road. This will make the road 19 feet in width.

Widening this section has been held up on account of wet weather during the last two weeks. Between 300 and 500 tons of road surfacing material will be used on this job, which will extend northward from Lisbon to tap the brick section of this highway at Long's Crossing in Salem township.

GLITTER

By Katharine Brush

BOOK TWO—V.

The girls who attend college proms are tabulated neatly within an hour of their arrival. In undergraduate language, they are either knockouts, or else they're dull thuds. There is no middle class. The knockouts enjoy two days of exhilarating popularity and unalloyed bliss. The dull thuds look on and wonder miserably why they had been so awfully excited about coming . . .

Pep, fuel for the speed of the generation. The Zeta Kappa living room whizzed with it.

Everybody in the Zeta Kappa house—members of the fraternity, visiting young ladies, everybody—knew that Dopey Lane's prom-girl was a dull thud. They knew it the minute she came downstairs to join the group congregated in the living room. By the dark blue taffeta gown that bunched in the wrong places they knew it. By the heavy black stockings in a year of sheer flesh-colored ones, and by the hair that wasn't shingled, and by the face that wasn't rouged, and by the lack of self-confidence they knew it. But being ultra-modern boys and girls, unto whom "Everyone for himself" was the law, they did not care. They stared at her, hard, for a second or two. They summed her up, "No looks, no style, no pep." Then they forgot her utterly, the girls because they were not afraid of her, the boys because they were not interested.

Pep! Fuel for the speed of the generation! Sine qua non of the ultra-moderns! The Zeta Kappa living room whizzed with it. The atmosphere was hectic with it. Every damsel strove to prove at once, then and there, that she had it—that she had more of it than any other damsel. You should have seen Norma Knight gulping straight Scotch from a bottle. You should have seen the celebrated Winky Winters, prom-trotter extraordinary, seated atop the piano, beating time on its mahogany with her sharp small heels. You should have seen Gloria Martin, minister's daughter, doing an imitation of Ted Lewis with somebody's derby hat. You should have seen Molly kissing each new man as she met him, saying, "Eventually—why not now?"

Pep! Something a little different, a little conspicuous, a little rowdy, and extremely loud—pep!

Through it all, Cecily Graves sat in a great armchair pushed to one side. She seemed literally to be clinging there, as one would cling to a small safe isle in a mad and treacherous sea. She was quite alone. Even Dopey had left her, drawn to the other side of the room by the irresistible pull of something-going-on. She sat speechless and motionless—that is, motionless except for her eyes, which darted here and there and everywhere excitedly. "She isn't missing a trick," Jock told himself.

After a time, meeting her glance over the top of Molly's head, he winked at her in a friendly way. Her reaction was immediate and pathetic. She seemed to shrink even further into the depths of the great chair; and then, an instant later, she smiled. Tremulously. Gratefully. With a look in her eyes like the eyes of a dog when you pat him.

This was too much for Jock. He abandoned Molly in the middle of the floor and went across to her. He seized her wrists and pulled her to her feet. "You've got to dance with me, lady."

Just that. No "You look lonesome," no "why all by yourself"—none of the tactless remarks that another young man, with the best intentions in the world but without Jock's sensitive understanding, might have made. Instead, "You've got to dance with me"—as though he wanted her to tremendously, as though he could not wait.

And the brief glance he had of her face before it tucked itself out of sight against his shoulder told him unmistakably that he had made a friend, for life.

VI.

Jock contrived to be seldom alone with Molly during the next two days. He rushed her determinedly from one festivity to the next, and somehow they found no opportunity for the sweet secluded moments that are as important as the prom itself to most prom couples. The shadowy billiard-room, the little corner back of the staircase—all the places known in the fraternity (and with reason) as "necking nooks"—saw them not. No one entered a room and backed out hastily, murmuring apologies, on their account. No one had opportunity to hoot at Molly because her hair was mussed. . . .

"I don't believe you love me any more, Jock?"

"What makes you think that?"

"You've only kissed me once since I've been here, and that was just a tiny peck—sort of a sense-of-duty peck—"

"Well, when has there been time, for heaven's sake? Look here, Molly, be sensible; you got in yesterday afternoon at three. We met the bunch, hung around here for awhile, went over to the Union and danced till seven-thirty, dashed back to dress for the Dramatic Club show, saw that, and danced afterward till dawn. This morning we didn't get together until nearly noon, and then we had to have lunch, and after that the game, and then the tea dance here at the house, and now—"

"I notice," broke in Molly, sniffing, "that other people find time. Your roommate and Norma—"

"Oh, well, Bones—" Jock dismissed Bones with a flip of his hand. "He's a glutton for that stuff, of course."

"Besides," Molly continued, "you certainly don't seem to have any trouble finding time to talk to that ash-can—that Cecily whatever-her-name-is who wears the bargain-basement clothes. What you can see in her is more than I can understand—"

"I'm sorry for her."

"Well, I'm not! It's a girl's own fault if she's a—"

"It isn't Cecily's fault, Molly. She'd like to be different, but she just doesn't know how to go about it."

"That's right!" flared Molly. "Stick up for her! Make a nut out of me by cutting in on her all the time, and talking to her, and kidding her—you're the only man who does, I'm sure of that! Can't you look at my side, for a change? Do you think it's flattering to me to be brought down here and then neglected for a simp with a shiny nose? Well, it isn't. It's positively insulting! People must certainly think I'm good, if I can't interest you any more than she does!"

This conversation took place in the roadster, which was bearing them from the fraternity house to the gymnasium for the final big event of the week-end—the junior promenade. A distance of two blocks only, but Molly had declined to walk because she said she must spare her feet as much as possible. She sat well over in her own seat, the personification of injured pride and self-pity.

Can't you look at my side, for a change? Do you think it's flattering to me to be brought down here and then neglected for a simp with a shiny nose? Well, it isn't. It's positively insulting! People must certainly think I'm good, if I can't interest you any more than she does!"

This conversation took place in the roadster, which was bearing them from the fraternity house to the gymnasium for the final big event of the week-end—the junior promenade. A distance of two blocks only, but Molly had declined to walk because she said she must spare her feet as much as possible. She sat well over in her own seat, the personification of injured pride and self-pity.

RUDY FORGETS POLA IN WILL

Aunt of Valentino's Second Wife Gets Third of Estate.

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 10.—The will of the late Rudolph Valentino although not yet filed for probate, leaves one-third of his estate to Mrs. Teresa Werner of Salt Lake City, aunt of Natacha Rambova, his second wife, according to an admission by Attorney Gilbert, the actor's personal lawyer today.

Announcement of a third beneficiary, to share equally in the estate with Alberto Guglielmi and Maria, brother and sister of Valentino was a surprise to Valentino's friends and associates here. It was known, however, that Valentino held a sincere affection for Mrs. Werner and the estrangement and divorce of the actor and Miss Rambova had not affected his friendship for the aunt of his second wife.

S. George Ullman, secretary and manager for Valentino, estimated today that the will disposed of an estate valued at approximately $500,000, after meeting all debts and obligations.

Included in Valentino's property listed by Ullman are a collection of armor and antiques valued at $250,000; a house in Beverly Hills appraised at $175,000; $50,000 life insurance; jewelry, $50,000; and other valuable possessions, including a yacht and a fleet of foreign motor cars.

Ullman is appointed executor of the will, it was learned, and will have charge of the property for three years, Miss Rambova was left a $1 bequest, and Pola Negri, asserted fiance of Valentino, was not mentioned in the will.

The will will be offered for probate here tomorrow.

FACE DISFIGURED WITH PIMPLES AND BLACKHEADS

Druggist proves a friend in need

Kalispell, Mont., March 1:—"Two years ago my face was an awful sight. The skin broke out with pimples and blackheads and itched all the time. I washed it frequently and applied various salves, but they helped little. One day I asked a druggist for a good cure for my case, and that night I took home a small jar of Resinol Ointment. Every morning and night I washed my face and applied the ointment, rubbing it in good. After a few treatments I noticed the pimples were starting to decrease and in two or three weeks they were practically gone. I was so well pleased with the results that I now keep Resinol on hand and recommend it whenever I can." (Signed) Elkin E. Berry, 1028 Third Ave. West.

She Bared Her Soul!

To the man whose kindly tolerance and sympathy have put thousands back on the road to happiness

AND she was but one of hundreds who have done the same—told secrets she would not tell her mother—or perhaps her husband—but in the confessional of the Judge's chambers she revealed all. Her story and the stories of scores of others—men as well as women—are now being retold for society's good by Judge Ben B. Lindsey in the most candid and startling series of articles ever published in any magazine. Reasoning from the stories of real life told him in court day after day, Judge Lindsey has reached certain conclusions, and now he boldly asks: "Is a new code of sex morals being created?" It is a startling question—but a question that has heretofore existed unasked in the minds of all intelligent men and women; and it is no more startling than the evidence that Judge Lindsey offers in his great series of articles under the title: "The Moral Revolt."

When you have read the first of the Judge's articles and considered it, turn a few pages of the same magazine and read the first article in another astonishing series in which the internationally famous beauty and social leader—

Mrs. Philip Lydig Reveals Secrets of New York Society

ALMOST since girlhood, beautiful Mrs. Philip Lydig has been an unquestioned leader of New York's ultra-smart society. Now for the first time Mrs. Lydig proceeds to turn the spot-light on that society—telling in great detail why she finds it futile, false and corrupt. The statements she makes will astonish you—story after story of tragedies heretofore never publicly disclosed. If chronicles of the real lives of the prominently fashionable—heretofore known only to those on the inside of that group—are of interest to you, then you must read Mrs. Lydig's revealing article, "Marriage Without Love." In these two remarkable series—the one by Mrs. Lydig, the other by Judge Lindsey—The Red Book Magazine for October inaugurates its new plan of adding the drama of Fact to the drama of Fiction—which latter is expressed by Rupert Hughes in his splendid novel, "We Live But Once," and by these other distinguished novelists and story-writers: Ruth Comfort Mitchell, James Francis Dwyer, Struthers Burt, Samuel Merwin, Leroy Scott, Thyra Samter Winslow, Robert Benchley, Wm. H. Osborne, Arthur K. Akers and Michael J. Phillips.

No more unsightly Pimples!

S.S.S. gives you a clear skin

WHAT a delightful sensation to look in your mirror and find your face free from pimples, blackheads, blotches and other skin blemishes. Isn't it wonderful to see your face radiant with red blooded health!

Pure, red blood is what it takes to have a lovely skin. Facial blemishes can't be covered up successfully. Nor will anything else drive away these unsightly pimples and such, but the cleansing of the blood and the adding of rich, red blood.

And that's what S. S. S. does. All those objectionable blemishes will vanish and your skin will become soft and clear. S. S. S. has been such an aid for generations.

Everybody is attracted to the girl with a rosy, healthy coloring—the girl with the soft, velvet like skin—a skin so lovely that it tells of boundless health and vitality. There is no excuse for disgusting eruptions on the skin. We know they can be driven away quickly with a powerful blood alterative such as S. S. S. has proven to be for 100 years. Start taking S. S. S. today. And get the larger size bottle. It's more economical.
